SENATE PASSES STATE SOLDIER VOTE PROPOSAL

Passage in House Is Expected.

Roll call vote in senate on soldier ballots appears on page 4.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Administration efforts to by-pass state election machinery in the coming Presidential election got a jolt today with the passage by the senate of a compromise soldier vote bill permitting widespread use of state absentee voter ballots by service men and women.

The vote on the measure was 47 to 31, with 24 Republicans and 23 Democrats voting for the bill. Opponents included 24 Democrats, six Republicans, and one Progressive.

The administration had fought for universal use of a "bob-tailed" federal ballot which would have permitted those in military and naval service to vote only for President and Vice President and members of congress. Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.] and Sen. Green [D., R. I.], New Deal stalwarts, had led the fight for the federal ballot, which would be permitted only under limited conditions by the bill approved today.

Goes to House Today.

The house will begin consideration of the compromise measure tomorrow, Rep. McCormack [D., Mass.], majority leader, said tonight. He predicted speedy passage.

The house already has passed a bill providing for the use of state ballots for absentee voting of service men and women. Its passage followed approval by the senate of the Green-Lucas federal ballot bill. The measure approved today was a compromise between the two.

There was speculation on both sides of the capitol tonight on whether President Roosevelt would veto the soldier vote bill and thus invite another rebuke from congress. Leaders predicted that a veto would be speedily overridden.

Suspects Ulterior Purpose.

Sen. Bridges [R., N. H.], in a senate speech preceding the vote on the bill, warned if the President does not sign the measure "then he and he alone must assume full responsibility for the disfranchisement of millions of our soldiers, sailors, marines, and coast guardsmen."

Attacking the federal ballot proposal of the administration, Sen. Bridges asked:

"Can it be that the proponents have an ulterior purpose in trying to force thru congress an unconstitutional method which could and would ultimately be challenged in the courts and perhaps compel the house of representatives to designate the next President of the United States?"

Barkley Attacks Measure.

Voting on the soldier vote bill came in the senate after three hours of debate, capped by Sen. Barkley [D., Ky.], majority leader, who attacked the measure because, he said, it restricted rather than extended the opportunity of service men and women to vote.

Sen. Barkley contended a provision of the 1942 bill waiving poll tax and registration requirements for soldiers and sailors wishing to cast absentee ballots was nullified in the bill passed today and that this would disfranchise service men and women from states requiring registration and payment of poll taxes.

The Democratic leader criticized the federal ballot provisions of the bill as impractical and beyond the understanding of the average man. Federal ballots are to be used by service voters from states not having absentee voter laws and by those who apply for state ballots

SOLDIER VOICES ANGER AT FLOOD OF PROPAGANDA

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—The house was told today by Rep. Brown [R., O.] and Rep. McWilliams [R., Conn.] that American troops abroad are being flooded with Roosevelt buttons and a pocket history of the United States which lauds the President as "the peer of Lincoln."

Rep. Brown.

Rep. Brown called for the breaking of the administration strangle hold placed by Rep. Sabath [D., Ill.], chairman of the rules committee, upon Brown's resolution for a bipartisan investigation of news and broadcast material sent to American fighters in foreign lands. He said Sabath has choked off the measure by failing to call a rules committee hearing on it.

Rep. McWilliams read a letter from a soldier in the North African theater of war which described the troops' resentment of the distribution of Roosevelt buttons.

Buttons Used on Diapers.

"We are being flooded with Roosevelt pin-on buttons," the letter stated. "We are invited to take them by the handsful. This leads to some queer uses for the buttons. Arab babies usually don't wear them, but French babies do, and French mothers find it useful in a general scarcity of safety pins, to employ the F. D. R. buttons to pin diapers. Some of the men go down to the water front and have fun, for, with practice, the buttons make admirable skimmers.

"Seriously, the men I have talked to resent this kind of politicking, and we'd all be obliged if you could tell us who is to blame.

"That's what we call teamwork—600,000 diapers from lend-lease and Roosevelt campaign buttons from OWI to hold 'em up.'"

Book Glorifies F. D. R.

Brown displayed to members "a pocket history of the United States," written by Allen Nevins and Henry Steel Commager, 10,000 copies of which, he said, have been placed in army libraries by the war department at the expense of American taxpayers. He described Nevins as a "controling influence in The New Republic," a pinko publication.

The book glorifies President Roosevelt, Brown noted, reading the following excerpt:

"It cannot be said that Franklin Roosevelt was an unknown quantity when first elected to the Presidency; it can be asserted that few of those who so hopefully voted for him realized that in Roosevelt they had a leader who as spokesman for democracy and nationalism was the peer of Lincoln, as a leader toward a better world order the peer of Wilson."

Charges News Distortion.

Brown gave numerous examples of what he termed distortions of news by the office of war information, including one-sided presentations of soldier vote legislation and the tax bill veto.

"These men who fight under our flag on a hundred different battle fronts thruout the world want factual information as to what is going on here at home," he said. "They do not want to be propagandized."

JESSIE SUMNER ASKS U. S. STUDY INVASION NEED

Wants Allies' Vows on Territory.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Rep. Sumner [R., Ill.] today demanded postponement of a "second front" invasion until its value to American security is assessed and until our allies, Britain and Russia, guarantee self-government to liberated nations as provided in the Atlantic Charter.

Rep. Sumner.

At the same time, Rep. Sumner, in a house speech, called for a unified allied command in the Pacific theater under Gen. MacArthur and immediate shipment to MacArthur's forces of all munitions necessary for total war against Japan.

[MacArthur smear by New Deal blamed on fear of G. O. P. draft. See page 2.]

Question Value.

Declaring the decision to invade western Europe was made "because Mr. Stalin demanded it, tho Mr. Churchill opposed it," the congresswoman said:

"It is hard to see why it should be important to invade Europe if it is not important to Britain. Privately, some of our keenest military experts call the invasion 'costly and stupid.'

"If we are to invade western Europe, the date of the invasion should be determined not by some gratuitous, anachronistic commitment made in the past but by our highly trained American military experts.

Denounces "Timetable."

"It seems, nevertheless, that we are to be hurtled pell-mell into an insufficiently prepared invasion according to a schedule made in agreement with Stalin. We act as if going thru with this invasion on the date set, pursuant to Stalin's demand, involved no more serious consequences that a shotgun marriage.

"Americans are to furnish around 80 per cent of the invading force and replacements. It is admitted that the invasion may cost us half a million men. It might cost a million men or more."

Miss Sumner declared that while we shall get little out of a European invasion except "the corpses of our best young men," such a campaign "may mean that our war against Japan will go by default." Even with full strength in the Pacific, she predicted, it will take perhaps two years to beat Japan.

Folly to Spare Japs.

"It is folly to delay crushing the Japs," she said. "We have no treaty obliging either Britain or Stalin to give aid in our war against the Japanese. Indeed, Stalin already demands part of our ships which we need and he does not."

Meanwhile, the congresswoman told the house, Stalin has staked out claims to the Baltic republics, and Polish and Finnish territory, while Churchill has disavowed British obligations to protect the sovereignty of Poland and Jugo-Slavia in the post-war world.

Miss Sumner further asserted "Stalin's German committee" is still putting out peace feelers to the Nazis and Communists are working

Plan a 2d Big Vets' Hospital North of Hines

BY AL CHASE.

Plans are being completed and bids will be taken in Washington, D. C., within the next two months for the construction of a new 11 story 5 million dollar hospital on a site immediately north of the Hines Memorial hospital, near Maywood, the federal veterans administration disclosed yesterday.

The new hospital, for which a name has not been selected, will form the latest addition to a group on the Hines reservation that will constitute one of the largest hospital zones in the nation. It will be administered by the veterans administration, which also controls the Hines Memorial hospital with its 1,750 beds. The Vaughan General hospital, which is being built by the army in the area east of the Hines hospital at a cost of 4½ million dollars, will provide 1,500 beds.

Will Have 1,100 Beds.

The new veterans' hospital will have 1,100 beds and will be devoted exclusively to the care of cancer and tumor cases, it was learned. The newest unit will be built in the form of an H—a type of building to which additional units can be added if more space is needed.

Crowded conditions at the Hines Memorial hospital necessitate the new project, it was learned. There are now 500 cancer and tumor cases in the big Hines hospital and these will be transferred to the new hospital when it is opened. It is understood that plans call for extensive cancer research in the new unit.

It will occupy a site 500 feet north of the north end of the Hines hospital and a $5,000 contract has been awarded to a company to clear away the trees that at present cover the area. The long wings will be erected at right angles to Roosevelt rd.

Plan 250 Seat Theater.

Alternative bids will be taken for exterior walls of different materials—concrete, Indiana limestone, and brick — and the contract will be awarded on whichever material is found most suitable. Besides the usual facilities, the plans call for a 250 seat theater.

The Vaughan General hospital, named for the late Col. Victor Clarence Vaughan, who from 1891 to 1921 was dean of the school of medicine and surgery at the University of Michigan, was originally designed to comprise 54 buildings, but certain additional facilities have increased its size. Maj. P. K. Wickham said yesterday that construction will be practically complete May 15. It will be staffed and operated by the army medical corps.

HAILS NEW NAVY SCOUT PLANE AS REVOLUTIONARY

Washington, D. C., March 14 (AP).—The navy has developed a new scout plane that will "revolutionize" aerial reconnaissance from battle ships and cruisers, Rep. Maas [R., Minn.] disclosed today.

The ship is scheduled for production at the Columbus, O., plant of the Curtiss-Wright Aviation corporation.

This plant, Maas said, also is developing a new dive and torpedo bomber which is expected to be an improvement on the present Helldiver, credited with doing an exceptional job at Rabaul.

Maas, a former marine dive bomber pilot, made his disclosures in a report of an inquiry at the plant by the house naval subcommittee on aviation. He heads the committee.

Production in the plant was "very discouraging" a year ago and criticism voiced by the senate Truman committee was "pretty much justified," Maas told a news conference.

He said management errors, the need to recruit skilled hands from farm areas, and too many engineering changes ordered by the navy contributed to the lag. The plant now is exceeding 100 per cent of its scheduled production, Maas said.

Juanita Stryker, Stockville, Miss.; Lt. Jeanne Latellier, Seneca Falls, N. Y., and Lt. Vera Maniken, Lead, S. D.

Tryst Victim's Father Tells of Accusation

BY RUTH MONTGOMERY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 14.—Harold Winters, a small town storekeeper, today testified that he had accused David Filgas, 16, "point blank" of murdering his daughter, Patricia, 17, in a "lover's lane" tryst last Dec. 11. Filgas is on trial on a charge of murdering his high school sweetheart, who was fatally burned in the parked car in which they had stopped along a roadside "to pet" after a school dance. He is charged with setting the car afire, but he contends the car "exploded."

Harold Winters.

In a crowded courtroom from which all minors have been excluded, the bereaved father told the jury of his accusation of Filgas a month after the tragedy.

Charges Faked Accident.

Winters said he accused Filgas of hitting Patricia on the head with a bottle, tying a wire around her neck, and then trying to wreck the car in an attempt to make her death appear accidental.

"Failing this, I told David I thought he had stuffed clothing around Patricia's body, doused it with gasoline, and set fire to the pyre," the witness testified. He said David denied the accusations.

During the interview, Winters said, Filgas told of removing part of Patricia's and his own clothing and then "starting to neck."

Filgas claims that his memory "blacked out" at this point and that when he regained consciousness he was sitting in the front seat of the car beside the charred body of his "date."

Mother Weeps in Court.

Winters told of being notified of the tragedy at 6:30 a. m. and of driving alone to the scene near the village of Gowen. As he testified, his wife sat in the courtroom, weeping softly at times.

Earlier in today's session, the jury heard state troopers testify that Filgas told of fleeing without attempting to aid his companion.

The courtroom contained 35 exhibits, which included a pair of shoes, soot from the burned car, David's blackened shorts, jewelry, money, keys, a length of pipe, pictures, bottles, a gas tank, pieces of melted window glass, and boxes—all of which were passed among the jury.

Move Is Made to Send More to Army, Navy

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Draft Director Maj. Gen. Hershey tonight ordered a virtual stoppage of job deferments for men under 26 years of age in a move to channel more young men into the army and navy.

The order, telegraphed to all local draft boards, extends to men aged 22 thru 25 the no-deferment policy applied since Feb. 1 to those in the 18 thru 21 age group.

State Director to Decide.

With the issuance of the new order, Gen. Hershey said, "No registrant 18 thru 25 may be considered as a necessary man for occupational deferment unless the state director of the state in which he is employed recommends his occupational deferment." The only other permissible deferments for men in this age group, he explained, will be for those holding jobs which may be specifically listed as deferable by the national draft director.

Services Must Be Needed.

Under the new procedure, Hershey explained, state directors are expected to recommend deferments only for those men under 26 "without whose services the production requirements of critical industry cannot be met." This policy, he added, will permit deferments for those 26 or over in critical industries, with progressive consideration by local boards for their relative irreplaceability and increase in age.

[President Roosevelt indicated he favored a plan to ration men deferred from the draft to war industries. Story on page 4.]

QUINTS' BIRTH IN ARGENTINA TOLD

Parents Kept It Secret in Fear of Curious Mobs.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, March 14 (AP).—An attractive 42 year old Italian woman was acclaimed by Buenos Aires newspapers tonight as the mother of quintuplets, born eight months ago and jealously kept secret because she remembered "how crowds mobbed the Dionne home in Canada."

She is Vallotta de Diligenti, wife of Franco Diligenti, a moderately wealthy rancher. She also is the mother of three other children.

The parents told newspaper men that the quintuplets—three girls and two boys—were born July 11, but that announcement of the event was withheld for fear the resultant publicity would bring hordes of curious to their home.

Woman Gets the Story.

Diligenti said the children were born at home and his wife was attended only by a midwife.

Miss Leila Shaw, society editor of the Buenos Aires Herald, an English language newspaper, broke the story. She said she visited the Diligenti home and established the existence of the quintet.

Other reporters, swarming to the home later, were received by Diligenti, who reported the quintuplets were named Maria Fernanda, Maria Esther, Maria Cristina, Carlos Alberto, and Franco. They are in excellent health and now weigh between 20 and 25 pounds each.

Diligenti exhibited photographs of the children and remarked:

"Look, gentlemen, a full house." He declined to permit reporters to view the offspring, but promised pictures would be made available soon.

One Paper Skeptical.

The other Diligenti children are Armando, 14; Ana Maria, 6, and Mayra, 3.

Considerable skepticism was apparent after first publication of the report and the evening newspaper Critica asked: "Is it possible to admit the birth of quintuplets in our capital has been kept under cover eight months?"

Miss Shaw, who interviewed the mother, said she saw the quints and that all were in robust health.

A neighbor said: "Everybody in the neighborhood will tell you that the quintuplets are genuine."

Clerks in the office of birth registry professed ignorance of the matter.

OPA AND PAW FASTEN BLAME ON EACH OTHER

Midwest A Drivers to Get Third Less.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

A wide split developed yesterday between the Washington offices of price administration and the petroleum administration for war over the reduction of A card holders' gasoline rations from three to two gallons a week in Chicago and the rest of the country west of the Alleghenies. The slash was ordered by Chester Bowles, OPA director.

Bowles no sooner had announced that the ration cut would begin March 22, than a schism became apparent between the two government bureaus principally concerned with gasoline rationing and gasoline supply.

The OPA chief in his announcement said the gasoline quotas fixed by PAW for the second quarter of 1944 would be about 9 per cent lower than those for January, February, and March.

Supply Unchanged—Hochull.

PAW officials both in Washington and Chicago at once denied that statement. In Chicago Walter Hochuli of Washington, No. 3 man in the PAW, in which he is director of marketing, said:

"Proportionately as much gasoline will be available for the second quarter as was certified for January, February, and March. This takes into consideration seasonal increases both for plowing and other uses on the farms and for essential driving."

PAW officials in Washington also denied that PAW had asked OPA to reduce gasoline rations for any reason. They pointed out that PAW is a supply agency and not a rationing agency.

Deny Need for Reduction.

They made it plain that since there is proportionately no change in the amount of gasoline available for A drivers during the second quarter, there should not have been any reduction in rations. The PAW officials said that there would be as much gasoline available for the next three months as there was during January, February, and March.

Col. Bryan Houston, OPA rationing chief in Washington, explained that the A ration cut "was not imposed primarily to save gasoline," but to make the basic ration uniform thruout the country.

PAW officials were reported to have urged upon Col. Houston the need for "equalizing" the A book ration thruout the country. But no PAW official could be found who would admit such urging.

Ickes and Davies Silent.

Neither Petroleum Administrator Ickes nor his chief deputy, Ralph K. Davies, would comment on the OPA action. Hochuli, at a Chicago meeting with members of the petroleum industry committee for the 15 middle western states, said:

"I certainly had nothing to do with it. I don't know whether Ickes or Davies did or not. But aside from myself, Ickes and Davies are the only ones in PAW who would have the authority to make such a recommendation if one was made."

Bowles in announcing the slash in Washington, said:

"We make these reductions reluctantly. But we are entering upon a period in which critical demands will be made on our limited supplies of gasoline and we are entering it with supplies that are sharply limited because of war demands."

Allocations "9 Per Cent Less."

He then added specifically that PAW allocations for April, May, and June, would be 9 per cent less than those for the first three months of this year—the statement that met with flat denial by PAW.

Others attending the Chicago meetings of midwestern PAW representatives with industry committee members charged the cut is simply a political measure to "equalize the suffering" without regard to the gasoline supply available.

B. L. Majewski, vice president of the Deep Rock Oil corporation and national chairman of marketing of the petroleum industry war council of 72 members, said:

"It seems that a new New Deal is on foot in Washington. OPA now begins to control not only rationing but supply and demand as well. The industry doesn't understand this cut and the industry never was consulted."

Cut Branded as Political.

Phil T. Williams, Indianapolis, Ind., president of the Indiana Independent Petroleum association, expressed himself in a telegram to Sen. Willis [R., Ind.]:

"Isn't it fair to conclude that this reduction is a political gesture to the voting population on the eastern seaboard? Indiana dealers vigorously solicit your continued support to bring about a realistic rationing program free from politics and based on facts."

W. W. Vanderveer, director of PAW for the 15 midwestern states, said he didn't know what PAW officials recommended the reduction.

Hochuli asserted that the quotas of gasoline to be certified by PAW to OPA as available for rationing in the second quarter of 1944 "will bear about the same relation to the 'claims' or demands as the quotas for the first quarter did."

Supply Unknown Factor.

The "claims" he referred to are estimates of the amounts needed sent to PAW by the office of defense transportation, the war food administration, and the civilian requirements administration, the aggregate figure constituting the demand for any given period.

Hochuli asserted there was no way that OPA before determining upon the slash could have anticipated whether the supply of gasoline during the next three months would be greater or smaller in the face of the demand.

"We are just getting the figures on the 'claims'—the supply and demand—together," he said. "We don't know definitely ourselves what the figures will be. All we know is that there will be proportionately as much gasoline available."

Majewski, in addition to his other statements, said:

"All this could have been avoided if OPA and Stabilization Director Vinson had allowed the industry the increase in the price of crude oil it has pleaded for during more than two years.

Strict Enforcement Asked.

"In lieu of this cut—unnecessary or not—the industry would prefer from OPA a strict enforcement of its rationing regulations. It would ask that OPA stop over-issuing the rationing coupons.

"Black market operations about which OPA cries out so bitterly are largely due to misuse of the coupons that OPA issues. The industry has offered to help OPA stop the illegal trafficking in gasoline, but so far the offer has never been accepted."

The one-third reduction in the weekly A ration is accomplished by making one A coupon last 10 days instead of a week as at present. In this way the value of the coupon remains at three gallons, but the allowance is only eight gallons a month instead of 12 gallons. This reduction will be effective thru the period from March 22 to June 21, during which time motorists will get only 24 gallons.

Variance in A Card Use.

In the east the two gallons a week has been for unrestricted family driving. This is not true of this part of the country, gasoline men say, for here many will be compelled to use them for essential driving only.

While the cut was being announced in one room at OPA headquarters in Washington, Shad Polier, director of gasoline rationing enforcement for OPA, in another room was holding forth on the black market and the printing and selling of counterfeit coupons.

Polier said the counterfeiting was one of the biggest rackets ever to blanket the country and constituted a menace to the rationing system itself. His statements were interpreted as a confession that rationing had broken down and was out of control.

Polier said that 35 per cent of the C coupons in Chicago were counterfeit, 50 per cent in Milwaukee, 30 per cent in New York, 35 per cent in Philadelphia, 15 to 20 per cent in Cleveland and 30 per cent in Detroit.

Milwaukee Hits Figures.

Polier's statements at once brought dissension and denial from OPA local and regional officials in a split within the OPA itself.

Milwaukee OPA officials denied that 50 per cent of the C gasoline coupons in that city were counterfeit, as charged yesterday by the OPA in Washington. Lee K. Beznor, Milwaukee district OPA enforcement attorney, said the 50 per cent estimate apparently came from the fact that a survey of a limited number of suspected Milwaukee gasoline dealers showed that about half the coupons in their hands were counterfeit. This did not reflect the general situation, he added, as a broader investigation subsequently indicated that the over-all ratio of counterfeit coupons was not over 15 per cent.

Paul A. H. Shults, acting OPA director for metropolitan Chicago, also said the estimate of the Washington office that 35 per cent of the C gasoline coupons in this area are counterfeit was "too high."

"I don't know what the figure should be but I'm quite sure that 35 per cent is considerably too high," Shults said. "I'd like to find out how they arrived at that figure in Washington. We have actually discovered a very small percentage of coupons that were counterfeits."

13 MAKING RACE FOR 4 POSTS ON SANITARY BOARD

President Woodhull Runs Despite His Illness.

This is the third article in a series discussing candidates seeking nominations for various offices in the April 11 primary.

BY GUY GENTRY.

Thirteen candidates — six Democrats and seven Republicans — are in the primary race for the four positions to be filled this year on the Chicago sanitary district board of trustees. In addition to the three six year trustees to be elected, voters will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Trustee Thomas F. Byrne last December. Four years remain of Byrne's term.

The three retiring trustees, all Democrats, who have filed for reelection, are:

President Ross A. Woodhull, who first was elected to the board in 1928. He served six years as 7th ward alderman, being finance committee chairman the last nine years he was in the council. He served as finance committee chairman of the district board and was elected president in 1934.

Acquitted in Whoopee Case.

John J. Touhy, former 27th ward alderman and present ward committeeman, served five terms in the council before being elected trustee in 1926. He was reëlected in 1932 and again in 1938.

J. L. Friedman was named to fill a vacancy in 1930, elected to full term in 1932, and again in 1938. He was head of a cleaning and dyeing firm before his election to the board and maintains his membership in the American Federation of Labor. He is acting chairman of the finance committee.

Because of the severe illness of President Woodhull, the Democratic organization has also filed the name of John A. Szumarski, public vehicle license commissioner, who will receive the full organization support if Woodhull's illness makes it impossible for the latter to run. Szumarski is 35th ward committeeman and a leader among Polish-American voters.

Kelley Seeks Byrne Post.

For the Byrne four year vacancy the regular Democratic candidate is Neal T. Kelley, 34th ward committeeman since 1928 and manager of the sanitary district real estate department since 1932. Kelley operates his own real estate business at 3550 Fullerton av.

Running independently in the Democratic primary for a six year term is Frank M. Foran, 7306 Archer av., Summit, an undertaker.

Regular Republican candidates are:

Louis N. Blumenthal, 1033 Loyola av., who obtained 54 consecutive jury convictions while assistant state's attorney for four years, among them being Martin Durkin, convicted of the murder of an FBI man. He was named assistant director of Illinois war council, and gained praise as staff executive in charge of all downstate salvage, war savings, and was garden programs. Blumenthal is founder and past president of Chicago B'nai B'rith council.

Electricians Union Official.

Matthew G. Lenehan, 7953 S. Wolcott av., spent six years as journeyman electrician for the sanitary district and has served since 1934 as financial secretary of local B-134, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers [AFL] that has more than 6,300 members. He has helped form Republican labor committees in state and local campaigns for many years.

J. B. Martin, 412 E. 47th st., served as Republican county chairman in Memphis, Tenn., where he owned and operated one of the city's large drug companies, and fought Boss Crump's Democratic machine. He was member of the Republican national committee planning board in the 1936 campaign, and is now owner of the Chicago American Giants.

Republican endorsement for the short term is given to Walter E. McCarron, 545 Wesley av., Oak Park, World War I. veteran who has been manager of the Illinois Motor Truck Operators association for 14 years.

Mustell in G. O. P. Race.

Running independently in the Republican primary for the six year terms are Dr. Robert R. Mustell, 120 W. Madison st.; Van L. Shaw, 6917 S. Peoria st., and Millard O. Lamkin, 7832 S. May st. Dr. Mustell was a candidate for coroner in 1940, and appeared before the Republican committee on candidates this year for the same office. He is making the race for trustee, he said, because of his interest in water and sewage problems. Shaw and Lamkin are politically unknown in the 18th ward, where they reside.

UNPLEDGED G.O.P. SLATE LEADS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

All of Democrats Are Tied to F.D.R.

Manchester, N. H., March 14 [Special].—Early returns from the nation's first balloting for national convention delegates indicated tonight that New Hampshire Republican voters have chosen six unpledged candidates and one candidate pledged to Gov. Dewey of New York for seven posts of delegate at large. In addition to the at-large delegates, two are being selected from each of two congressional districts.

The returns are from 135 of the state's 296 precincts. Four of the successful unpledged Republican candidates are openly favorable to the candidacy of Wendell Willkie, and two have taken no position.

Democrats for F. D. R.

Three candidates who were pledged to Willkie apparently were defeated, along with four others pledged to Dewey. One candidate pledged to Gen. MacArthur was running last in the field of 19.

In contests for the two places in each of the state's two congressional districts, an unpledged and a Dewey pledged candidate led in the early returns from each district.

Democratic voters elected a slate of 12 delegates at large and two each from the congressional districts, all pledged to President Roosevelt.

No Word from Dewey.

The Dewey slate was entered in the race without the consent of the New York governor, but he did not ask its members to withdraw as he recently did in Wisconsin.

The seven leaders in the Republican delegate at large race were Gov. Robert O. Blood, former Gov. Huntley N. Spaulding, former United States Sen. George H. Moses, Robert W. Upton, National Committeeman Robert P. Burroughs, Frank J. Sulloway and Charles A. Holden.

Burroughs is Willkie's campaign manager in New Hampshire and Blood, Upton and Sulloway have stated they favor the Willkie candidacy. Spaulding and Moses have not indicated their choices. Holden is pledged to Dewey.

BLAMES SMEAR OF M'ARTHUR ON NEW DEAL FEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14—Smear attacks on Gen. MacArthur from administration inspired sources indicate New Deal fears that the general will oppose President Roosevelt in the Presidential campaign, Rep. Fish [R., N. Y.] told the house today.

Walter Winchell, gossip columnist and broadcaster, was named in the floor discussion as one of the leading smearers of MacArthur. Fish also listed the war department library service and Marshall Field's New York publication, PM, which is known as the uptown edition of the Communist Daily Worker.

Fish noted that the Daily Worker recently carried blazing headlines on a "secret" visit of Gen. Robert Wood to MacArthur's headquarters in Australia last summer, emphasizing that Gen. Wood was former head of the America First committee.

PM Forgets the Facts.

"What was wrong with that?" asked Fish. "Evidently PM forgot that Brig. Gen. Hanford MacNider, a gallant soldier wounded in the last war and in this, is serving directly under Gen. MacArthur and that MacNider is a past national commander of the American Legion and a member of the national executive committee of the America First committee, as was Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, sister of another brave officer, Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt.

"The wolf pack of communistic smearers and radical New Deal and fellow traveler stooges are out gunning for MacArthur, our greatest fighting general, who with little to fight with wins victory after victory over the Japs while our invasion troops have been bogged down in Italy for six months.

Fear MacArthur Draft.

"Why these calculated and deliberate assaults against MacArthur by the smear artists, except that both the New Deal hatchet men and the Communist fellow travelers are afraid that he will be drafted by the Republican national convention in June to lead the fight against the Great White Father? Are the New Dealers afraid MacArthur will steal the war ball from the commander in chief?

"If these unfair smear attacks continue they will insure his nomination and election as the next President of the United States."

REACH ACCORD ON $1,350,000,000 FUND FOR UNRRA

Washington, D. C., March 14 (AP).—Final terms of a $1,350,000,000 authorization for United States participation in the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration program were agreed upon late today by a joint conference of senators and representatives.

House conferees accepted June 30, 1946, as the termination date for the authorization, instead of two years after the end of the war. Stricken completely was a senate amendment which would have barred use of any of the funds for promotion of any educational, religious, or political program.

Two other senate reservations were amended and accepted. One confines rehabilitation to "such activities as are necessary to relief." The other stipulates UNRRA "shall not incur obligations beyond the limits of appropriations made under this authorization."

Bidwill, Cardinal Owner, Abandons Delegate Race

Charles W. Bidwill, owner of the Cardinals football team, withdrew yesterday as a candidate for delegate to the Republican national convention in the 6th congressional district. Altho the time for withdrawals had passed, Bidwill's was accepted by County Clerk Michael J. Flynn and the board of election commissioners. Judge Julius H. Miner and Seward M. Gunderson of Oak Park are the organization choices for delegates.

Tells Fraud Role

Geraldine Hunter rests her feet during interlude in trial of three on check fraud charges.

A motion for a directed verdict of not guilty against Walker J. Pelka, 29, of 2835 Quinn st., and two other men on trial for operating a $100,000 fraudulent check passing ring, will be argued today before Judge Francis B. Allegretti in Criminal court.

The state closed its case against Pelka, a hunchback; Chester Rudnicki, 28, of Downers Grove, and Mike Valaskas, 70, of 114 E. 107th st., a printer, with the testimony of Geraldine Hunter, 18, of 3929 Lake Park av., one of two women who became state's witnesses against the three.

Miss Hunter, who related she came to Chicago from an Arkansas farm two years ago, said she had cashed checks on Pelka's instructions over a period of two weeks. The checks averaged $32, she testified, and she had been promised a 50-50 split of the proceeds. She asserted, however, that $50 was the largest payment she had received from Pelka.

LEGISLATURES SLIGHTED, SAYS LOTTIE O'NEIL

State Rep. Lottie Holman O'Neil [R., Downers Grove] last night said that there was a growing tendency, particularly noticeable in Washington, D. C., to underestimate the powers and functions of the legislative branch of government.

Rep. O'Neil was one of three speakers who addressed the Women's National Republican club of Chicago's ABC school of politics in the La Salle hotel. The school is held before each primary and general election.

Other speakers were Philip W. Collins, state director of revenues, and George B. McKibbin, state director of finance. McKibbin said that his department was studying means of insuring reëmployment for discharged veterans.

OPA Hints Less Extra Gas for War Gardeners

Washington, D. C., March 14 (AP).—War gardeners again this year will be granted extra gasoline to travel to their plots but the allowance probably will be less than last year, an office of price administration spokesman said tonight. An announcement of the amount to be allowed probably will be forthcoming within a few weeks. War gardeners last year were granted sufficient gasoline for a maximum of 300 miles of driving within a six month period.

for revolutions in Latin America and holding key positions in our government. The Communists, she charged, "have subtly succeeded in compelling the emasculation of counter-intelligence" in the United States army.

Doubts Durable Peace.

In view of all this, Miss Sumner asked, "will this invasion help gain for Europe a durable peace?" The answer, she said is, "no."

The basis for a lasting peace, she continued, is expressed in this single sentence of the Atlantic Charter: "Sovereign rights, territories, and self-government shall be restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them."

Declaring the time to remedy past mistakes and work for lasting peace is now—not later—Miss Sumner said:

"Now means before lend-lease stops and before the invasion starts. It looks as if we shall never get a durable peace, unless we postpone the invasion long enough to persuade Hitler by bombing, and Stalin by postponement of invasion and diplomacy, including restrictions against aggressive use of lend-lease, to give us that kind of peace."

Miss Sumner today introduced two bills embodying her demands against an ill-advised European invasion and in favor of an all-out attack in the Pacific.

The first directs the President to issue an ultimatum embodying the "self-government" clause in the Atlantic charter, and calls for postponement of the invasion "until adequate assurance and guarantee be given that the provision of the ultimatum will be carried out and also until qualified American military authorities are agreed that the American forces are adequately prepared for the invasion and that the invasion is reasonably necessary to the military security of the United States."

Aid for MacArthur.

The second bill calls for coördinating the present five commands in the Pacific under Gen. MacArthur, whom Miss Sumner described as "our ablest American general." It further provides that no forces be withdrawn without MacArthur's consent and directs the shipment of such forces and equipment as he requests to what Miss Sumner called the "shamefully neglected" Pacific theater.

At present, the congresswoman said, MacArthur sorely needs amphibious equipment, but is treated instead, "to a public smear campaign." Meanwhile, she added, amphibious equipment is being "dissipated" in the Italian campaign.

BOARD OF EDUCATION SEEKS U. S. FUNDS TO HELP BUILD SCHOOL

The Chicago board of education has applied for federal funds to help finance a new three unit grade and high school at 130th st. and Langley av., John C. Christensen, board architect, reported yesterday.

The school has been requested by the war housing authority to serve a federal housing project under construction at 132d st. and Corliss av., with facilities for 1,500 families, Christensen said.

The board has acquired a site of 9.4 acres and plans for the school have been drawn. Construction can be started as soon as federal money is allocated, the architect said. The cost is estimated at $700,000 and under the Lanham act, the government could supply up to 65 per cent.

The elementary building would have 11 classrooms, a kindergarten, home mechanics room, a library, and other rooms. The separate high school building would have five classrooms, a library, four laboratories, a drawing and art room, and a band and orchestra room. A third unit would house an assembly hall-gymnasium.

Plans also are being made for other schools, Christensen said, if this program is federally approved.

DEADLINE TODAY FOR INCOME TAX; THOUSANDS PAY

Today is the final day to pay your 1943 income tax.

As the deadline approached, thousands of taxpayers lined up before cashiers' windows yesterday in the United States courthouse, and other thousands jammed the rotunda, seeking information on how to fill out their returns.

Highest payment of the day was a corporation check for 3½ million dollars—a payment on the first quarterly instalment. Other corporation payments included one for $1,300,000 and another for $1,250,000.

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, said he had been authorized to mail checks for refunds to taxpayers who overpaid last year. The first 1,500 of these will be mailed within the next two weeks. Most of these will go to men in the army and navy, Harrison said.

Guard Officers Inspect Four Reserve Companies

Four companies of the 2d battalion of the Illinois reserve militia were inspected last night by officers of the National Guard bureau, the federal agency controling militia units recognized by the government, at militia headquarters in the Northwest armory, 1551 N. Kedzie av. The inspection, said Col. George May, is to pass on the condition of the unit's equipment.

SPURN WILLKIE IN AP ILLINOIS DELEGATE POLL

Several Candidates Take Positive Stand.

Not one of the Illinois candidates for delegate to the Republican national convention has expressed a preference for Wendell Willkie in the poll being conducted by the Associated Press, the first tabulation of returns showed yesterday.

On the other hand, five candidates departed from the question asked to signify positive disfavor for Willkie. They are [*indicates organization indorsement]: *Hobart E. Neff [1st district], Frances S. Conlon [6th], Carl U. Johanson [10th], *Charles M. Burgess [11th], and *H. W. Custer [14th].

Forty of the 80 aspirants replied to the questions, with 30 listing themselves as open minded, except for those expressing antipathy toward the 1940 nominee.

Of the 10 who stated present preferences, four were for Gov. Dewey, three for Gov. Bricker, one for Gov. Green, one for Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, and one for "A real American."

The G. O. P. delegate candidates were asked to write in the name of the man they would like to see nominated, or state that they were open minded. Replies were received from all of the 25 congressional districts, in each of which two delegates will be elected April 11.

Besides the 50 delegates to be elected, there will be nine selected from the state at large by the Republican state convention.

Thirty Are Open-Minded.

Listed as currently open minded were Louis B. Anderson (1st), Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude [2d], *William H. Reid [3d], James O. Koontz [3d], *Felix F. Kucharski [4th], *James W. Breen [4th], Walter E. Pacanowski [4th], *Samuel R. Ballis [5th], Martha M. Krystak [7th], *Vincent J. Poklacki [8th], *Mrs. Florence Pacelli (8th], *State Auditor Lueder [9th], Frank P. Lyman [11th], *Circuit Judge Win G. Knoch [11th], *George B. Shaw [13th], *Walter Rosenfield [14th], *Frederick O. Mercer [15th], *George Michell [16th], *George J. Mecherle [17th], *John W. Brown [18th], *Ralph J. Monroe (19th], *Forrest Hatch [20th], *Lloyd E. Davis [21st], Robert G. Miley [24th], *Dr. Willis I. Lewis [25th], and the five who also said they don't want Willkie.

Four Votes for Dewey.

For Gov. Dewey were his cousin, *Leonard C. Reid [2d], *Frank W. Greenaway [12th], Edward M. Fox [12th], and Roxy La Rocca [16th].

Bricker was the choice of William V. Maina [3d], Walter S. Skalecki [4th], and Jesse Brown [22d], only Brown being an organization candidate.

William R. McCauley [23d] preferred Gov. Green and Roscoe Conkling Simmons [1st] favored Col. McCormick, who withdrew his name after it had been entered without his consent in the Illinois preference primary. P. H. Moynihan [2d], who said he wanted "a real American," is leader of the group that attempted to place Col. McCormick's name on the ballot.

Killed in Fire

Richard and Ramona Friedrich.

A Lake county coroner's jury yesterday held accidental the deaths of Ramona Friedrich, 8, and her brother, Richard, 5, who perished Monday night in a fire that destroyed their home at Round Lake Beach, 14 miles west of Waukegan. The cause was not determined.

Their bodies were found in a reed clothes basket in a garage adjoining the kitchen. Walter Henderson, a deputy sheriff, said the girl apparently fell into the basket while attempting to carry her brother from the house.

The fire, which caused damage of $5,000 to the five room bungalow and its contents, was discovered by the children's mother, Gladys, 33, when she returned from visiting a neighbor. Their father, John, 35, was at work in a war plant.

WILLIAMS DIES IN CHAIR FOR KILLING GROCER

Paul Leroy Williams, 24, died in the electric chair in County jail at 1:10 a. m. today for the murder Sept. 19, 1942, of Thomas Papayanis, a south side grocer who was killed in a holdup.

Williams, who obtained four stays of execution after he was scheduled to die 13 months ago, walked to the chair between two guards at 1:04 a.m. A minute later the first of three charges of electricity was sent thru his body. He made no final statement, but the Rev. Albert E. Selcer, jail chaplain, said that as he walked from his cell he asked that a prayer be said for him and repeated the words. He previously had rejected all religious consolation.

Williams' widow, Genevieve, 24, and his mother, Mrs. Evalyn Williams, and his sister visited him yesterday for several hours. He ate heartily of his final meal of steak, salad, peas, and coffee and showed no emotion when told by Warden Sain that his final appeal for another stay had been declined by Gov. Green. Among the witnesses at the execution was Sheriff Michael F. Mulcahey, attending the first electrocution since he took office.

LYONS PROMISES U. S. FLAG WILL GUIDE HIS ACTS

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Crowded Republican rallies without fun show what is in the people's minds, Richard J. Lyons, seeking nomination as G. O. P. candidate for United States senator, declared last night at three meetings in the 23d, 28th, and 34th wards. Each meeting had an overflow attendance.

Having traveled Illinois repeatedly since 1930, it is impossible for him not to notice the change that has come over the people, Lyons said. Gov. Green, Lt. Gov. Cross, and Arnold P. Benson, aspirant for secretary of state, also were among the six candidates who took the stump last night for the regular slate.

"There used to be levity at political meetings," Lyons said. "Today we find the people grim and determined.

Has Son in Air Force.

"We know what you're thinking about. We know where your thoughts are—with that boy, that husband, that father. And I'm no different than you, for I have a son and a son-in-law in the army air force.

"Yes, we know what you want and why you are here. You want no more bungling, no more inefficiency, no more interference with the military war effort by the burocrats and social planners."

"You want this war prosecuted to early and complete victory; and just as soon as the war is over you want your men brought home. That is also just what we propose to do."

"While a member of the senate," he affirmed "my every act, my every devotion, will be guided by one flag only—that flag which flies over the capitol of the United States of America."

The G. O. P. aspirants tonight will speak in the 50th ward at 2323 Devon av. and in the Georgian hotel, Evanston.

Dempsey Selects Manager.

John T. Dempsey, Republican aspirant for state's attorney, yesterday named his former schoolmate, Edward B. Casey, as his campaign manager. Casey is a former Municipal court judge. They attended Notre Dame university together.

Since 1938, they have been associated in law practice. Casey said as campaign manager he would press the issue that the Democratic candidate is "Mayor Kelly's hand picked stooge."

Mayor Kelly will make his first appearance in behalf of Democratic aspirants at a 22d ward meeting at 2300 Millard av. tomorrow night. This is the "good luck" starting place for Democratic campaigns.

SCHOOLS COMBED FOR GIRL FIEND; VICTIM RECOVERS

Jefferson Park police yesterday visited the Portage Park elementary school and Foreman, Steinmetz, and Schurz High schools in an unsuccessful effort to identify the teen age girl who sadistically attacked an 8 year old boy Monday and a 5 year old boy 10 days ago. Descriptions of the girl, as provided by the two victims, were presented to teachers and principals. Meanwhile John Marth, 4112 N. Leamington av., was said to be recovering in Belmont hospital from the effects of five blows on the head. He was struck with a wrench Monday night in Portage Park, on the northwest side.

DEMAND BRITAIN TRY OR RELEASE WAR DETAINEES

Civil Rights Denied, 100 Leaders Say.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 14.—A petition signed by 100 prominent British authors, medical men, scientists, churchmen, and others, was sent to Prime Minister Churchill today urging that "British subjects detained under regulation 18-B, many of whom have been in prison over four years, should be tried or released."

[Regulation 18-B is a defense act which allows the government to hold without public trials members of any organizations which have had associations with the enemy or are subject to foreign influence or control and which may be used for purposes prejudicial to national security.]

Cite Magna Charta.

The petition was accompanied by a pamphlet entitled "It Can't Happen Here," quoting the Magna Charta: "To no one will we sell, deny, or delay right of justice." The petitioners warned that "oppressive measures will increase in scope and intensity if no attempt is made to alter them." Prof. John Haldane, the biologist who is now a Communist, was quoted as saying:

"I am absolutely opposed even to the imprisonment of Ramsay and Mosley without a trial. The government dared not bring these men to trial because their defense would show they had done no worse than the men who today are occupying high places."

[Oswald Mosley is the former British Fascist leader. Capt. A. H. M. Ramsay is a former Conservative of parliament and anti-Semitic president of the "Right club."]

"A Complete Denial."

The petitioners said further: "We feel the alien, dangerous practice of indefinite imprisonment without charge is a complete denial of the British heritage of freedom on which we pride ourselves. Its application even to men who fought in the last war for freedom now denied them makes us less worthy of the victory for which we strive."

The signatories included no members of the house of commons, but there were 10 peers and such military and naval men as Rear Adm. Kenalm Creighton and Maj. Gen. J. F. C. Fuller; writers such as H. G. Wells, D. B. Wyndham-Lewis, Philip Gibbs, and Prof. Arthur Berriedale-Keith, leading constitutional authority.

PARK AND SCHOOL UNITS TO FOSTER GARDEN COURSES

The Chicago board of education, coöperating with the Chicago park district, will sponsor war garden instruction courses in public schools and park fieldhouses for 10 Monday nights, beginning March 27 or April 3, it was announced yesterday after a conference attended by George T. Donoghue, park superintendent, Philip L. McNamee, public school vocational supervisor, and William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools.

The federal war training program will provide paid instructors in coöperation with the city schools vocational education office.

COURTNEY TAKES CAMPAIGN INTO MINE COUNTIES

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

West Frankfort, Ill., March 14.—State's Atty. Courtney carried his campaign as Democratic nominee for governor into the coal mining counties of Franklin and Williamson today and praised the war time work and patriotism of the coal miners. He lashed at what he termed bossism in the present state regimé and promised his listeners that he can reduce state taxes if he is elected governor.

William Vicars, candidate for auditor, relieved the absenteeism situation among the Democratic candidates a bit by joining the caravan and shouting a denunciation of Gov. Green. While his appearance shortened to four the number of missing candidates, the missing audiences were no more apparent.

One hundred and fifteen persons showed up in Herrin at an organization meeting, and approximately 300 persons rattled about in a high school auditorium designed for 1,000 persons in a night mass meeting here tonight.

Lewis Joins Caravan.

Louie E. Lewis of Christopher, former state treasurer, joined the Herrin meeting and accused Gov. Green of falsifying statements concerning the state funds turned over to the present state administration.

"The Republicans are going up and down the state telling people that the Democrats turned over a bankrupt treasury," Lewis said. "That is a deliberate lie. I have the receipt of the treasurer who succeeded me and it showed that the Horner administration gave the Republicans $442,000,000 in cash and a balance in the general fund of $6,000,000. The Republicans are not on the square and for that reason we have a fine opportunity to turn them out with Tom Courtney, one of the finest men in our party since Gov. Horner."

Courtney, in his speech to the meetings, said that Illinois labor, business, and industrial leadership have teamed up and proved that free enterprise must be preserved.

Courtney pointed out he had reduced the cost of operating the office of state's attorney in Cook county by 16 per cent. He told his listeners he can effect the same economy if he is sent to Springfield.

Rips G. O. P. "Patronage."

"We know the primary contest being waged today in the Republican party in Illinois is the result of a determination on the part of the state administration to dominate and control patronage," he continued. "The candidates in the Republican primary admit this themselves."

E. C. [Ted] Hunter, candidate for lieutenant governor, said the Republicans had failed to provide good leadership for the legislature. He asserted that under a Democratic regimé this mistake would be rectified.

Mrs. Paul Douglas, candidate for representative at large, spoke in behalf of Edward J. Barrett, candidate for secretary of state. Barrett, a member of the marine corps in the Pacific, is in the same service as that of Douglas. She urged that the people of Illinois support the Democratic candidates to insure speedy war victory.

CARLSTROM OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN FOR ILLINOIS GOVERNOR

Danville, Ill., March 14 [Special].—Oscar E. Carlstrom, former attorney general, in his fourth quest for the Republican nomination for governor, tonight opened his campaign with the pledge that if elected he will handle patronage matters personally. He has scheduled speeches in a number of downstate cities.

"In matters of patronage I will accept that responsibility personally and will be available to the representatives of my party including the precinct committeemen," he said, "There will be no Simon Legree in the state house telling you, 'You will or else' under my authority."

He urged every Republican primary voter to mark his ballot for Gen. MacArthur in the Presidential preference primary "to show our appreciation for the able, courageous, and effective leadership he is giving our armed forces."

CITY'S PRIMARY LISTS ATTAIN 1,916,306 TOTAL

Chicago's official voting lists for the April 11 primary rose to 1,916,306 names yesterday after tabulation of new registrations by the board of election commissioners.

In all, 102,246 new voters registered, said John S. Rusch, chief election clerk. Their names were added to the old records of 1,814,060. The 1,916,306 is not a record; Rusch said 150,000 names might be stricken from the rolls by the official canvass Friday and Saturday.

Of the new voters, 81,562 registered in city fire houses since March 8, and 20,684 in the city hall since last April. In addition there were 170,371 changes of address for the year and 8,920 changes of name.

Because of the heavy registration, scores of city hall employes were pressed into overtime service last night to enter the names in binders. The help was ordered by Mayor Kelly after appeal by the election board.

TWO ROBBERS BEAT VICTIM.

Peter Balkin, 17, of 3049 Berteau av., reported to police yesterday that two young men robbed him of his coat, gloves, watch, $2, and his eyeglasses in an alley in the rear of 1600 N. Mozart st., then beat him when he asked them to return the spectacles.

F. D. R. FOR PLAN TO RATION MEN FREED IN DRAFT

Would Be Assigned Like Materials.

Washington, D. C., March 14 (AP).—President Roosevelt indicated favor today for a new plan to "ration" occupational draft deferments to war plants in much the same manner that scarce materials are now rationed to them—on the basis of the greatest need at the moment in the light of shifting trends in arms production.

The proposal has been put forward by production and man power officials. At his press-radio conference, Mr. Roosevelt made no direct reference to it, but in a discussion of the deferment problem indicated he was thinking along the same line.

The plan calls for an office which would prepare a list of plants whose output is most essential and whose technicians are irreplaceable. Such plants would be recommended for protection against the loss of their technical staffs to the army.

Follows WPB Practice.

The list would be subject to constant review and new plants could be added if new production programs become most essential. In essence, the idea is about the same as that followed by the war production board thru its "controled materials plan" in the allocation of scarce materials.

Mr. Roosevelt's discussion was touched off by a question whether it was not true that the army and navy needed more and more younger men. It is true, he said, but the degree of necessity is a primary factor in the question of draft deferments. Many younger men are doing vital war work and he would not want to put them into uniform and then reassign them to their present jobs.

Essential Service Defined.

By way of illustration of the question of degree of necessity, the President recalled that two years ago there was a great need for rifles and small arms ammunition. Now some plants making them have curtailed operations and a prime current need is for landing craft. Therefore, he said, some young men now making shells and rifles would be more useful in the military services while others making landing craft would be more essential there. He said some men for combat service might he turned up by another recombing of army and navy personnel in this country, and indicated this would be done.

Concern Over Agriculture.

During the day it was disclosed that the war department is also preparing to discontinue deferment requests for more than 7,000 of its presently deferred younger civilian employes. War department officials were reported to believe industrial deferments should be tightened but to be chiefly concerned over the number of deferments in agriculture. About 562,000 men under age 26 have been deferred as farm workers.

Asked whether there was a disposition to look into these deferments, Mr. Roosevelt said he would not say they were receiving more attention than those in any other industry.

before Sept. 1 but do not receive them by Oct. 1.

"I believe congress has the power to regulate the election of federal officers," Sen. Barkley said. "I don't know if the power is greater in time of war, but the occasion is certainly greater.

"By drafting soldiers and sailors, congress has taken away from them, the opportunity to vote at home. Congress not only has the power but the duty to make it as easy as possible for those voters to exercise their right of franchise."

Nye Explains His Vote.

Sen. Moore [R., Okla.], who voted against the bill, attacked Sen. Lucas for his support of the federal ballot, declaring the Illinois senator was making a political issue of the measure.

Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.], who voted for the bill, said he did so because it "retained state control of election machinery."

Sen. Nye [R., N. D.], one of the few Republicans who voted against the compromise measure, told THE TRIBUNE that he could not conscientiously support any measure that included the federal ballot because he considered it unconstitutional.

"A little bit of unconstitutionality is just as bad as a lot of it," Sen. Nye declared. "However, if the President vetoes the measure, I will join my colleagues in overriding the veto."

SAVE 68 HORSES IN $25,000 FIRE; BUGGIES BURNED

Fire that started when an oil furnace exploded last night destroyed the big enclosed riding track at the Forest View stables, Golf and Harms rds., in Morton Grove. The loss was estimated at $25,000. Rescuers led 68 horses to safety from the stables.

Adolphe B. Cameron, owner of the stables, was restrained from reentering the flaming building, 100 by 200 feet. He was trying to pull out a small cutter and a pony buggy that he had given his daughter. They and 16 old cutters and carriages, kept as exhibition pieces, were destroyed when the roof collapsed.

Firemen from Wilmette, Morton Grove, Skokie, and Glenview were hampered because they had to pipe water a half mile.

Wins Divorce

MRS. ELEANOR STEWART.

Mrs. Eleanor Stewart, 1112 Hinman av., Evanston, was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Robert J. Dunne of Circuit court from her husband, John Stewart, broker and son of the late Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal church.

She charged cruelty, saying that once her husband slapped her after accusing her of spoiling their three children. Her brother, Lt. Col. Martin McDonnell of Washington, D. C., testified in her behalf. The Stewarts were married April 7, 1931, and separated last December.

Mrs. Stewart was granted custody of the children, Katherine, 11; John, 10, and Michal, 5. Under a property agreement announced by her lawyer, Lloyd A. Faxon, and Stewart's attorney, Francis Linneman, Mrs. Stewart will receive 50 per cent of Stewart's income.

100 SHIPYARD WORKERS BALK AT RENT BOOST

Angered over an OPA approved rental increase of 50 cents a week in the price of 8 by 8 foot rooms in federally owned dormitories for shipyard workers at Seneca, Ill., 100 shipyard workers last night threatened to move out if the raise is not rescinded.

The men are employes of the Seneca shipyards division of the Chicago Bridge and Iron company, which makes tank landing craft for the coming invasion of Europe.

Four House 74 Men Each.

The four domitories involved house 74 men each as part of the federal housing project. Rooms contain a bed, dresser and chair. Until recently the rooms rented for $4.50 a week.

On Feb. 16, without warning, notices were posted on the doors of the rooms that "use permits" were to be terminated on Feb. 29 and the price raised to $5 a week with approval of the office of price administration.

Projects "In the Red."

Orton F. Keyes, manager of the units, who attended the meeting has explained, it was said, that the projects are "in the red" and that rents are lower than private rents near-by.

George Wagner, whose home is in Joliet, was elected president of a Union of Dormitory Tenants. Speaking to the men, he said:

"We left our own homes to help the war effort here and we're billeted in cells. Why these bachelor quarters aren't any bigger than a Pullman compartment. Now we're confronted with a government agency that is supposed to 'hold the line' against inflation. Instead they're preventing an influx of new workers by raising rents against their supposed policy."

WORKERS HALT PRODUCTION AT FORD FACTORY

Detroit, Mich., March 15 [Wednesday]—(AP).—A labor dispute halted production today in the Ford Motor company's Rouge aircraft engine plant, scene last Wednesday of disorder that resulted in the discharge of 10 employes and the suspension of 10 others.

A company spokesman said afternoon shift employes left their jobs in advance of quitting time and blockaded plant gates, barring the 5,000 night shift workers who were due to report at 11:30 p. m.

A company official estimated, however, that approximately half the night shift employes had sifted thru the blockade by 1 a. m. and said a skeleton crew was put to work. Production of finished engines was virtually at a standstill. Neither the company nor the United Automobile Workers [CIO] offered any immediate explanation of the issues involved in today's stoppage.

PHONE WORKERS VOTE TO SERVE STRIKE NOTICE

2,273 Favor Action; Only 220 Against It.

Members of the Independent Illinois Union of Telephone Workers, who are employed by the Illinois Bell Telephone company in the state and in Lake and Porter counties, Ind., voted overwhelmingly to serve notice of intention to strike, tabulation of ballots cast during the last week showed yesterday. The balloting was the result of a war labor board denial of a $2 weekly wage increase, and opened the possibility of a work stoppage that may cripple the nation's telephone service or government seizure of the company to prevent a walkout.

Power Given to Board.

Edwin R. Hackett, union general counsel, said the vote was 2,273 for the strike notice to 220 against, with two ballots spoiled. The vote was taken on the question whether the union executive board should serve notice of strike intention as provided by the Smith-Connally law.

The union now will notify the secretary of labor, the national WLB, and the national labor relations board of the vote. A conciliator will be assigned to the case. If conciliation fails, the NLRB will conduct a strike determination vote among the union members within 30 days. An affirmative vote would permit the employes to strike.

Petition Before WLB.

Hackett said he is waiting for the regional WLB to act on his petition, filed Monday, that the wage case be reopened. A board spokesman said that the petition probably would be considered later this week. Labor observers predicted the case would be reopened, and were hopeful the board would grant a wage increase.

The 3,810 union members are engineers, maintenance workers, and repairmen.

WLB TIGHTENS GUILD CONTRACT WITH MAGAZINE

New York, March 14 (AP).—The second regional war labor board today directed that a maintenance of membership provision be included in a contract between Time, Inc., and the Newspaper Guild of New York CIO—the first such provision ever ordered in the newspaper industry.

The provision requires that "all employes who on March 29, 1944, 15 days after date of directive order, are members of the union in good standing" shall maintain membership in good standing as a condition of employment for the duration of the contract.

The decision was based on a general order issued March 4 by the national WLB in Washington holding maintenance of membership in the newspaper industry would not constitute abridgement of freedom of the press nor a violation of the first amendment to the Constitution.

Under a maintenance of membership agreement, every employe has the right to determine whether he will join the union, withdraw from it or remain in good standing during the 15 day "escape" period.

Wins Law Suit

OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14 (AP).—Actress Olivia De Havilland won a court judgment today holding that her contract with Warner Bros. studios has expired, altho it was interrupted by several suspensions. The studio contended the contract should be extended beyond the seven year period starting May 5, 1936, by the total of such suspensions. Superior Judge C. S. Burnell ruled employment agreements may not exceed seven years under California law. Miss de Havilland declared most of the suspensions were because she refused roles she felt were unsuitable.

COURT DENIES WLB MOTION TO KILL WARD'S SUIT

Strikes Blow at Law by Decrees.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—A Roosevelt appointed federal district judge today struck a sharp blow at legislation by executive decree when he denied a government motion to dismiss a suit brought by Montgomery Ward and company of Chicago against the war labor board and Economic Stabilization Director Vinson.

The Ward company suit seeks to bar the WLB from inforcing a directive requiring it to require maintenance of membership in a CIO union in six of its retail stores.

Democrat Congressman.

The government's motion was denied by District Justice T. Alan Goldsborough, until 1939 a Democrat representative from Maryland. The court's decision was made in the face of a plea by government attorneys that any order, by court or otherwise, prohibiting the WLB from inforcing its directives, would delay progress in the war.

Montgomery Ward's suit is based on the premise that, inasmuch as Ward's is not engaged in war production, neither the WLB nor Vinson has power to enforce its directives against it. The company further contended the WLB order is unconstitutional and hence the suit is merited.

Second Such Decision.

Justice Goldborough's decision was the second within a week by courts here denying government motions to dismiss cases brought against the WLB and Vinson. A similar decision was handed down a few days ago for the United States Gypsum company, also of Chicago.

In the Gypsum case the justice department is seeking a special appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals on the federal court decision.

HELD IN ATTEMPT TO RAPE.

DOCTOR ORDERS MEAT; A RATION CLERK SAYS 'NO'

How a ration board clerk arbitrarily refused, despite a physician's written request, to grant more meat to a 65 year old man recovering from a delicate operation was told yesterday by Mrs. Ann Swanson, 901 Argyle st.

The sick man is Mrs. Swanson's husband, Arthur, who last summer spent three months in St. Luke's hospital where he underwent a delicate operation and, in addition, suffered uremic poisoning and heart trouble. He is still under a physician's care.

Takes Letter from Physician.

Last Thursday, Mrs. Swanson said, she went to local rationing board number 48 of the office of price administration at 5004 Broadway to ask for more red points with which to buy meat for her husband. She took with her a letter from Dr. T. P. Grauer, 104 S. Michigan av. who had performed the operation on Mr. Swanson. The letter certified that Mr. Swanson had "not completely regained his strength and is, therefore, on a high protein diet."

The letter then requested authorization for the purchase of an additional three pounds of meat per week for one month.

After a 40 minute wait, Mrs. Swanson finally was allowed to show the letter to Mrs. Pauline C. Smith, chief clerk at the board.

Her request was brushed aside by the clerk, Mrs. Swanson said, on the ground that the diet wasn't necessary despite the doctor's written certification.

Cites Case of Own Husband.

"She said her husband had the same operation by the best doctor in Chicago," Mrs. Swanson said, "and that if her husband's doctor didn't think it necessary to request more points, my husband shouldn't have them either.

"The whole interview lasted only 10 minutes after my 40 minute wait. There was no reason for the refusal other than the clerk's personal opinion."

At the ration board, of which Martin W. Maloney is chairman, Mrs. Smith identified herself as the clerk with whom Mrs. Swanson had spoken. Asked why she had refused the doctor's written request, she said, "I just didn't think it was a necessary diet."

She confirmed her statement to Mrs. Swanson that her husband had undergone the same operation, but admitted that he was not nearly 65 years of age and had suffered no complications.

That was last Thursday.

Last night, five days later, after the case had aroused protest, all members of ration board 48 met and reversed the clerk's ruling, altho no formal appeal had been filed by Mrs. Swanson. Mr. Swanson, they decided, should not be deprived of the additional meat he needs to recover. In fact, it was pointed out, his doctor's request for additional meat would require only 96 points a month—and that's well within the established limit of 128 points for special dietary supplements.

Mr. Maloney said the board's decision was unanimous.

58 UNIONS PLAN MOVE TO DEMAND ENVOY ON WLB

Representatives of the 58 unions affiliated with the Confederated Unions of America will meet in Hotel Sherman, April 2, to consider action for enforcing demands for representation on the national war labor board, Matthew Smith, president of the organization, announced yesterday. The meeting, he said, originally was to have been held March 19 in New York, but was postponed to allow the union delegates more time to determine the wishes of their local memberships. Smith is secretary of the Mechanics' Educational Society of America, an independent union whose members engaged in a four day work stoppage in Michigan and Ohio war plants last month to protest their failure to obtain WLB representation.

PROBE NORTH CHICAGO BLAST.

RED CROSS OPENS HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS TODAY

Four Red Cross ambulances will form a cross at noon today at the intersection of State and Madison sts. during brief ceremonies starting a house to house canvass of the Chicago area by 100,000 volunteer Red Cross workers. A street car occupied by uniformed volunteer assistants will arrive, and the Red Cross workers will enter the ambulances to drive off in four directions with campaign material for the canvass.

Otto C. Doering, chairman of the Red Cross city division; H. T. East, co-chairman of the county communities division, and Martin H. Kennelly, general campaign manager, are among Red Cross officials who will open the campaign.

Kenilworth is the first community to exceed its quota. The community subscribed $20,000 Monday night, or $5,000 more than its quota. The outdoor shows committee of the campaign presented $5,000 to Kennelly yesterday as a first payment on its goal of $15,000. Pupils of the Town School for Girls, 1106 Lake Shore dr., conducted a "slave auction" yesterday and netted $100 for the Red Cross fund.

CUT WAR RISK INSURANCE.

LONDON, March 14 [AP].—New cargo war risk insurance rates with a blanket reduction of 25 cents per $100 valuation for voyages between United Kingdom and American destinations were announced today. The rates are effective on British, allied, and neutral steamers March 15.

SUBMARINE CORVINA LOST; COMMISSIONED ONLY LAST AUGUST

Washington, D. C., March 14 (AP).—Loss of the American submarine Corvina was announced by the navy today, bringing to 20 the number of United States submarines lost since the war started.

Comdr. R. S. Rooney.

The navy gave no information on where the Corvina made her last war patrol. She presumably was operating against Japanese shipping in the Pacific.

Built at Groton, Conn., the Corvina was commissioned Aug. 6, 1943. She had a displacement of 1,525 tons and carried a normal complement of 65 officers and men. Her skipper, Comdr. Roderick S. Rooney, 35, of Berkeley, Cal., is listed with members of his crew as missing in action. Rooney's wife is the daughter of Rear Adm. Ray A. Spear, former paymaster general and chief of the bureau of supplies and accounts.

GAYDA, FASCIST EDITOR, KILLED BY BOMB—ROME

House Reported Smashed in Allied Raid.

LONDON, March 14 (AP). — The German controled Rome radio said tonight that Virginio Gayda, Fascist editor who became famous as the principal journalistic spokesman for the Mussolini regime, was killed today in an allied bombing of Rome.

Virginio Gayda.

Frequently rumored slain or a suicide since Il Duce was ousted last July, Gayda had remained in retirement at Rome for many months.

According to the broadcast report Gayda was killed in the study of his home when a direct bomb-hit demolished the building. The Swiss radio said Gayda's entire family was killed. He was part Slav and his wife was a Russian.

In Fascism's hey-day, Gayda was editor of Il Giornale d'Italia and almost daily bombasted the "decadent democracies" in front page editorials which mirrored the opinions of Premier Mussolini.

Once a Diplomat in Russia.

Last December Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter said Gayda was in Rome but was "taking no part in the national revolution," Mussolini's new German-sponsored "Republican Fascism."

Born in Rome Aug. 12, 1885, Gayda went to Russia as a correspondent in 1915, and became an attaché of the Italian embassy at St. Petersburg when Italy entered the first World war.

He had other minor diplomatic assignments during the war, but in 1921 resumed his journalistic career as editor of Rome's Il Messagero. In 1926 he was made director of Il Giornale d'Italia. The post presumably was given him by Mussolini's son-in-law, Count Ciano, who at the time was minister of press and propaganda. He became perhaps the most quoted of all Italians, for foreign observers relayed his words daily as an indication of the course being pursued by Mussolini.

Bomb Rome Rail Yards.

ALLIED HDQ., NAPLES, March 14 (AP).—Rome was attacked from the air today for the eighth time in the war as American Marauder [B-26] medium bombers, noted for their precision raiding methods, blasted the Prenestiana railway yards in the eastern part of the city.

The Prenestiana yards are not far from the Tiburtina yards, which last were bombed by Flying Fortresses on March 4. Prenestiana is a junction point of the Rome-Florence route with the main rail line connecting Rome and Adriatic cities.

American Mitchells [B-25s] escorted by Thunderbolt fighters, bombed the railway yards at Terni, 40 miles north of Rome, and at Orte, approximately 10 miles nearer the city.

Chicago Soldier Killed in Crash on Maneuvers

Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, 509 W. 63d st., were notified yesterday that their son, Pvt. Harold W. Johnson, 23, had been killed in an army vehicle accident Sunday while on maneuvers near Lafayette, Tenn. Pvt. Johnson was a graduate of Englewood High school, and had been employed as a riveter at the Pullman Manufacturing company before his induction 11 months ago.

Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz, whose Jugo-Slav troops were reported yesterday to have halted German attack.

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—German troops attempting to break thru to Jugo-Slav liberated territory have been hurled back, a Partisan bulletin said today. It stated a detachment of Chetniks was wiped out in eastern Bosnia, and Bulgarian troops and Chetniks were being mopped up in Macedonia.

It also reported Partisans had derailed three German supply trains, killing 73 Nazi troops aboard one.

[Allied headquarters in Italy said a German ferry was blown to bits with a 1,000 pound bomb in Imis harbor, southwest of Split on the Dalmatian coast. A factory and an enemy convoy also were attacked in Jugo-Slavia. The Germans asserted their sub chasers sank an allied submarine in the Mediterranean.]

REPORT FINNISH LEADER REJECTS RUSSIA'S OFFER

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 15 [Wednesday]—(AP).—A recommendation that Finland reject Russia's "last chance" proposal for an armistice was laid before the Finnish parliament yesterday by Premier Edwin Linkomies, it was reliably reported today. He was said to have said that, under the circumstances, the soviet conditions were impossible to accept.

At 3 p. m. today parliament again will meet in a secret session expected to determine whether Finland will continue its war against Russia alongside Germany or pull out.

Thru heavy censorship, an Associated Press correspondent in Helsingfors, was able to report only that the Russion reply to the Finnish counter-armistice proposals said that the Finns must accept "in theory" the demand for the internment of the German soldiers before going to Moscow to discuss final conditions.

ALLIED PATROLS PROBE NAZI LINES ON ITALY FRONTS

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, March 14 (AP).—The weather has improved in Italy, but the ground remains extremely soft, holding both the allied and German armies mudbound except for patrol operations which yesterday included sharp clashes near Minturno and Cassino on the main 5th army front, headquarters announced today.

Allied raiders probed the German lines around Cisterna and Littoria in the beachhead area south of Rome, and American troops seized 13 prisoners and dispersed the remainder of a German patrol. The British repelled a German attempt to cross the Moletta river.

GERMAN BOMBS SET TWO LONDON DISTRICTS AFIRE

LONDON, March 15 [Wednesday]—(AP).—German airmen set sections of London ablaze last night in a pre-midnight assault comparable in intensity to the great raids of 1941. It was the first heavy raid on the British capital this month.

At least two waves of enemy bombers swooped across the city and poured flaming phosphorus bombs, thousands of incendiaries, and many high explosives on two of London's best known business and residential districts.

Children's Hospital Hit.

A children's hospital, two churches, apartments, business properties, warehouses, and entire rows of smaller dwellings were hit. Rescue squads burrowed in the wreckage for hours afterward to save a number of persons believed to have been buried in the collapsing structures.

Firemen fought for two hours before they brought under control a large blaze in a warehouse over an underground shelter in which 4,000 persons were sleeping. Wardens were prepared to evacuate them when the flames finally were controled.

American soldiers and military police joined in extinguishing the incendiaries which showered onto houses, streets, and parks. In one district the Americans were covered with feathers from pillows thrown out of a blazing warehouse. Fires were started in one large building which had been taken over by American forces.

13 Fires Among Homes.

Altogether 13 fires were counted in one residential district. Flames also spurted high from broken gas mains. When the last of the German raiders headed back across the channel the London sky glowed red and the horizon was ringed with flames.

The raiders came in over the east coast and several were intercepted by night fighters. Eight were shot down—six over Britain and two others over Holland.

Thousands saw one raider explode in midair during a fierce barrage. Two members of the crew were found dead in the wreckage and the third, who bailed out, was picked up seriously injured.

American Thunderbolts roared unchallenged over northern France yesterday in a low level offensive and strafed coastal targets around St. Vallery-en-Caux, 23 miles west of Dieppe, and Bayeux and St. Aubin at the base of the Cherbourg peninsula.

People are talking about the WAR SERIALS in the new Post

THE Wellington rode high over the towering Alps . . . shuddered . . . bolted earthward to a tornado-like crash.

This is the brilliant story of its valiant R. A. F. crew . . . of their escape from Occupied France . . . of the incredible courage and gallantry of the French Underground . . . and of the men and women who wait and watch for invasion to come—living and plotting in peril of their lives.

This is an unforgettable story of love and romance, heightened by war's terror. It is a novel that will thrill and excite—and leave you with something rich and warm and great to remember.

Beginning This Week—by H. E. Bates
FAIR STOOD THE WIND FOR FRANCE

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

This may be the Great Novel out of World War II

"FAIR STOOD THE WIND FOR FRANCE" introduces to Post millions the masterful writing of the brilliant young English novelist H. E. Bates. It is not difficult to see why his work has been so jealously consumed by the publishers and people of his own country.

Mr. Bates lived with the R. A. F. to get the background for this great story. It is not fiction in the ordinary sense—but fiction based upon first hand knowledge of the human sacrifice and emotions of men and women scarred with war's inhuman tragedy.

Millions well recall other great Post war stories that have set people talking . . . "Without Orders" by Martha Albrand, "Escape", by Ethel Vance, "Assignment in Brittany", by Helen MacInnes. "Fair Stood the Wind For France" stands high among them. In the opinion of Post editors—it may very well be the great novel to come out of this war.

10,000 GERMANS KILLED IN TRAP, RUSSIAN CLAIM

Ring 'Several Divisions' in Dnieper Drive.

MOSCOW, March 15 [Wednesday] —(AP).—The Red army encircled "several Nazi divisions" in the southern Ukraine and already has killed 10,000 troops and captured 4,000, the Russians announced today.

Other soviet forces reached a point 21 miles east of the Black sea port of Nikolaev and still others smashed across the Bug river in an area 60 miles from the Rumanian frontier. More than 230 localities were reported captured by soviet forces on three Ukrainian fronts.

The soviet war bulletins disclosed that the German divisions had been trapped along the Visun river [a branch of the Ingulets] 44 miles northeast of Nikolaev by two arms of Gen. Malinovsky's 3d Ukrainian front forces.

Efforts To Escape Fail.

"Our troops reached the Ingulets river from the west and cut off the road of retreat of a large enemy grouping," the bulletin said. "At the same time other of our formations, developing their offensive along the east bank of the Ingulets, closed a ring around the German divisions. Desperate attempts of the enemy to break out of encirclement failed. Our troops are pressing in on them and inflicting huge losses in manpower and material."

This came only three weeks after the Russians announced they had eliminated 10 German divisions, killing or capturing 73,000 Germans in the 14 day battle of the Korsun trap about 130 miles north of this area.

In the south the Russians made a 19 mile advance in 24 hours, capturing a town on the west bank of the Dnieper river west of captured Kherson. The point is 28 miles southeast of Nikolaev. The Russians also captured a town 21 miles directly east of Nikolaev. On the north they are about 30 miles away.

Another Threat of Trap.

The crossing of the Bug river was reported by the war bulletin which said one soviet formation "crossed the Bug river south and north of the town of Gaisin and created a threat of encirclement to the Germans." Gaisin is about 50 miles southeast of Vinnitsa. Gaisin was captured and "hundreds of enemy dead were left in the area," the bulletin said.

[Berlin radio said Russian troops had crossed the middle Bug river and formed several bridgeheads southwest of Uman. This is approximately the area mentioned by Moscow. Earlier reports had placed the Russians on the Bug at Gaivoron, southwest of Uman, and at Mikhailovka, 14 miles south of Vinnitsa.]

Rush Ships to Odessa.

LONDON, March 14 (AP). — An Istanbul report said every available axis ship in Black sea ports of Rumania was being hurried apparently to Odessa, 90 miles west of Kherson, presumably to rescue German forces hard pressed by the pursuing Russians.

The Nazis apparently were retreating everywhere except at Tarnopol, where there has been six days of street fighting. The Russians, however, have driven southeast of Tarnopol in what appears to be an outflanking movement. Heavy German counter-blows fell in the Proskurov area on the first Ukrainian front, Moscow dispatches said.

Two Admit Taking $900 from Safe in Restaurant

Chicago Lawn police said yesterday they had obtained confessions from Bert Young, 31, 624 W. 79th st., and Themuel Manos, 25, 7465 Vincennes av., to a $900 safecracking March 9 in the Pere Marquette restaurant, 6258 S. Western av. Police quoted them as saying they spent the money for a "good time."

U. S. TOLD ARABIA OIL LINE WOULD KEEP NAVY BUSY

Should President Roosevelt and Petroleum Administrator Ickes succeed in building a 150 million dollar pipe line for oil in Saudi Arabia, the United States ever after will have to worry about how to protect and hold it against possible aggression, Henry J. Taylor, war correspondent, said yesterday.

Taylor, economist, journalist, lecturer and author, who since leaving Berlin, Germany, in 1939, has covered the war in Africa, Palestine, Syria, Turkey, and Europe, spoke before the Rotary club of Chicago in Hotel Sherman.

"Once the line is built," he said, "the first worry is protection. This involves continual naval action and calls for constant joint support from our current allies. The Saudi Arabian oil fields just don't represent a long time reserve unless we have long time protection for them."

The oil industry has asked the dissolution of the Petroleum Reserve Corp., thru which Roosevelt and Ickes would build the line.

ALLIES ABOLISH FASCIST SYSTEM IN NAPLES AREA

NAPLES, Italy, March 14 (AP).—The fascist system of government for towns and provinces was abolished thruout the Naples area of southern Italy today by the allied control commission, following within 24 hours announcement of Russia's recognition of Marshal Badoglio's government.

Instead of a Fascist appointed mayor, towns will be governed by a council of aldermen. A president and provincial deputation will govern the provinces. These officials will be appointed by a provincial prefect, it was announced, "until the military and political situation clarifies sufficiently to permit popular elections."

Former Fascists Barred.

The allied order specifically excludes all former Fascist party office holders from taking posts, and all appointments are subject to allied commission approval.

It was felt here that the soviets' recognition of Badoglio's government gave his regime considerable added strength and established King Victor Emmanuel more firmly on the throne. Italian communist leaders, however, said they would continue to oppose both the king and Badoglio.

[A London dispatch said Andrei J. Vishinsky, soviet member of the interallied advisory council on Italian affairs, was expected to be named the Russian ambassador. Should Britain also grant recognition, the dispatch added, Noel Charles, who until recently was ambassador to Brazil and who was minister to Rome before the war, is expected to be named ambassador.]

Hull Expects New Moves.

Washington, D. C., March 14 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull said today that Moscow's decision to exchange ambassadors with the Badoglio government in Italy is "one of the kind of things that probably will be occurring everywhere in Europe as the war goes on."

He told a news conference that he had some information on the subject but did not care to go into it. A reporter asked whether the United States also would exchange ambassadors with Premier Badoglio's regime. Hull replied that the government hadn't come to that question yet.

ALLIED FORCES STAGE BIGGEST MANEUVERS IN PALESTINE VALLEY

JERUSALEM, Palestine, March 14 (AP).—British forces in the middle east are engaged in the largest maneuvers staged in the area since the war began. Training in mountain warfare is being stressed in the maneuvers in the Jordan valley, near the Palestine-Transjordan frontier.

In addition to British troops, thousands of Indian, Greek, Jugo-Slav, and Arab troops are participating.

[The German controled Vichy radio said the Turkish-Syrian border had been closed because of maneuvers. There was no official confirmation of this.]

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails—your food may remain undigested—lie sour and heavy in your digestive tract.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's aid digestion after Nature's own order, when taken as directed. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—at any drugstore—only 25¢. You will be glad you did.

YANK BOMBERS DROP 210 TONS ON GUINEA BASE

MacArthur Planes Down 31 Jap Aircraft.

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 15 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The allied air force downed 31 enemy planes for certain and destroyed a three ship convoy, a number of small craft and barges in widespread attacks on Japanese targets from Hollandia, New Guinea, to Rabaul in a 48 hour period ending on Tuesday. Gen. MacArthur announced the actions today.

Speedy navy patrol torpedo boats increased the plane total to 33. One downed a floatplane off New Ireland and another repeated the feat off the south coast of New Britain.

Bomb Wewak Base.

Fifth air force bombers delivered a heavy attack Sunday on Wewak, enemy air and supply base on New Guinea, downing 18 interceptors for a loss of two raiders. Tuesday more than 100 escorted American bombers hit Wewak with 210 tons of bombs and shot down eight of between 25 and 30 intercepting fighters. Fires were started by the explosions in building and supply areas.

Sunday, escorted Mitchell and Liberator bombers maintained the aerial campaign to wipe out Rabaul—a campaign from Solomons bases. In the assault, 121 tons hit Rabaul township, the waterfront, and the Rapopo airdrome area. Three harbor craft were set afire. For the first time in several days, air interception was encountered. At least five and probably six of the interceptors were downed. Two raiding planes were lost.

Land on New Britain.

Approximately 170 miles from Rabaul on the New Britain north coast, marines landed just west of Talasea at Linga Linga and wiped out enemy stragglers. The Americans already hold Talasea, which is on Willaumez peninsula.

In the Admiralty Islands, cavalry units which landed Sunday off the coast of Japanese held Manus on the islets of Hauwei and Butjo Luo completed the occupation Monday. The invaders demolished enemy batteries which had been firing at the American positions around Momote airdrome on captured Los Negros Island.

The action against the Hollandia convoy by a single Catalina flying boat took place Monday morning. Two of the three ships were sunk and a third was forced aground on a reef.

Repulse Three Attacks.

GUADALCANAL, Solomon Islands, March 15 [Wednesday]—(AP).—At a cost of 96 American lives, more than 1,000 Japanese have been killed during a five day flareup of fighting on Bougainville, in the northern Solomons.

Headquarters, releasing reports thru Sunday, said today that troops of the 37th division still were in contact with the enemy after repulsing three major ground attacks which started Saturday night and continued into the next morning. The enemy has been attacking in the Bougainville sector since March 8.

Raid 7 Jap Islands.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, March 14 (AP).—Army, navy, and marine aircraft, which have been blasting central Pacific Japanese bases almost daily, bombed seven enemy held islands in the eastern Marshalls and Carolines, Adm. Nimitz reported today.

All attackers returned from six raids on the Marshall Islands, an attack on Kusaie, easternmost guardian of Truk in the Caroline Islands, and an air battle with Japanese fighters near Ponape, another outpost of Truk.

CONTEST ARMY RULE IN HAWAII; ACTION IS FILED

HONOLULU, T. H., March 14 (AP).—A habeas corpus action challenging the existence of martial law in Hawaii was filed in federal court today. Atty. Garner Anthony, former territorial attorney general, took the action in behalf of Lloyd C. Duncan, a Pearl Harbor worker serving a six month jail sentence for assault and battery.

Duncan was sentenced on March 2 by the Pearl Harbor provost court. Anthony's petition contended this deprived Duncan of his constitutional rights because "a state of martial law does not lawfully exist within the territory."

In an earlier habeas corpus case last October, involving Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, commanding army forces in the central Pacific area, Federal Judge Delbert E. Metzger held that martial law no longer was in effect because it was not mentioned in a proclamation relaxing previous restrictions. Judge Metzger cited Gen. Richardson for contempt for refusing to recognize a civil court habeas corpus writ.

Poletti Laughs Off Tale of Attempts on His Life

NAPLES, Italy, March 14 (AP).—Lt. Col. Charles Poletti, former governor of New York, laughed today when informed of a report that four attempts had been made on his life in Italy. "The report is absolutely false," he said. Col. Poletti is with the allied military government [AMG] commission in Naples.

BRITISH ATTACK JAPS; FORM NEW FRONT IN BURMA

NEW DELHI, India, March 14 (AP).—Another new front in north Burma exploded in the faces of the Japanese today when British columns crossed the Chindwin river above Tamanthi, 110 miles southwest of the Maingkwan-Walawbum front where Chinese-American forces are mopping up in the Hukawng valley.

The British reported the Chindwin crossing, made about 40 miles east of the Assam border, was much easier than similar action last year when Maj. Gen. Orde Charles Wingate led his raiders into the Burma jungles. The southeastern Asia command today reported the columns were "well advanced" eastward after crossing the Chindwin.

The southeast Asia command reported British troops progressed eastward along the Maungdaw-Buthedaung road east of the Arakan front.

DR. 'BLUEBEARD' BELIEVED PARIS DRUG PEDDLER

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—Dr. Marcel Pietot, accused of the "Bluebeard" butchery of 27 women whose remains were found in the cellar of his home on the fashionable Rue Leseur in Paris, is believed to have been a narcotics trafficker who slew incriminating witnesses, the Nazi propaganda agency Transocean said tonight in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press.

The Paris press quoted a tailor who said his missing wife, a drug addict, was to appear as a witness against the doctor in a narcotics case two years ago. When the tailor accused Dr. Pietot of knowledge of her disappearance the doctor evaded an answer.

The Paris press said police had arrested the doctor's wife, but that the doctor had escaped. Earlier dispatched from Madrid had reported that Dr. Pietot, his wife, and their 17 year old son had escaped.

HELP YOUR COMMUNITY DRIVES
..and You Help America

In Colonial days when a family faced misfortune, kindly neighbors set up a melting pot before the door. The community was quick to contribute, because lean and perilous years taught our forefathers that only by helping one another could all survive and earn security in a land of growing opportunities.

Today, when this hard-won security is in jeopardy, our country and many of its citizens need a helping hand. The Red Cross, the War Chest, the scrap and salvage drives and other calls on each community are realistic reminders of the pioneer spirit that bound our nation together . . . that gave us the highest standard of living the world has ever known. When we help our neighbors we help our country.

In every community, Budweiser is known as the Perfect Host to a host of friends. To serve your neighbors beer is simple hospitality, but to serve them Budweiser is a gracious compliment . . . and, it makes your simple wartime meals taste better.

In addition to supplying the armed forces with glider and bomber fuselage frames, wing parts, gun turret parts and foodstuffs, Anheuser-Busch produces materials which go into the manufacture of: Rubber • Aluminum • Munitions • Medicines • B Complex Vitamins • Hospital Diets • Baby Foods • Bread and other Bakery products • Vitamin-fortified cattle feeds • Batteries • Paper Soap and textiles—to name a few.

TANK AND HAND GRENADES TAKE A JUNGLE FORT

Yanks Riddle Los Negros Mission Hut.

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PAPITALAI MISSION, Los Negros, Admiralty Islands, March 7 [Delayed].—Twenty cavalry men and a Texas lieutenant this afternoon captured this pre-war mission, which the Japs had turned into a barracks.

Each American had to do the work of six. Six amphibious tanks, each loaded with 20 men and an officer, left a beach below Salami plantation, but five of them ran afoul of shoals. Because the Japs occupied the cape on which this mission was located and harassed shipping coming into Seeadler harbor, the lieutenant in the sixth amphibious tank refused to turn back.

Tank Crawls Onto Beach.

All alone, this tank churned across the 400 yard strip of water to the mission point. With rocket and machine guns blazing, the tank crawled on to the beach. The lieutenant and his men dismounted.

A sergeant plunged into the thick woods. A Jap sharpshooter's rifle cracked. The lieutenant went to get the sergeant, but the sharpshooter shot him thru the left arm. The lieutenant continued, reached the sergeant, and found him dead. He picked up his body and started back to shore, when the Jap again hit him in the shoulder. Nevertheless the lieutenant reached the beach.

There a group of Japs tried to wipe out the small landing force. After the cavalry men had killed 14 of the enemy the attackers retreated.

Leads Men to Hut.

With his arm hanging limp, the lieutenant led his men down a trail to a native hut which had served as the mission house. Around it the Japs had built a barricade. The lieutenant ordered an attack. While part of the patrol kept the Japs down with tommy gun fire, the rest advanced thru the underbush and hurled grenades into the hut.

Three cavalry men fell wounded one mortally.

The patrol rushed the barricade and poured bullets into the jungle fortress. No Jap fire answered. Taking the hut, the patrol found 27 Japs, all dead, bringing the patrol's toll to 41.

The battles near the beach and at the mission took two hours. While the patrol was burying the Japs, cavalry reënforcements ferried to the cape in rubber boats arrived. Papitalia mission point was ours. Only then did the lieutenant consent to be evacuated.

THE QUESTION.

How did you get started on a musical career? [Asked of Lawrence Welk's band.]

WHERE ASKED.

The Trianon ballroom.

THE ANSWERS.

Lawrence Welk, 1311 Ashland av., River Forest—For two whole years I begged my parents to buy me an accordion because I liked the one I heard on our radio at home on the farm. After I had it for only a few days I was playing real music. After I played at a high school dance, I decided that was the work for me.

Bobby Beers, 1547 E. 67th pl.—Originally I concentrated all of my energies on being a tap dancer. Then, when I was asked both to sing and to dance, I discovered I had a voice. After I sang over the radio in a home talent contest I had an opportunity to perform in a large night club.

Jayne Walton, 6125 Kenwood av.—With a musical family behind me, I had a reputation to live up to. I started at the age of 3. Later I was encouraged by winning an amateur contest. The prize was $100 and the honor of performing in a theater for one week. I've been singing ever since.

Holly Swanson, 10935 State st.—My musical career began in the Salvation army. After I got out of high school I heard of a small dance band that wanted a bass horn player, so one Saturday night I bought a bass horn and told every one that's what I'd been playing. The next day I was hired.

Terry George, 6146 Kenwood av.—Like any other boy, I wanted to be where my father was, and I thought my dad had an adventurous life because he traveled as a band director. He said I could go with him if I'd learn to play an instrument. That was why I worked at it until I came thru.

Ozzie Clark, 2002 20th av., Broadview—The saxaphone had always been one of my favorite instruments, so I learned to play it. One night the director of the local dance band asked me to substitute for one of his players. He offered me a job. I thought that would be an easy way to make a living, but I was wrong.

20 JAPS IN BAG, CHICAGO ACE ON WAY BACK HOME

BY LT. WM. KERMIT HOLT.
[Chicago Tribune reporter on leave as marine combat correspondent.]

BOUGAINVILLE, Solomon Islands [Delayed].—The marine fighter pilot eased his Corsair warplane down to a graceful landing and climbed out of the cockpit. He grinned and held up one finger. The ground crew cheered. Capt. Donald N. Aldrich, 26, a Chicagoan, had shot down his 20th plane and was going home. He had served his time in the combat zone.

[Capt. Aldrich's wife received word from her husband yesterday that he would arrive home today on leave.]

Don Aldrich is a flyer's flyer. His wingmen worship him. The men he has flown with for a year and a half crowd around his bunk at night and talk tactics. Don has a keen, analytical mind. He is smart—quick on the mental trigger. He is stern when one of his men break the flying rules.

Aldrich shot down each of his 20 Jap planes more than 200 miles from the nearest friendly airstrip while protecting bombers.

He is no lone wolf. He sticks with the bombers and only blasts away at enemies who venture near.

Aldrich Born in Moline.

It is a dangerous job, but Aldrich revels in it. His plane has been sieved by bullets seven times. Two of his planes were tossed on the junkpile, damaged beyond repair. Twice he was wounded. But he stuck with the bombers.

Aldrich was born in Moline, Ill., but his family moved to Chicago when he was 1½.

His father, Lyell, a mechanical engineer, was a private pilot. He took Don aloft every few days in his Waco. By the time Don was 12 years old, he had almost 100 hours in the air. However, flying wasn't his only interest then. He liked football and won his letter at Fenger High school in Chicago.

Joins Canadian Air Force.

After his father died in 1933, a year before Don finished Fenger, he enrolled at the Armour Institute of Technology to study engineering, but gave it up after two years. He still wanted to fly. While working in the office of the Visking corporation, sausage casing manufacturers, he took flying lessons and then tried to enlist in the army air corps. However, he had married recently and the air force then did not accept married men. Se he went to Canada in February, 1941, and won his R. C. A. F. wings in November. When the American air force ban against marriage was lifted, Aldrich entered in the marine corps in October, 1944.

Four months later he went overseas and served at Midway and the Hawaiian Islands before his squadron, the Fighting Corsairs, headed south to battle the Japs in the Solomons. During his first six weeks in the combat zone he became an ace and won the distinguished flying cross after shooting down his first Zero Aug. 12. The citation awarding him the D. F. C. said:

"On Aug. 26, during a battle with enemy fighters, he was painfully wounded and his plane was seriously damaged, but he remained with his formation and assisted in driving off the attacking planes, shooting down one Zero.

Gets Four Japs in One Battle.

"On another bomber strike, Sept. 2, with only the guns in one wing operating, he assisted in turning back a superior number of enemy planes, shooting two of them down in flames."

The 180 pound six footer on Jan. 28, shot down four planes in a single scrap, after which ground crewmen counted 105 bullet holes in his Corsair.

Right now he's anxious to hurry home and see his wife, Marjorie, who lives at 1408 E. Marquette rd., and his mother, Mrs. Mary Aldrich, 6226 Ingleside av., Chicago.

300 TRUCKS NEED REPAIRS; ARMY LACKS WORKERS

Nearly 300 army trucks have overflowed parking facilities at 19th and Dearborn sts., awaiting attention of the undermanned shops of the Chicago ordnance service command, Col. W. J. Corr, commanding officer, said yesterday in emphasizing the need for an additional 100 mechanics. At least 150 of the trucks came to Chicago last week from other service commands. They are being handled by the shops as rapidly as the personnel of 200 men will permit, Col. Corr said. The trucks are under guard.

CHICAGO YANKS IN SUPPLY UNIT AWAIT INVASION

They've Got What It Takes to Keep War Moving.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN AMERICAN INVASION TRAINING BASE IN ENGLAND, March 14.—There isn't much glamor in turning a lathe, stripping down a heavy truck, repairing a ponderous axle, or renovating damaged rifles and machine guns. But any one who has covered the front knows clearly the importance of these jobs of the particular ordnance company which reached this general service of supply depot recently.

Getting adjusted to Britain, their new quarters, and their new shops, they expect, when invasion time comes, to move onto the continent behind the fighters to keep supply trucks fit for duty, and to repair small arms damaged in combat.

Many from Chicago.

Conversation disclosed that a large portion of the men comes from Chicago, where they were inducted about a year ago. Almost all had peace time jobs similar to those they now are performing. Here are some of these men and some of their comments:

Sgt. J. Valenzio, 3007 Princeton av., Chicago; Pvt. James E. Lannon, 4513 N. Ashland av., "Every one over here just thinks Chicago is 'bang-bang';" Corp. James A. Carroll, 721 S. Harry L. Speth of Milwaukee, Wis.; Sgt. Jack Gleixner of Milwaukee.

"I have a sorta personal interest in the war," said Schmidt. "I was in the Maywood tank battalion until three months before it was mobilized. Most of my friends in it were killed or captured, perhaps on Bataan."

Uneventful Crossing.

Sgt. Karl Kiso, 2110 Seminary av., Chicago; Sgt. Peter Schaeffer, 910 Fletcher st.; Pvt. Ted Pienies, 5316 S. Tripp av.; Pvt. Herman Newberry, 32 W. Main st., Pvt. The company had an uneventful crossing—except for seasickness. The men have received mail from home and now are looking forward to the invasion.

POWER OF LAVAL REPORTED CUT IN REVISED CABINET

Madrid Hears Nazis O.K. 5 Man Rule.

MADRID, Spain, March 14 (AP).—Pierre Laval, French chief of government, has been left outside in the latest German-sponsored reshuffle of Vichy forces, border reports said today.

According to these advices, a five man directorate of collaborationists will take over the French government under a new agreement.

In the new cabinet, Laval will remain as foreign minister, but will be subordinated to the directorate, which will operate in direct contact with the Germans.

Seat on Directorate.

Members of this new body were said to include the following:

Jean Luchaire, director of Les Nouveaux Temps of Paris and father of Movie Actress Corine Luchaire, reputedly the intimate friend of Otto Abetz, German ambassador to Paris.

Marcel Deat, director of the Paris daily Lioeuvre and a leading crusader for collaborationist unity who recently was reported to have been named minister of labor in the Vichy government.

Joseph Darnand, World War I. hero and aggressive pro-German leader of his own militia, who recently was named director general of public order.

Doriot Party Represented.

Fernand de Tissot, who represents the collaborationist Parti Populaire Francise of Jacques Doriot.

Georges Guilbaud, former director of the pro-German daily Tunis Journal, now the German sponsored publisher and editor of the Paris Daily Echo de France.

These five were understood to have reached an agreement some weeks ago and to have presented it to the Germans, who approved, but suggested a gradual application of the directorate's program.

The first point was that Laval must confine himself to pacifying Marshal Petain and managing foreign affairs under the general regulations laid down by the Germans thru the directorate. To this the Germans readily agreed.

Seek Rule Thru Militia.

Other points in the program were:

Unification of all collaborationist militia organizations in Vichy France into one single pro-German force which would be placed under Darnand as director of public order. All Paris militia would be included in this organization, which would be extended thru both zones.

Unification of all collaborationist propaganda services with main offices in Vichy and Paris.

A thoro purge of the Vichy civil service, substituting militia members for officials suspected of pro-allied leanings.

Complete collaboration with the Germans.

DUBLIN GLOOMY OVER CHURCHILL ISOLATION EDICT

'This Means Blockade,' Irish Agree.

DUBLIN, Ireland, March 14 (AP).—Gloom was cast upon Dublin today by Prime Minister Churchill's declaration of a policy "to isolate southern Ireland." Officially the government of Ireland, from Prime Minister Eamon de Valera to members of opposition factions solidly supporting him on the neutrality issue, were silent. Unofficially all sides said: "This means blockade."

And, remembering the economic blockade of 1932-38 imposed on Ireland by Britain, the Irish, while maintaining their right to harbor German and Japanese representatives despite allied objections, looked ahead to lean days. The stoppage of coal alone would virtually paralyze Ireland's industry.

Acts to Safeguard Forces.

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill announced in the house of commons today that the allies intend to "isolate southern Ireland from the outer world during the critical period which is now approaching. "He said the virtual suspension of travel into Ireland announced Sunday was only the first step in the carrying out of this policy.

The next steps were not disclosed. However, Churchill's grave declaration, defining the Irish problem as being entirely one of security for Gen. Eisenhower's troops and plans, implied an extension of restrictions to the border between Northern and southern Ireland and perhaps even a semi-blockade of Ireland.

Dangers to Allies Cited.

"We have for some time past taken a number of measures to minimize the dangers arising from the substantial disservice to the allied cause involved in the retention by Mr. De Valera's government of the German minister and the Japanese consul, with their staffs, in Dublin," Churchill said.

"The time has now come when these measures must be strengthened, and the restrictions on travel to Ireland announced in the press yesterday are the first step in a policy designed to isolate Great Britain from southern Ireland and also to isolate southern Ireland from the outer world during the critical period which is now approaching.

"In view of the fact that both British and British dominion lives and the lives of the soldiers of our allies are imperiled, we are bound to do our utmost to obtain effective security for the forthcoming operations."

First Move by U. S.

Churchill noted that "the initiative in this matter was taken by the United States because of the danger to American forces from the presence of axis missions in Dublin.

"There is also the future to consider," he added. "If a catastrophe were to occur to the allied armies which could be traced to the retention of the German and Japanese representatives in Dublin, a gulf would be opened between Great Britain on the one hand and southern Ireland on the other which even generations would not overcome.

"The British government would also be held accountable to the people of the United States."

NEW DEFERMENT POLICIES.

In the series so far published, we have tried in a very general way to give the basis and related considerations for occupational deferment in war industry and in industries in support of the war. We can now consider recent changes in the occupational deferment which will result in the induction of rather large numbers of men in the next few months who have been deferred heretofore. President Roosevelt, in his message to Gen. Hershey, indicated there was existing a mounting shortage of man power for the services which called for a drastic tightening up in deferment policies thruout the nation.

The first step in this direction was [1] the scheduling for release and induction within the first month of all registrants 18 thru 21, whether a father or not, unless deferment had been approved by a state director on a form 42-A Special and [2] in Illinois and some other states the scheduling for replacement within the first six months of all nonfathers, ages 22 thru 25, unless [a] they are engaged in one of the "critical occupations" listed and defined in local board memorandum 115; [b] they are utilizing the highest skills or professional qualifications; or [c] they have demonstrated capacity for an unusual assignment and [d] there is furnished the state director convincing evidence the registrant is a "necessary man" and cannot be replaced within the first six months. A further requirement is that there must be supporting evidence in the registrant's file indicating the employer has made continuous but unsuccessful effort during the period of deferment to obtain a satisfactory replacement. The same requirements are exacted for continued deferment of nonfathers, ages 26 thru 37. All other factors being equal, generally, fathers aged 22 thru 37 will normally be accorded occupational deferment preference to all nonfathers in the same job classification or occupation.

In a great many instances replacement schedules, after one or more renewals, have in fact become "retention schedules" because employers engaged in war production claim they have released every one they can afford to release and still operate with a reasonable degree of efficiency. The need of the services has now become so critical that national selective service headquarters has stressed the limitation on the use of replacement schedules to activities actually engaged in war production or to those whose relation to the war is so clear that no question can exist regarding their eligibility to file requests for occupational deferments.

This means that the bulk of men to be made available for service must come from men engaged in "activities in support of the war effort," from government employes, and those within war industry who are vulnerable [scheduled for replacement]. Selective service will continue to consider new schedules and renewed schedules from activities engaged in essential transportation and activties producing or contributing to the production of materials, tools, equipment, etc., needed to supply the fighting forces. In considering new schedules, selective service is disposed to limit such consideration to employers in war production having 20 or more vulnerable men, except in cases such as tool and die shops, pattern shops, and other small shops which are actually engaged in producing parts for war machines, ammunition, etc.

CITE U. S. FLYERS FOR AIR RESCUE OVER GERMANY

LONDON, March 14 (AP).—Forty-four American Thunderbolt fighter plane who disregarded their dwindling fuel supply and returned to help Liberator bombers fight off an enemy attack after a recent raid on Ludwigshafen in western Germany were commended today for their gallantry and skill by five generals and the colonel whose Liberators were involved.

The announcement by United States army headquarters was the first official disclosure that American bombers ever had bombed Ludwigshafen. Apparently it was among the multiple targets in last month's widespread assaults, some of which never were announced. The Thunderbolts' fuel was running low and escort pilots had started for home when they heard a call for help from the bombers.

"Every pilot responded and fought [enemy fighter planes] long after his fuel had passed the critical stage," said the official announcement. "So effective was the group's counter-attack that it destroyed three enemy fighters and drove off the others without loss."

Lt. Col. Ben Rimerman, Omaha, Neb., the fighters' tactical commander, and the following were among those cited for action beyond the call of duty:

Captains Charles W. Dinse, Park Ridge, Ill.; Frederick H. Lefebre, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Thomas J. Forkin, Detroit, Mich.

Lieutenants George N. Ashles, Evansville, Ind.; Vernon A. Leatherman, Muskegon, Mich.; Glenn G. Callans, Thebes, Ill.; William F. Streit, Pocahontas, Ia.; William T. Thistlewaite, Richmond, Ind.; Roland McKees, Mulberry Grove, Ill.

David C. Kenney, Crystal Falls, Mich.; Jesse W. Gonnam, Verona, Ill.; Robert P. Guertz, 2475 N. 50th st., Milwaukee, Wis.; William R. Burkett, Jefferson, Ia.

AGED ABORTION SUSPECT DEAD IN SUICIDE PACT

Ludwig Huch, 81, a retired baker, was found lying dead yesterday beside the unconscious form of his wife, Ida, 64, in their gas-filled apartment at 3322 N. Bell av., in what appeared to be a suicide pact entered into when the elderly couple realized they were suspected by police of operating an abortion ring.

The death was discovered by Detectives William Eisenberg and Abner Bender of the Damen av. station when the policemen went to the apartment to question the couple about a charge made by Mrs. Ruth Karlson of 735 Mulford st., Evanston, who is now in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, in a serious condition from an abortion.

The firemen worked over Mrs. Huch for nearly an hour and a half before she revived sufficiently to be removed to Martha Washington hospital.

Police said Mrs. Karlson, whose husband, John, is in the marine corps, entered the hospital Sunday and was persuaded to tell where the operation took place. They reported she named Mrs. Huch and said the operation had taken place in Mrs. Huch's apartment March 6.

GENERAL HEADS NEW CHINA ARMY MISSION TO U.S.

CHUNGKING, China, March 14 (AP).—Gen. Shang Cheng, 60, director of the foreign affairs bureau of the National Military council, has been appointed to head a new Chinese military mission to the United States, it was disclosed today. Shang is one of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's closest associates and accompanied him to Cairo for his meeting with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

Gen. Shang Cheng.

COURT ANNULS MARRIAGE THAT NEVER WAS HELD

A marriage that never took place was annulled yesterday, apparently for the sake of the record, by Judge John A. Sbarbaro of Superior court.

Principals were Joseph T. Craven, 44, of 6912 S. Carpenter st., a war worker, and a woman who identified herself as Mrs. Anna Coughlin Craven, 43, of 2720 Congress st. She is married to another man, but refused to give his name.

Evidence submitted by Atty. John Cusack showed that on July 1, 1922, after getting a marriage license, she and Craven went to St. Francis Assisi church rectory, Roosevelt rd. and Newberry av., to be married. The Rev. Charles H. Epstein docketed their names on the marriage records, but said a pre-marriage visit must be made to the church, across the street, for blessings.

The two left, but never returned.

INSURANCE MAN MURDERED; BODY FOUND IN DITCH

Police Blame Robbers; Collections Gone.

The bullet pierced body of Karl Braband, 39, of 3807 Grove av., Berwyn, a south side insurance company collector, was found yesterday morning in a ditch along 104th st. in Palos Park. He had been killed by two bullets, one entering his heart, the other his abdomen.

A police theory that the victim had been linked with the trunk murder of James De Angelo collapsed when identification was made by two of the dead man's brothers, Robert, 3307 Archer av., and Herbert, 3529 S. Wolcott av. The body bore no marks of identification when found and police at first believed the victim might have been Onofrio Vitale, 50, a close friend of De Angelo. Vitale has been missing since Feb. 25, and the object of a police search.

Held a Victim of Robbers.

Braband apparently was the victim of robbers, police said. He had been stripped of his watch and overcoat, and his pockets were turned inside out. His collections, believed to have been about $100, were missing.

The collector's automobile, stripped of three tires, had been found at 7 p. m. Monday, abandoned at 35th st. and South Park way. His wife, Sylvia, 26, said she had last heard from him at noon Monday. She was prostrated when informed of his death. Her father, Anton Roit, 59, who resided with the couple, had died at 7:30 a. m. yesterday in Berwyn hospital.

Lying Face Down in Ditch.

Braband's body was discovered lying face down in the ditch by Harry Courshene, a radio engineer for station WLS, on his way to work at a transmitting station in Tinley Park. He notified state highway police.

On Aug. 17, 1943, Braband was robbed of $40 in a hallway holdup by three Negroes, two of whom received 1 to 20 year prison sentences after Braband testified against them. They were Robert Gillespie, 18, 3543 Prairie av., and Wilson Powell, 18, 3545 Prairie av. The third member of the trio, Moses Sands, 16, of 3553 Prairie av., was put on six months' probation.

Boy Wounded Seriously as Uncle Examines Gun

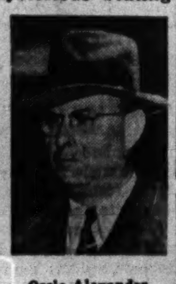
William Lyons, 14, of 2639 W. 18th st., was wounded seriously last night when a revolver was discharged while his uncle, John Hammitt, 55, of the same address, was examining it. The bullet hit the boy in the chest.

The Neighbors By George Clark

"The buses are awfully crowded at this hour. Mrs. Brown. Maybe you'd like me to ride you downtown on my handlebars."

KIN OF SKIDMORE BEATEN, KICKED BY 2 NEAR HOME

Albany Park police yesterday were investigating a mysterious beating suffered by Orrie Alexander, 52, a brother-in-law of the late William R. Skidmore, gambling and political figure. Alexander was assaulted by two or three men near his home at 4020 Patterson av. while on his way to the Skidmore junk yards at 2840 S. Kedzie av., where he is manager.



Orrie Alexander.

Alexander told Detectives William Hugaro and Chester Dejeski that he had left his home yesterday morning and had walked a few steps when two men got out of a sedan, driven by a third, and stopped him. One of them, he said, began beating him about the legs and body with a rubber hose, while the other pummeled him with his fists.

He said that he tried to fight them off, but that they knocked him to the pavement and kicked him.

Capt. Frank Gill was told that Alexander was reluctant to talk about the attack. The victim said he never saw his assailants before and could give no motive for the assault. He added that he believed it was a case of mistaken identity.

HUBBY DIVORCED; HIS PAL TOLD A BEDTIME STORY

New York, March 14 [Special].—Jessie Royce Landis, star of the Broadway hit, "Kiss and Tell," won a divorce today from Lt. Col. Rex Smith, former newspaper editor, on testimony by Playwright Charles MacArthur, now an army major, that Smith was twice unfaithful to her.

MacArthur, husband of Actress Helen Hayes, described one romantic episode in Smith's life in Alexandria, Va., and another in faraway Calcutta, India, where the two men went last fall as members of an army mission. His testimony, it was revealed, was given Feb. 16 before Referee Peter J. Schmuck, who recommended that a divorce be granted. Supreme Court Justice John E. McGeehan awarded Miss Landis an interlocutory decree.

Tells of "Young Lady."

MacArthur said he called at Smith's home in Alexandria on a Sunday noon last August for the purpose of discussing the forthcoming journey to India and made the mistake of entering Smith's bedroom without waiting for his knock to be answered. Smith was there with "a young lady," MacArthur said, and she wasn't Miss Landis.

A month later in Calcutta, MacArthur said, Smith brought "a girl with a British accent" to their suite at the Great Eastern hotel at 2 a. m.

Retreats from Bedroom.

MacArthur said he was asleep in the bedroom of the suite and that Smith roused him and asked him to finish his sleep in the sitting room. He yielded the bedroom to his superior officer and the girl, he testified, adding that he saw them the next morning when they emerged for breakfast, the girl wearing a bathrobe.

Smith was at one time managing editor of News Week magazine and once wrote a play entitled "Down with Women." He and Miss Landis were married seven years ago in New Haven, Conn.

ATTORNEYS ACT TO GET EVIDENCE FOR TARNOWSKY

Judge Robert J. Dunne of the Circuit court yesterday granted permission to Attys. Joseph H. and Norman Becker to take depositions in New York City in the divorce suit of their client, Capt. Alexis de Tarnowsky, against Mrs. Alice Rand de Tarnowsky McIntosh, Barrington heiress.

The witnesses from whom depositions will be sought were named as E. H. Bush, R. McKenny, A. Joyce, H. Teichner, W. Cooney, and R. Merritt. The Beckers said that the primary purpose was to accumulate evidence to win custody of the three de Tarnowsky children for the captain, who is now overseas.

Capt. de Tarnowsky charged Mrs. McIntosh with adultery, starting last July 11. She was the companion of Charles McIntosh on a cross-country trip. In November Mrs. de Tarnowsky obtained a Mexican divorce from Capt. de Tarnowsky and was married to McIntosh. McIntosh is now in the rehabilitation center at Fort Sheridan working to wipe out a seven year sentence and dishonorable discharge.

ROBBER BEATS HOTEL OWNER.

Peter Katalos, 49, owner of the Ohio hotel, 69 W. Ohio st., was severely beaten yesterday by a gunman wearing an army officer's uniform and a black raincoat, who robbed him of $25 in the hotel men's room. The gunman lost his cap as he hammered Katalos with a revolver.

KINGS AND COMMUNISTS.

Peter, the young king in exile in Jugo-Slavia, has arrived in London to attempt to save his throne. Peter is an exile instead of a puppet monarch because his guardians, relying upon the assurances of our roving ambassador, Col. Donovan, among others, rejected the Nazi ultimatum of 1941 to let the German army occupy the country.

Whatever sense of obligation Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill feel toward Peter because of these circumstances has been less binding upon them than Stalin's pressure. Peter has been sidetracked in favor of the Communist Marshal Tito, who heads a guerilla government within Jugo-Slavia. The best bargain offered Peter to date is that he yield his royal powers to Tito for the war period, in exchange for the somewhat doubtful assurance that a post-war plebiscite will determine whether he be allowed to return as ruler.

Mr. Churchill's recent indorsement of the king of Italy and Marshal Badoglio resulted in a demonstration against the royal government in Naples, in which Communists took a leading part. Victor Emmanuel's case is somewhat different from Peter's. He was a beaten enemy when he surrendered. It was obviously good policy for Gen. Eisenhower to deal with him and Marshal Badoglio when it was apparent that any rule in Italy was better than the chaos of no rule. Victor and Badoglio, however, were never able to make good on their promises except for the surrender of the Italian fleet, which was by no means unimportant. In a military way they had been as ineffective allies as they were enemies, and between lack of Italian aid and disappointing military leadership we are still a long way from Rome.

It is not and should not be the purpose of the American soldiers who are laying down their lives in European battlefields to make their sacrifices for the perpetuation of monarchies. By the same token we are not sending troops to die in Europe in order to spread communism over that continent.

Our primary interest in any European government at this moment is military. If it is the agency which will give us the greatest assistance possible under the circumstances in winning the war, we are for it. If another can be found which will help us more, we are for the substitute. We have no obligations to governments. Such obligations as we do have are to the people of the occupied countries.

It is not for us to tell them how they should be governed after the war. That would be contrary to our national principles, in the first place, and in the second it would be futile to tell European peoples who their rulers are to be unless we intended, as we certainly do not, to keep American garrisons in their countries to support those rulers.

Our obligations to the people of Europe as they are liberated can best be discharged by arranging free and honest plebiscites in which they can choose their own forms of government. Other than that we have no responsibility, but our responsibility does extend that far. Governments in exile should not regard the sycophancy that they meet in the White House as a guarantee that they are to follow on the heels of American invasion forces. It is not for our generals to reintroduce their old rulers to the people of the Netherlands or Norway. It is first for the people to say that they want them back.

That they may say so is, of course, possible. The Norwegians wanted a republic and not a king in 1905, when their will was frustrated by Edward VII. of England, but the intervening years may have reconciled them to Haakon and his family. The Dutch nation was greatest as a republic, which faltered in the 18th century, was extinguished by Napoleon, and replaced by a monarchy imposed by the sovereigns of Europe upon his fall. After a century and a quarter as subjects, the Dutch may want to remain so. If they do, that is their business. Our obligation is confined to seeing that they have the opportunity to exercise their option freely.

WHO GETS THE JOB?

Hervie Bradley was hired by the Humble Oil company in April, 1942, as a temporary employe to take the place of a man who had gone into the army. At the time the CIO and an independent union were engaged in a bitter struggle to sign up a majority of the employes of the plant so as to become the bargaining agency for all of the employes.

Hervie's boss or "gang-pusher" didn't like the CIO and made no bones about it. He intimated that those who belonged to that union needn't come around to him and bellyache because they were not given transfers as better jobs opened up. This talk didn't scare Hervie any, and one day he appeared at work wearing a CIO button. From that time on his superior, who previously had said nice things about his work, criticized him, sometimes profanely. The gang-pusher said that as soon as Hervie joined the union he shirked his duties and required too much supervision. And besides, he was caught eating when it wasn't meal time.

Hervie was fired and the union took the matter up with the national labor relations board. Next he was drafted. The board decided that his discharge was a violation of the labor relations act. Usually in such cases the employer is ordered to give the man his job back and make good his loss of pay. But Hervie was only a temporary employe. And anyhow he couldn't go back to work because the army had him. When the war was over the regular employe would be back to claim his job. Would Hervie have a superior claim because he had taken the matter up with the NLRB?

The board decided that the employer should pay Hervie from the day he was discharged to the day he was drafted. The board also ordered the company to place him upon a preferential hiring list. But his right to a job was subordinate. Permanent employes back from the war were entitled to first shot at the jobs. Next came temporary employes who outranked him in seniority. And then came Hervie. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, in confirming the NLRB order, discussed and specifically approved of the NLRB reasoning about the rights soldiers will have to jobs when they return to civilian life.

Every decent employer will want to take back every man who left his job for the army or navy, but that will not be possible when several in succession who have filled the same job have been drafted. The man who first left a job to enter service comes first, and all other claims are subordinate. Controversies after the war can be avoided if it is made clear that the war time incumbent of a soldier's job has only a temporary status.

It is, however, possible to exaggerate the conflicts that may arise, for many returning soldiers and sailors won't be content to do the work they did before the war, both because they are more mature and because they will have acquired new skills which can be used to better advantage in other employment.

STALIN DOES IT AGAIN.

Stalin has just accorded diplomatic recognition to the Badoglio government in Italy, and ambassadors are about to be exchanged.

Once again Uncle Joe has allowed his followers abroad to climb to the end of the limb before he sawed it off. Only last Sunday the Italian Communists in Naples were shouting "Down with Badoglio" in the firm belief that they were following the Moscow line. Stalin let them think so for just 24 hours. Then he took Badoglio and the little king to his Georgian bosom.

It must have been a painful experience for the Italian Reds. It must have been almost equally painful for the Commies here and their fellow travelers, but they at least are used to it. They have been screaming imprecations at Badoglio ever since Gen. Eisenhower decided to do business with him. They'll have to change their tack again, as they did after Hitler invaded Russia. Until that moment it was an imperialist war and its slogan was "The Yanks Aren't Coming." At that moment the war became a holy crusade, Churchill sprouted wings, and Mr. Roosevelt found himself once again the favorite of the American Labor party. A moment before he had been a war monger and the party line commanded strikes in munition plants wherever they could be started. A moment later he was the savior of civilization.

With Uncle Joe in the Kremlin, the Commies have to be light on their feet. His Italian followers pretend they knew all along the change was coming. Their presence under red banners on Sunday in Naples doesn't seem to bear them out.

THE TWO GERMANIES.

Prof. James K. Pollock of the University of Michigan has been studying the elections that brought Hitler into power. In the February number of the American Political Science Review he tells where Hitler was strong and where he was weak, as revealed in the last four elections of members of the reichstag, and the two presidential elections in which Hitler was a candidate. The paper is illustrated with a map with various shadings from white, the areas in which Hitler was weakest, to black, where he was strongest.

It is a curious fact, tho he does not mention it, that the map could serve almost equally well to illustrate where the bombing of Germany has been concentrated. With some exceptions, we have hammered hardest at the places where opposition to Hitler was strongest; the areas that have suffered least, by and large, have been those where Hitler was most popular.

Hitler, Prof. Pollock finds, was "weakest in Cologne, in Lower and Upper Bavaria, in Berlin, Westphalia, East and West Dusseldorf, Württemberg, Oppeln, and Coblenz. Midway between the areas of Hitler strength are the Berlin, Leipzig, and Dresden metropolitan areas, where the forces of socialism and communism together outvoted the Nazis. Similarly, the city of Hamburg stands out as a pillar of republican support, surrounded by areas of National Socialist power. The pattern of opposition to Hitler is very clear. The big cities and industrial areas, with few exceptions, did not respond to Hitler's siren song. . . . Industrial populations as a whole were against him and his voting percentages in these areas were comparatively low. Had he depended on urban votes he could not have been the electoral success he was."

In looking forward to the post-war political organization of Germany, Prof. Pollock says it is well to focus our attention on the areas which gave Hitler strong support, for "it is in these areas particularly that we find the kind of German opinion which needs a strong dose of democratic education. Elsewhere in Germany, the Hitlerian cause was not approved and a foundation exists there—notably in south and west Germany and in the big cities—on which a new democracy can be erected."

We hope so.

ECHO DE PARIS.

Midway in the 1890s, when American women of fashion were secretly reading the suggestive novels of Paul de Kock, a gawky young Parisienne became the thrill of the theatrical season. She held the stage alone and in a quiet, innocent way chanted risky little songs about quaint, immoral characters of the Paris streets and bedrooms. Her trademark, in the matter of costume, was a pair of long black gloves which gave emphasis to occasional gestures with a skinny arm. She was Yvette Guilbert, introducing the art of the diseuse or song-talker.

* * *

She died in France a few weeks ago, aged 79, and her "obits" in the American press were few and skimpy. But she had rated columns and pages in the Naughty Nineties and was a household word, for a time, in families where never a word of French was pronounced or read. It was an intellectual fad of that decade to profess understanding of Guilbert's songs and enjoyment of their salacious humor. But since these ditties reeked with double and triple meanings in French slang, most of the Guilbert cultural message was missed. Gros numéro, for instance, would seem like "big number" among America's learned ladies, but in a Guilbert song it would mean a bawdy house.

* * *

Mme. Guilbert's art did not remain long on this level. She became a high degree intellectual—an exponent and teacher of the refinements of stage diction, a scholar in medieval ballads and chants, a muse of Paris art theaters, and the author of three books—two novels and her memoirs. She returned to Chicago in the 1920s and gave, in Orchestra hall, a song recital which was quite monastic in its devotion to the lyrics of the middle ages.

* * *

Sherlock Holmes must have seen Yvette Guilbert, for she often appeared in London music halls when he was relaxing his mighty mind by concert-going with Dr. Watson. Her posters, by Toulouse-Lautrec and Ernest Haskell, have become collectors' items.

UNCLE SAM'S CHILDREN.

Young Jonathan Simeon Travers De Grouse
Was a kind, inoffensive, and shy little mouse.
Tho the 1040 blank he could not understand,
'Twas a job to be done, so he took pen in hand.
He hadn't kept records and he was afraid
To subtract the deductible items he'd paid.
He filled out the schedules as well as he could,
And paid to the government more than he should.

Now, Sylvester Burdell Aloysius McBrat
Was an arrogant, blustering, sly little rat.
The tax phraseology was clear as could be;
He'd complete his return in a jiffy, said he.
But his reckoning didn't agree with his plan,
So he figured, and ciphered, and juggled again.
He labored each night till his eyesight grew dim,
But now Uncle Sam's owing money to him.

Beyond the Horizon.

At the far end of a quiet garden in London stood a spreading tree, behind which the setting sun would cast a glow of rose and yellow. As a small boy I would sit at a desk by my window and look out upon this scene, wondering about the mysterious places that lay beyond the tree where the golden sun was sinking. There was a church not far away, and on a Sabbath evening strains of sacred music would sound above the hush, adding solemnity to its beauty and its mystery. "Peace, perfect peace," the voices sang, "our future all unknown."

I did not know then the quiet and inscrutable ways of destiny. I did not see the beckoning and compelling hand that one day would lift me beyond the treetop to the horizons beyond. I did not know that one day I should see that sun descend behind the towers of New York, or see it silhouette the skyline of Chicago, or tinge the great Sierras with a burning red, or from the beach by Seal Rocks in San Francisco see it dip and be slowly quenched by the vast waters of the Pacific.

But these horizons in the new world I have seen. Seen, too, a sunlit path of rich experiences and deep, enduring friendships. And now, in later years, with boyhood far away, I sit at a window facing east, where I see the sun rise above the tranquil, tree-fringed countryside of Illinois.

And as the sun comes up on that horizon and mounts higher in the heavens, I see it, simultaneously, sinking behind a tree in that far-off garden where a small boy from a window looks wistfully and wonderingly into the future.

STIES AND LOW RESISTANCE.

THE lowly sty is a puzzle. Just why the glands within the eyelids become infected so easily is not understood. We know, however, that the disorder may accompany loss of resistance. Many a patient, convalescing from a long illness, will present the blemishes. A succession of reinfections may be experienced even tho new glasses are ordered, close work prohibited, and better light supplied.

We think of this condition as of two types. One involves certain external glands, while the other affects the internal structures. In the first, which is more common, the lesions occur singly or in clusters. There is marked redness and puffing around the roots of the lashes. Later a tiny yellow point forms which ruptures, followed by healing. The internal variety is somewhat larger and the area of inflammation may extend widely. Occasionally irritation will start at the outer corner and the swelling become so extensive that the ball will be displaced.

Most of us indulge in many careless habits not the least of which is rubbing the nose and then, with soiled fingers, massaging the lids. Thus staphylococci may be inoculated and become responsible for these infections. Microbes are planted in a favorable region for growth.

Practically every method of treatment employs hot compresses for relief of pain. In addition the "gathering" will be hastened. When the tiny abscess develops, incision will be in order. This will allow the escape of pus and, if hot packs are continued, loose lashes will usually come away.

If the margins of the lid are irritated, ammoniated mercury ointment will be helpful. At the same time, the patient may need systemic support such as additions to the diet. An extra hour or two of rest and sleep will be beneficial. Whenever the lesions have been appearing and disappearing over a period of months, we may look upon the situation as chronic and resort to vaccines. Staphylococcus toxoid seems to be the preparation of choice. Numerous cases which have resisted routine measures have cleared completely under this régime.

Poorly nourished youngsters are decidedly susceptible, altho adults are far from exempt. MacDonald of Toronto reports the history of a 24 year old physician who had encountered one sty a month for more than a year. Staphylococci in profusion were recovered from the lesions. The first injection of toxoid brought on slight pains in the back and the legs. Furthermore, the arm was substantially enlarged. There was no reaction to the second dose. Subsequent to the third, all signs of trouble vanished. When last heard from three years had elapsed with perfect comfort. Apparently the remedy increased well being sharply and was sufficient to rout out a stubborn malady.

All of us should observe at all times good hygiene of the optics. We can avoid touching the parts with soiled digits, thus carrying organisms to the delicate tissues. Now and then a contaminated eyecup will serve as an infecting rather than a cleansing device.

With the individual who complains of chronic, recurring attacks we should hunt for the causative factors of low reserve. Drainage from the teeth, tonsils, or sinuses may be the offender.

ONLY IF TIRING.

Mrs. M. K. writes: My daughter, against my will, is employed as an elevator operator. The gates, which are quite heavy, must be opened with her left hand. I've been wondering if this isn't injurious to her heart.

REPLY.

Little danger to the heart. On the other hand, if she shows signs of fatigue and loses weight, lighter work is advised.

MONGOLOID CHILD.

Mrs. J. N. writes: What is the chief cause of Mongolian idiocy?

REPLY.

No one knows. Such a birth may occur in families where there is no hereditary taint. Evidence is accumulating, however, that advanced age on the part of the mother is a factor. The tendency to Mongolism increases steadily thru the childbearing period—lowest at the beginning; highest at the end.

COLD SPOTS.

C. A. L. writes: Occasionally I have a feeling as tho I had a piece of ice under my left foot. What causes this?

REPLY.

A sympathetic nervous reaction due to disturbed circulation. Changes in the blood channels are responsible.

REPLY.

Sad the remembering maid—
Bright were the stars yestereve.
Now, disillusioned, afraid,
Sad the remembering maid.
Long has she waited and prayed;
Promises? Could she believe?
Sad the remembering maid—
Bright were the stars yestereve.

Give, then, the rose to the maid!
Shared, there is solace in sorrow.
Roses and maidens both fade—
Give, then, the rose to the maid.
Flowers and lass, both betrayed;
Yesterday love . . . but tomorrow?
Give, then, the rose to the maid;
Shared, there is solace in sorrow.

You can spot an Annapolis navy man by his ring, a man in the army air forces by the limp droop of his cap, and a pre-Burbank rose by its thorns. You can also spot an R. A. F. man who fought in the Battle of Britain, if he happens to be in your neighborhood, by the top button on his shirt. He leaves it undone.

Of Mice and Men.

"Some one else observed," began our luncheon companion after quoting Mr. Einstein on the income tax ["What this needs is a philosopher, not a mathematician."], "that the only member of the animal kingdom who knows poverty is man."

"What about the church mouse?"

"That is a disturbing thought," he said. "It has always been the standard for measuring poverty, hasn't it?"

That started the argument of what was a church mouse and who had ever seen one.

An attempt to reach Dr. Maud Slye of the University of Chicago, a lady who presumably has had more direct contact with mice than any other living person, was futile. Miss Slye has dissected 150,000 mice in her time, the first 20 having been mice she caught in a field, and if any one of them was a church mouse, she has not made that finding public.

The next step was one of those answer-yes-or-no surveys popularized and made incredible by the Gallup poll. A select group of clergyman was telephoned and each gentleman was greeted with the innocent statement, "I understand you have mice in your church." This produced indignant denials, some even intimating, by the fluster of their replies, that altho they had no mice in their churches, they had bats in their belfries.

The poll then gravitated to a discriminating circle of laymen. One said loyally that his church was a fine, red brick church and naturally free of mice. Another, more vehement, said promptly: "I haven't seen mice in the church, but I've seen rats in the clergy, some of them wearing collars backwards."

The next move was toward Webster's unabridged. It does not list churchmouse. Nor does Funk & Wagnalls, probably as contrary to the American way of life. Nor does Bartlett's quotations. Consultation of the Oxford unabridged dictionary at last brought success. It boldly defined a churchmouse as a mouse which inhabits a church and said there are churchmice in almost every language, citing the German kirchenmaus as proof.

That settles it. Where do you find church mice? In, languages, not in churches. Nevertheless, this being March 15, you can say of any churchmouse you see, "A churchmouse! Why, that's the rat that's as poor as a man."

Joel Kupperman, the 7 year old Quiz Kid, figured income taxes for three imaginary persons and figured his own at $66. The taxes for the three ghosts are correctly computed, but he slipped on his own. It is $1,500. His parents had refused to tell him how much he earned.

BETTER ITALIAN ART THAN AMERICAN SOLDIERS.

Gary, Ind., March 8.—I read a newspaper article recently about the protest of the Italian people against the allies' destruction of art treasures.

I, too, cherish them for I was born, raised, and educated in Italy, having received several degrees in medicine in its schools. I came to America 41 years ago and am very grateful for all of the advantages this country has given me.

I deeply regret the destruction of any antiques, but one single allied soldier's life means more to me than all of the art treasures in Italy. When the Italians were partners of the Germans, it was all right for them to bomb cathedrals, schools, and hospitals in England, France, and Poland. Women and children were not exempt.

It is not the fault of the allies that the Germans saw fit to entrench themselves in a monastery that was hundreds of years old and snipe at soldiers, killing many of our boys. They figured we were too soft hearted to bomb a monastery.

The Italians are conquered people now and should not feel that they have the right to dictate what should be done and what shouldn't.

Dr. Antonio Giorgi.

NOT A SINGLE LETTER.

Chicago, March 7.—Everywhere you hear "write to the boys, keep up their morale." Most of us don't need to be reminded to write. I know I can't sleep at night if I don't write my son. I feel that's the least I can do.

I received a letter from my boy this morning, from somewhere in the Pacific. He said they had received mail on board, but he didn't get a single letter. Tomorrow is his birthday. He will be 19. I sent his birthday card several weeks ago, and others were sent before that by relatives and friends, along with letters, as I write every day, and he hasn't received any.

There must be some way of saying what I am thinking without going to jail, but I am too angry as yet to know what those words are. M. M.

CURRAN'S DRAFT DODGING.

Black River Falls, Wis., March 9.—Why has Curran of the CIO not been drafted? I have a brother-in-law who has been married 12 years, has two children and is 38 years old, but on March 6 was inducted into the army. He left a defense job and had to go on 24 hours' notice. I am wondering, would President Roosevelt intervene for him and many others who are in the same position? My brother-in-law is no better than any one else when Uncle Sam calls. But I do consider that he is more patriotic than CIO Curran.

A. M. Peterson.

THE FLAG.

Chicago, Ill., March 9.—I have been a regular reader of The Chicago Tribune since October, 1873, and I want to congratulate you on your wonderful improvement in putting the grand old flag on the corner of the front page, which shows your spirit of pure Americanism. Keep up the good fight against New Deal-ism. Abe Lincoln Republican.

WE THOUGHT IT WAS A PAGE BOY.

Evanston, Ill., March 9.—If it is not asking too much, can't something be done about Nina Clock's hairdo. Isn't it enough that we have to see messy looking hair wherever we go without seeing it in the comic strips too?

Bystander.

NO RACKETEER.

Chicago, March 8.—I agree with you that some "experts" are using the income tax season as a racket, but in taking a punch at them you have used a "roundhouse wallop" and also hit the fellow who is legitimate in tax matters. I have studied bookkeeping and tax matters for years and I paid for my studies. I can tell as much about taxes as the government employes who did not pay for their education, yet I am called a "racketeer" and the government men are honest.

You mention "eighth grade arithmetic." Why not find out how many of the present day taxpayers finished eighth grade? I am sure you would be astonished at the number of people who did not. In our school system our children, instead of learning the three "R's," receive education in dancing and how to be sociable at a party, how to run a party, how to dress, and how to be beautiful. I know what I am talking about. I have two children in high school, and three nights a week I help them with home work. The other two nights, no home work because there is a school dance or a party.

The "tax racket" will last to March 15 only. The education of our children goes on forever. When our children learn their arithmetic, and the government's legally phrased income tax instructions, they will not be in need of "income tax experts."

J. A. Cecat Sr.

A JACKASS IS NOT SEAWORTHY.

Texico, N. M., March 7.—"Don't change horses in the stream" is a vicious slogan which the New Deal consistently uses with success. It's their perpetual slogan, term after term. It's the same candy coated trick slogan which caught the Germans, Italians, and Russians in slave traps. The New Deal mule went into deep water years ago and seems to have sat down in the stream. So if we ever expect to come ashore again we will have to make a change. In fact, we are now headed for the international sea and I certainly don't want to make a trans-Atlantic ocean voyage on the back of a jackass. M. C. Roberts.

HOW ABOUT OUR THIRD?

Sterling, Ill., March 9.—Is Stalin going to give us a third of any territory or equipment he has taken since 1939?

Clement Hey.

SYNOPSIS: John Barrymore, born at Philadelphia Feb. 14, 1882, promptly was nicknamed "Greengoose" because he looked "just like the pretty lad in the story book." As a schoolboy, however, he was unprepossessing. His father, Maurice, and his mother, Georgianna Drew Barrymore, were both famous stage personalities. The grandmother, Louisa Lane Drew [Mum Mum to the children], was a distinguished actress, and her sons—Sidney [Uncle Googan] and John—were increasingly successful. John and the other Barrymore children were steeped in the atmosphere of the theater from the beginning. But the family was badly shaken when Mrs. Barrymore died.

INSTALMENT IX.

PHYSICIAN IN SPITE OF HIMSELF.

Mum Mum, now 73 years old, undertook the temporary care of the children, pending a tour her son Sidney had planned. Uncle Googan, when times grew entirely bad, evolved bold schemes to refinance himself and family.

He laid aside his pool hall wand and also shelved temporarily his drama, "Odd, to Say the Least of It," and formed a company to go on tour in Sheridan's "The Rivals." Mum Mum would revive the role of Mrs. Malaprop, a part she had so successfully portrayed for 12 seasons with Joseph Jefferson. The Sidney Drews and Mum Mum were living at Madame Bourquin's boarding house near Fort Wadsworth on Staten Island, until time for the tour.

The principal attraction at Madame Bourquin's [aside from easy credit] was a bowling alley which the guests used free of charge. The children often polished and waxed the wooden fairway, and for this service were permited to house a pet monkey in an upstairs room above the bowling alley.

During one of their visits to Madame Bourquin's, a dog chased the monkey into the water. The little fellow became quite ill from exposure and submersion. He coughed and whimpered. The children consulted with the boarders as to what they should do for their sick pet. Some misguided wag solemnly advised them to take the monkey to Dr. Jenkins.

Dr. William T. Jenkins was health officer of the Port of New York and in charge of quarantine. It so happened that at the time of the monkey's illness Dr. Jenkins, almost single-handedly, was resisting a cholera epidemic introduced by passengers of arriving vessels. He had quarantined so many ships in the congested harbor that their owners complained to the authorities, the mayor, and even to Washington.

When the three Barrymore youngsters appeared with their monkey at his besieged office he thought at first that the outraged shipping interests were practicing some kind of baleful trick upon him. Then he noticed Ethel's tears, heard Jack sobbing, and saw Lionel standing abjectedly against the desk. The true situation suddenly revealed itself to the doctor; some one had been playing a joke on the children.

He accepted the monkey as a patient, tapped its chest, listened to its heart with a stethoscope, then said, "I can't give you much hope, children. It has pneumonia."

Dr. Jenkins tiredly wrote a prescription. When the children said they had no money with which to buy medicine, the physician ordered a befuddled assistant to prepare a small bottle of diluted whisky and strychnine.

The children returned to the room above the bowling alley, administered the medicine, and the monkey promptly died; but, as Jack once said, "it passed out stinking and happy."

At Mme. Bourquin's the young Barrymores appeared in their first dramatic effort, "Camille." Ethel, as actress-manager, played the name role in her own version of the Dumas Fils story. She coughed so convincingly during the rehearsals that Mum Mum believed the child had a bone in her throat. Lionel, after much coaxing [for he always detested love scenes] undertook the part of Armand, and Jack that of the Count de Varville, with a swirling black mustache. Mrs. Drew, Uncle Googan, Aunt Gladys, little Sidney, a cross-section of pawnbrokers, out of work Hamlets, and a dozen pessimistic children of the neighborhood comprised the audience.

The young Barrymores, it appears, had no marked compulsion toward acting. A curious aversion was manifest in their respective attitudes when entering their profession. Their collective testimony reveals that they never had aspired to become actors, nor, once they had put on the paints and wigs, enjoyed their work; this notwithstanding the century and more of stage tradition on the Drew side of their house, and the mimicry bequeathed them by their handsome father.

"We became actors," Ethel says, "not because we wanted to go on the stage but because it was the thing we could do best."

While 73 year old Mrs. Drew once again gallantly was lifting the plumes and corset-stays of Mrs. Malaprop from the moth balls, she heard rumors that Maurice had remarried. If true, this would complicate matters. Mrs. Drew's dream-minded son-in-law at best seemed an untrustworthy guardian; but newly married, he couldn't be depended upon to look after the children while their grandmother was on tour.

Lionel went to Manhattan to scout the situation. He found his father at The Lambs in the company of the new heavyweight champion of the world, James J. Corbett. Lionel saw his father and the current ruler of the heavyweights standing among a group of courtiers at the bar, the champion holding a conspicuous glass of milk in a hand that seemed fashioned for the playing of a violin.

Lionel's father appeared in bright spirits as he greeted his son with: "My boy, I am truly glad to see you. Suppose you come uptown with me. Want you to meet some old friends. Been staying there off and on, you know. Such hospitality!"

In a W. 97th st. apartment, Maurice introduced his son with elaborate formality to a surpassingly beautiful young woman.

"Miss Floyd. My son. My good friend, Miss Mamie Floyd. May I present my older son, Lionel? . . . Miss Floyd's people have been wonderful to me, Lionel, simply splendid . . . Mamie . . . that is, Miss Floyd . . . well, Mamie, this is my son, Lionel, as I believe I have said . . ."

Maurice now believed he had gone far enough with evasive formalities. He abruptly went to the cupboard, produced a pail, and said, "Lionel, get some beer." He smacked his lips. "Mamie and I are married. Hurry back."

Mum Mum received the news calmly. "Marriage is a man's own business," she conceded, "only your steam kettle father is not a business man."

Jack, it was decided, would go to live with his Uncle John Drew and Aunt Dodo. Lionel would tour with his grandmother, and make a stage debut in the small part of Thomas, the coachman, in "The Rivals."

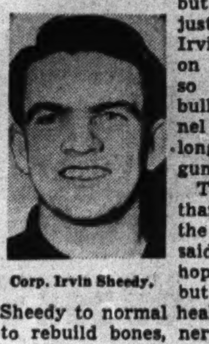
ARMY SURGEONS REBUILD YANK'S SHATTERED BODY

Nerves, Bones, Eyes Are Repaired.

Washington, D. C., March 14 (AP).—The doctors said he couldn't live, but death was just an act Corp. Irvin Sheedy put on when he was so shattered by bullets and shrapnel he could no longer use his gun.



Corp. Irvin Sheedy.

Today, more than a year later, the doctors, who said his case was hopeless, have all but restored Sheedy to normal health. They had to rebuild bones, nerves and eyes to do it.

Sheedy, whose home is at Green Bay, Wis., was with the 32d infantry division units which attacked Buna, New Guinea, a few days after Christmas, 1942.

"We had cut off about 35 or 40 Japs and went on past them," he recalled. "We thought they were all dead.

"Dead" Japs Come to Life.

"But during the night the Japs came to life and attacked us. I fired 60 rounds from my tommy gun before a Jap grenade hit near me. It blew me a dozen feet back, knocking my gun out of my hands.

"I wasn't too stunned, and got my gun back. Just as I started firing again, a bullet bounced off my skull just back of my ear. I couldn't move a muscle, tho I felt no pain. I played dead, watching the Japs bayoneting the wounded men around me. They killed 11 before they were driven off. But they left 22 of their own dead in the area."

Surgeons at a Port Moresby hospital shook their heads as they went to work.

Had Multiple Wounds.

Sheedy had a compound fracture and shattered ankle in his left leg, simple fracture of his right leg, muscles and nerves in both legs badly torn; the grenade had shattered nerves and muscles in his left forearm; there was the bullet wound back of his ear, and 57 shrapnel wounds on his face and body. He got malaria in the hospital.

From Port Moresby he was brought to Halloran hospital at Staten Island, N. Y., then to Walter Reed hospital here, and finally to Forest Glen, Md., the convalescent annex to Walter Reed. He looks as good as new, altho army doctors have some more things to do before they will call him a cure.

Sheedy now has the use of both legs and his left arm, which virtually had been cut in two by pieces of a Japanese grenade. He weighs 190 pounds, a gain of 70 pounds from his lowest weight.

PICTURE OF COAL TOWN IN WALES AND ITS MINERS

Clannish People Fear Loss of Their Rights.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CARDIFF, Wales, March 14.—The miners of South Wales, whose strike has cost Britain's war campaign at least 500,000 tons of coal, have a peculiar psychology unlike that of any other class in the British Isles. It is a mixture of suspicion, clannishness and shrewdness, stubbornness, and pride, and the feeling, undoubtedly handed down from father to son, that any change is intended for their detriment.

Those were the impressions gathered on a journey thru the coal fields during the heigth of the strike, which now appears well on the way to settlement. An estimated three-fourths of the miners had returned to work today and the remainder are expected back by Thursday at the latest.

An impartial analysis of the Porter award, which set a minimum wage of $18 to $20 and brought on the walkout March 6, leads to the impression that the award is a good thing for the miners. It raises the lowest paid men to their highest minimum rate and points the way to an overhaul of the whole wage structure and an almost certain increase for skilled workers.

Coal Costs Miners More.

Despite these advantages, most of the miners complain that many skilled workmen now make no more than the unskilled, tho still making as much as ever. They also are disgruntled because the terms of the award will make their own fuel cost 30 cents extra a week.

In the Aberdare valley area, which for many years after the last war was poverty stricken and almost without hope, many miners still are idle.

Towns in the valley, typical of the whole coal region, consist of narrow streets lined by stone houses whose front doors open directly on the sidewalk. Everywhere are dogs, children of all ages, old men hobbling along on canes, and young men crippled by mine accidents.

Fear Loss of Privileges.

As housewives on hands and knees scrub their doorsteps, the men of the town of Ynysbwl stand in groups on the street or in the pubs, discussing their grievances.

One says it's not a question of money, but of principle. The miners fear the surrendering of even small rights will lead to the surrender of other privileges, such as the right to free firewood, and the whole, age old question of the bitterness of the miners and colliery owners comes into the open.

One man says: "When we go down into the mines, working in all that stench, filth and dust, we're no longer men; we're beasts. We should be paid for that." Another says: "I know a boy of 19 suffering 100 per cent pneumoconiosis [a lung ailment caused by inhaling coal dust]. When his time comes he'll die a death you wouldn't wish on a mad dog." Another adds: "You know what I'm worth if I'm killed? Twenty pounds [$80] to bury me."

Hunger Helps End Strike.

The burden of the men's complaint is that when coal is sorely needed they are regarded as "fine fellows," but when coal is a glut on the market the yare tossed aside. Many said they only reason they were discontinuing the walkout was that they had to eat.

The miners' women seem in sympathy with the strike, but even more they are acutely aware of the necessity of money for food.

The mine families are curious people. If they trust you, they are friendly, invite you in for tea, and go out of their way to give you information. If they mistrust you, they art taciturn and even a little surly, as exemplified by one miner whom a correspondent tried to interview a few days ago. The miner said two sentences: "They've fooled around with us long enough. Here comes your bus."

The plain fact of the matter, right or wrong, is that the miners thru long years of sad experience mistrust the owners and the government. They feel that it is only by striking in war time when coal is vital that they will find any one to listen to their grievance.

MASTER ORDERS DEPOSITIONS IN CROMWELL SUIT

Elizabeth, N. J., March 14 (AP).—An order providing that depositions be taken in Florida for use in the New Jersey divorce action of James H. R. Cromwell against Mrs. Doris Duke Cromwell, tobacco heiress, was signed today by Master in Chancery Dougal Herr.

Emanuel Kohn, Newark lawyer and a special master in New Jersey Chancery court, was designated to take written testimony from Mrs. Eva Stotesburg, Cromwell's mother, at her Palm Beach estate.

Meyer Ruback, counsel for the former United States minister to Canada, said he would apply for an early hearing on Cromwell's petition to have the New Jersey courts declare null and void the decree obtained by Mrs. Cromwell at Reno last Dec. 22 on mental cruelty grounds.

Ruback said he would apply for additional depositions from "two persons in Honolulu and one in London" to support allegations that "a member of the British parliament had supplanted him in his wife's affections."

BRITISH M. P.'S DEBATE RULE OF AIR AFTER WAR

One Says Money Gives No Advantage to U. S.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 14.—Post-war civil aviation, which competes with shipping and world trade as sore spots in Anglo-American relations, today was debated in the house of commons. Opening the battle, Alfred Beit, Conservative, said the United States would like to dominate the air as Britain dominated the seas in the 19th century. Altho this is a legitimate aspiration, he said, Britain must have her say.

He alluded to American press claims to rights which the United States should enjoy in many territories where her money has been poured in constructing airports and bases and remarked: "All such expenditures are contributions to the united nations' war effort and nothing more."

International Plan Opposed.

Beit opposed the Labor party's contention that civil aviation should be conducted internationally, saying he did not believe either the United States or Russia would accept it.

He advocated:

1. Freedom of transit and emergency landings, subject to mutual agreement.

2. An international convention to supervise subsidies and regulate rates and fares and to lay down standards of technical and personnel requirements.

3. A British or empire licensing board to consider all applications of air operational plans of private companies.

4. Control of civil aviation by the ministry of transport.

Three Way Rule Suggested.

Leslie Hore-Belisha, Independent, proposed that world aviation routes be operated by Britain, Russia, and the United States.

Air Secretary Archibald Sinclair said:

"The nation must have control of its own domestic airways and there should be the right of innocent passage. Of course, sovereignty of its air will remain with each country, but each country will have to consent to an international agreement to a limitation of its sovereignty in agreement with those who join in signing the convention."

YANK WOUNDED WHEN JAP FIRES AT WATCH DIAL

Pvt. Walter Nettbaum.

Pvt. Walter Nettbaum of the marines, wearing the Purple Heart decoration and ribbons showing his service of 22 months in the South Pacific, was home on a visit yesterday, en route to a veterans hospital in Memphis, Tenn. He lives at 4301 Armitage av., with his grandmother, Mrs. Charles Bloom, and is a nephew of Frank Kalteux, secretary of the Illinois commerce commission.

"I was shot thru the left arm on Bougainville Island," Pvt. Nettbaum recalled. "I was in a fox hole and it was pitch dark, but a Jap saw the light from the luminous dial on my watch and he fired at it. A corporal in the foxhole with me fired back and killed the Jap.

"I lay there wounded all night. The next morning the corporal was helping me back to our lines when he was shot three times in the stomach. That was on Nov. 3. While I was recovering from my wound I developed malaria."

GUADALCANAL ACTION FATAL TO CHICAGOAN

Pvt. R. G. Pulliam.

Pvt. Richard G. Pulliam was reported killed in action on Guadalcanal March 1, the war department yesterday informed his mother, Mrs. Ludella Hardin, 5629 Indiana av. He had been overseas since early in January. Before he was inducted into the army, he worked for a laundry.

REPORT BRITAIN SEEKS TO REVIVE EXPORT TRADE

Release from Promise to U.S. Sought.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 14.—Negotiations looking toward an agreement to permit Britain to resume exporting small quantities of certain products while she is still receiving lend-lease aid from the United States are understood to be under way with Washington, D. C.

There is no official confirmation of these negotiations which involve one of the most delicate issues of British-American relations as well as a potential issue of the coming Presidential election.

Eager to Resume Production.

Under pressure from manufacturers who are eager to resume normal production of peace time goods before their pre-war market is irrevocably lost, the British government is believed to be seeking United States approval for modification of the 1941 British export trade policy.

This policy was a voluntary promise not to use "any materials similar to those supplied under the lend-lease in such way as to enable their exporters to enter new markets or to extend their export trade at the expense of United States exporters," and to restrict all exports to an "irreducible minimum" except for war purposes.

Promise Given to Winant.

This commitment given to Ambassador Winant by Foreign Secretary Eden on Sept. 10, 1941, in a memorandum designed to allay American anxieties about possible reëxporting of lend-lease supplies.

American business has shown itself particularly wary lest Britain gain some post-war trade advantage from the United States' war time generosity. Eden's memorandum to Winant in itself was evidence of this wariness.

MARIE SMITH.

Marie Smith, 27, of 10 S. Winchester av., admitted to Judge Cecil Smith in Felony court yesterday that she had tapped Edward Norris, 1513 Madison st., on the head with an iron pipe and taken $200 which he "handed her."

"But I didn't intend to rob him," she said. "I got sore because he wouldn't pay a cab driver who had been driving us around."

The hearing of robbery charges against Miss Smith and Chester Recchard, 1726 N. Central av., the chauffeur, was deferred until March 21.

CONGRESSMAN BOOKED DURING GAMBLING RAID

Miami, Fla., March 14 (AP).—Pat Cannon, identified by Police Chief H. Leslie Quigg as Florida's 4th district [D., Miami] congressman, was booked today on a charge of "disorderly conduct by being in a gambling place."

Detective M. C. Tucker said he arrested Cannon and 29 others in a raid on what he described as a bookmaking establishment. Cannon later said he had just entered the place at the time of the raid, having gone there to renew acquaintances in connection with his campaign for Democratic renomination.

TAXPAYERS WHO BREAK PROMISE PUT UNDER FIRE

Summary action against taxpayers who had been permitted by the county board to settle delinquent taxes at bargain rates, but who had failed to keep their promises to pay current taxes, was recommended yesterday by County Treasurer Schlaeger. Schlaeger asked County Commissioner Daniel Ryan to have the county board adopt a resolution authorizing the treasurer to withhold certificates of title growing out of tax foreclosure sales unless the current tax bills were settled.

Coincident with Schlaeger's recommendation, a suit to collect $770,244 in back taxes, plus interest and penalties that nearly double the principal, was filed against the Chicago Tunnel company, 754 W. Jackson st., in County court. Assistant State's Atty. John T. Fitzgerald petitioned to have Schlaeger named receiver for the property, said to be delinquent in taxes for 1928 thru 1942.

Under the Skarda act, net income may be applied to back taxes. The company operates an underground railroad in the loop.

RADIO NETWORKS POOL WORK OF WAR OBSERVERS

Washington, D. C., March 14 (AP).—The navy and the four major radio networks have worked out an arrangement for pooling material obtained by radio correspondents participating in future naval operations, it was disclosed tonight.

The arrangement, similar to pooling arrangements already in operation by news services, photo agencies, and motion pictures, will make possible the assignment of only one network representative to a naval mission, the navy department reported.

Any dispatches which the correspondent writes or any recordings that he makes on the spot will be available to all four networks, NBC, CBS, MBS, and Blue. The first broadcast he makes upon returning to the base of operations or upon reaching a radio transmitter also will be available to all networks.

BURGLARS LOOT TAVERN.

Thieves who broke into the Green Lantern tavern, 670 N. Clark st., took $150 from the cash register, $35 from a juke box, and 150 slugs from a pay telephone box, the owner, John La Vett, reported to police yesterday.

Ordered to Trial After More Than Year in Jail

John Macko, 19, known as the "dancing school" bandit who threatened his victims with a penknife, was ordered held by Judge Rudolph F. Desort yesterday for trial March 21 on two charges of robbery. Macko was adjudged sane a week ago after he had been held in the county jail for more than a year as a subject in a test case to define the state's criminal insanity statutes. Appeal from an earlier verdict that he was insane, however, never reached the state Supreme court.

Tumor Institute Benefit Event's Seats All Sold

BY JUDITH CASS.

TYPICAL of the efficiency applied to a task by the little band of workers forming the woman's board of the Chicago Tumor institute is the board's report that every seat has been sold for its benefit concert April 5. Since the board announced that it would sponsor a program that night at the Civic Opera house by Lily Pons, soloist, and an orchestra conducted by her husband, Andre Kostelanetz, the committee has been hard at work disposing of a sizable block of seats and a number of boxes.

Mrs. Arthur Meeker, who heads the woman's board, and Mr. Meeker celebrated their 52d wedding anniversary last Friday with a quiet family dinner, as she is recovering from an illness. Here for the day were three of their four children. Mrs. Horace Gray since has departed for her home in San Francisco, Cal., but her sister, Mrs. Francis V. Lloyd, will not leave for Santa Barbara until March 23.

Their brother, Arthur Meeker Jr., is spending the winter on his farm in Wayne completing his new novel, "The Faraway Music," which he hopes to have ready for fall publication. In contrast to his best selling novel, "The Ivory Mischief," which had a French background, the new book deals with early Chicago, revolving around the life of the author's great-grandfather, Edwin Eugene Griggs, who brought his family from New York state in 1844 to go into business with his brother-in-law, Charles Walker, one of the early presidents of the Board of Trade.

Mrs. Alden B. Swift plans to return from Palm Beach, Fla., in time to help organize some of the small dinners at the Casino which will precede the Tumor institute benefit. She is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Paul Rowan, at the home the latter has taken there while Mr. Rowan is serving in Panama with the navy. Mrs. Swift's other daughter, Mrs. Clinton King, and her husband are spending the winter in Taxco, Mexico. Also in Palm Beach is another member of the woman's board, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, who will be there with her husband until late in the season.

Engagement News.

Romantic news linking two families connected with Northwestern university is contained in the announcement which Mr. and Mrs. Horace Whitehouse of Evanston are making of the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Ensign John Robert Eshbach, son of Dean and Mrs. Ovid W. Eshbach of Kenilworth. Miss Whitehouse is a graduate of Northwestern university, at which her father is professor in the school of music. Ensign Eshbach received his degree in engineering in the school's technological institute, of which his father is dean. He received his commission recently and left for active duty March 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Banks of Fresno, Cal., announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to Lt. Harold L. Aronson Jr. of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aronson of Blackstone av. Miss Banks was graduated from the University of California. Her fiancé received his A. B. and L. B. degrees from the University of Chicago. They will be married in a military ceremony April 6 at Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., and both families will go south for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Mercer Francisco of Highland Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Marilyn, to Lt. John McClure Tyson Jr. of the army air forces, son of Dr. and Mrs. Tyson of Dubois, Pa. Miss Francisco is a student at the University of Chicago, from which her fiancé received his commission at the Institute of Meteorology in February. He was a junior at Penn State college before entering the service.

Today's Events.

A second distinguished speaker at the school this week is Mrs. Agnes Smedley, who will be heard at 11 a. m. tomorrow. She will speak at the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations Friday.

Following an informal supper at 6:30 o'clock tonight, members of the Pan-American council will hear about Brazil from Prof. Herman E. James, who formerly was senior cultural relations officer of the department of state to Brazil. Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson is in charge of arrangements for the meeting, at which John Strohm will preside.

The Friends of Drama will entertain all the cast of "The Patriots" with the exception of Walter Hampden at a matinee breakfast at noon today in the Hotel Sherman. Another special guest will be Miss Elizabeth Hobart, one of the prisoners of war repatriated on the Gripsholm. Carlyle Emery will speak on the subject, "I Want to Be President." Mrs. George W. Martin will be in charge of hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Cyrus Garnett, Mrs. Harry Swigart, Mrs. Frazier Troxel, and Mrs. Alice Gunthorp.

What to Do About 32.

This is what one WCG did about being 32.

She waited until she was 33.

And she looked up one day and there was a great big wo-o-onderful man—a bachelor about 40.

She went after him—and I mean she did.

One year later the situation had become so dynamite-y that Bill went home to think it over.

He thunk and he thunk and he thunk. Here he was a bachelor who had weathered many a chase and come thru unscathed. Happy, content, well known, successful. Give up his freedom for a woman? Any woman? No thanks!

It was spring and Bill went north with the ducks.

So, 14 months later they were married and it would be difficult to find any happier people. But, she flares up when misguided busybodies ask her how she was able to land him.

And so I said: "But how were you able?" HER FORMER BOSS.

Old Love Notes Full of Promise, as Scrap Paper

If the 1,900,000 Illinois clubwomen who were represented at a recent salvage meeting were to undo the lavender and lace that binds their old love letters and scrap them the result would be, it is estimated, an additional 231,000 pounds of vitally needed waste paper.

Spot checking among these women revealed each has an average of five love letters, written on paper 8½ by 11 inches. The sentiments in these letters cover an average of two pages of high grade paper.

Jack R. Robinson, a former vice president of the Butler Paper company, who represents the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association in the current paper salvage campaign, said 1,000 of these letters would weigh 20 pounds. For the 1,900,000 clubwomen, providing each turned in an average of five letters, this would make a total of 190,000 pounds. The letters' envelopes would weigh an estimated additional 41,000 pounds.

The paper on which such letters are written is composed principally of pulp, sulphite, and rags, which together provide one of the strongest fibers available. This type of waste paper is needed badly for binders to strengthen cartons which are made from ordinary waste paper and which are used to package goods of war.

If the women feel a certain understandable reluctance to discard the letters intact, Mr. Robinson suggests that they tear them into small pieces, put the pieces into paper bags, and place the bags in cardboard boxes to turn in for salvage. Then to have the paper picked up they—or any one else who has saved waste paper—need only telephone State 8787.

Such paper would be what W. W. Scanlan, district salvage chief for the war production board, calls "generated waste"—waste that does not normally find its way into the scrap pile.

Belt and Scarf Teams Brighten New Costumes

BY REA SEEGER.

New teammates to be found among the gay spring costume accessories are the belt and matching scarf, fashioned out of silk in eye catching colors. They are contrast possibilities of distinction to be worn with either dark or light clothes in spring and summer. The brightest hues are featured in the big time favorite, silk shantung, in vivid Chinese colors, high pink, imperial yellow, jade green, and a very lovely mauve shade. The belts have stunning square cut buckles which are covered with the same colored silk shantung as the belt.

If the strong Chinese colors aren't just what you need for dress contrast, see the beautiful plaids and checks. Silk surah, smooth as butter, comes in large checked patterns, with such basic background shades as porcelain-blue, dull old-gold, and a rich tawny russet. The checks or plaids are striking contrast colors to these basic background shades . . . the results are glorious! They're just what you need for spring costumes—a little on the dark and dull side. This spring, such clever costume accessories will establish an enviable reputation for any woman who knows the fun of mixing and matching trifles, in color and fabric.

Also new, are the stunning suede gloves mated to handbags. Among them are exciting stone-gray gloves teamed with a barrel shape bag with carrying strap, a pale chartreuse kidskin bag with matching gloves, and a high pink suede bag with two tone pink and mauve gloves.

Thru the Looking Glass

We and some of our willing tryer-outers have been experimenting with a new, cream type shampoo and the reaction has been so favorable that we're glad to pass the word along to our readers.

To begin with, a cream type shampoo is in itself quite a treat to use since it eliminates one exasperating feature of home shampoos—the cleansing agent can't dribble down over face and neck before you get a chance to catch it and work up a lather. The cream stays put and may be worked leisurely over scalp and hair shafts with no desperate hurrying against its running away.

But ease of application is not all this particular shampoo has to recommend it. It looks rather like a cold cream and is made of a soapless cleansing agent combined with lanolin. The two make for a shampoo that is kind to scalp and hair. There's a soothing quality about it and it leaves none of the irritating dryness so prevalent after using harsh cleansers. The lanolin is helpful in imparting sheen to the locks and is excellent for conditioning dry hair. The most lifeless tresses pick up gloss and look ever so much more attractive after a single treatment with the shampoo.

There's no trick to using the cleanser. Wet the hair thoroly and apply a small amount of the shampoo to the scalp and hair with the fingers. Work up a lather and scrub vigorously. We think you'll be agreeably surprised at the rich lather this makes and pleased with its effectiveness. It removes grease and dirt in a jiffy and, while one application seems to cleanse the hair completely, we think it's a good idea with this, as with all cleansers, to use two to insure perfect cleanliness. And don't be miserly with the rinse water. Rinse and rinse until there isn't a trace of the shampoo left and the hair glistens in undimmed brightness.

Social Service Study Course to Start Friday

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

Because of the size, cost, and importance of the welfare job in Chicago and the necessity of knowing the main facts in the whole broad field if an organization board member is to do effective work in any one agency, the Chicago Council of Social Agencies has arranged a study course to streamline the essentials of family service, child welfare, health, recreation, and the planning and financing of Chicago's social services. The course will be in the form of seven luncheon meetings, starting Friday at 12:15 p. m. in the Georgian room of Carson Pirie Scott & Co.

"How to Be a More Effective Board Member" will be the theme of the meetings, to which 75 carefully selected representatives of the boards of directors of Chicago's leading welfare organizations have been invited. Mrs. Helen Cody Baker, publicity secretary of the council, will speak on "Social Work Yesterday and Today" at Friday's meeting.

Mrs. Baker will trace the changes in public welfare since the great-grandfathers of today's younger board members operated under one inclusive "pauper law" while their wives and daughters nursed typhoid epidemics, visited the "deserving poor," and ladled out hot soup to victims of the Chicago fire.

The first session of the study course will deal with the shift from charity to social security, the growth of public welfare defined by law and financed by taxes, and the interesting developments in private social work.

The idea of the study course originated with Robert E. Kenyon Jr., president of Chase House and a member of the council's board of directors.

Serving with Mr. Kenyon, who is chairman of the committee in charge of the meetings, are Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., president of the Chicago Junior league; John F. Alexander, Mrs. Lester DeMuth, Mrs. Pope Dodge, Mrs. Sidney Schwarz, Mrs. Herman Lebeson, Hermon Dunlap Smith, and Mrs. Edward O. Brown, who is secretary.

Violinist Milstein's Playing Gives Old Concerto New Life

Concert by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Désiré Defauw conducting; Nathan Milstein, violinist. Presented at Orchestra hall Tuesday afternoon, March 14, 1944. The Program:

Overture to "Oberon" .... Weber
Symphonic Suite, "Lieutenant Kijé" .... Prokofieff
Concerto for Violin, No. 5, A minor .... Vieuxtemps
Legend from the "Kalevala," "The Swan of Tuonela" .... Sibelius
Tone Poem, "Don Juan" ...... Strauss

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Nathan Milstein's performance of Vieuxtemps' fifth concerto for violin was the second in 53 seasons of Chicago Symphony orchestra subscription concerts, and he did more for it than it did for him. He played the ornate cadenza with polished ease, lavished the wealth of his tone on the melody borrowed from Grétry which forms the slow section of the score, and generally displayed the concerto as a plausible piece of music content with the shining surface of the violin. But it was neither a spectacular show piece for a violinist who can dazzle the ear with Paganini, a challenge to a musician who can do wonders with Beethoven and Bach, nor an adventure with a revival worth the scurry of rediscovery. Perhaps that was one of the reasons why the audience begged, in vain, for an encore. The Vieuxtemps didn't seem quite enough Milstein, even for a rainy afternoon.

Désiré Defauw was the conductor, wresting an adequate tho not a persuasive accompaniment from his fellow Belgian's score, and dividing the orchestral program into two kinds of playing that gave the worst of it to those who left at intermission. Mr. Defauw's way with the "Oberon" overture remains unchanged, swooning over the introduction, losing the poetry, and recovering only in time for the oceanic roar of the coda. But his way with Prokofieff's "Lieutenant Kijé" had altered amazingly since he played the suite earlier in the season at the midweek concerts. Then it took itself more seriously than the tongue-in-cheek score warrants, but at least it had character and continuity, and in its fashion, it was beautifully played. Yesterday's performance was blurred and spotty, full of inaccuracies, and utterly lacking in the audacious insouciance that is the music's chief charm.

But if you held on long enough, things improved. For Sibelius' darkly lovely tone poem, "The Swan of Tuonela," Mr. Defauw gave the orchestra its head, and it ran back to form, which is to say it moved like a thorobred. And tho it would be unduly optimistic to say that Strauss' "Don Juan" had the crackling brilliance of older days when it was one of Orchestra hall's show pieces, still it was a good performance with much of the authority that gave our orchestra its reputation. Just a hint of that once familiar tone, surging out in Straussian splendor, was enough to make you forget the weather.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 14.—How many remember lyrics of "The Old Oaken Bucket?" Gene Fowler and Billy Wellman have just completed a story about home called "How Dear to This Heart." You'd think the success of Gene's book "Goodnight, Sweet Prince," which has sold 176,000, would slow him down a mite, but he's busier than a bird dog. This is one of three stories he's been working on. It's now ready for a sound stage. Of course, Billy Wellman will direct it. . . . Hoagy Carmichael, following in Oscar Levant's footsteps, plays himself in "To Have and Have Not." While he's doing it, he's composing a new tune. . . . Clifton Webb may linger if he accepts the role offered him in "Laura." It marks the return of Gene Tierney to the screen. Peggy Wood is talking pictures with a well known producer who wants her to begin this week. However, both must wait till "Blithe Spirit's" run is ended.

It's Getting Good Casting.

Jimmy Cagney is trying to buy "Suspense," Bill Speers' radio show, for a picture. It has a large audience. . . . Charlie Feldman will send "Follow the Boys" down to Camp Barkley in Texas, so that Donald O'Connor, who was in it, can give his pals the first look at it. I hear it's mighty fine. . . . Agnes de Mille has been signed by Daryl Zanuck to put on dances for "Something for the Boys." . . . Thomas Gomez is going great guns. He went from "The Climax" to "Dead Man's Eyes." He came here from Broadway. . . . Jane Withers gets a chance to sing in her next Republic picture. . . . Gregory Peck and Vincent Price, both doing "Keys of the Kingdom," and trying to make post-war plans to take a theatrical company on a world tour.

The Real McCoy.

Cary Grant showed me a picture of his father to be used in "None But the Lonely Heart." Usually those pictures come from the prop department. But Cary dragged a picture of his own father, taken in 1900, to the studio. He was a stunner. Cary's the dead spit of him, only not so 'andsome. . . . If "The Pink Lady" goes on the screen, the girl who plays it should get to know the original "Pink Lady." She's quite a woman. Been working on the assembly line at one of our aircraft factories for the last two years, and brought up two children. . . . I hear Jimmy Dunn and Edna Rush made a secret trip to the altar. . . . Virginia Maple's been keeping the home fires burning in George Raft's manse while he's been away. She's pretty upset about all those dates George had with Bonita Granville.

Maybe He's Just Clowning.

Just as I began to respect Frank Sinatra, he starts acting up. He didn't feel in the mood, so telephoned R. K. O. he wouldn't be in that morning to work in "Manhattan Serenade." He wasn't well. Yet the night before, he was seen having fun until 1 a. m. On the set waiting were quite a few extras. When they're dismissed that way, they usually accept one-fourth of a day's pay. In this case they're asking for a full day's pay, which I suggest Mr. Sinatra pay himself. His studio shouldn't be held up for it. . . . Doug Shearer's enjoying a two week's rest at his ranch near San Diego. . . . "Adventures of Mark Twain" will be released to the boys in the services March 25, but you won't see it in the theaters until May.

Finds It Good Business.

Wally Beery aims to have airplane landing strips on each of his five ranches when war's over, so he can make the trip by air. To date only two boast that convenience. Wally's flown his own plane for 16 years. . . . The Harry Cohns' baby is expected within two weeks. You'll hear that Rita Hayworth is that way. She was seen in Brentwood buying a baby pen—but that was to house a new puppy given her by Dr. Maurice Bernstein. . . . Phil Silvers sat behind Ruth Warrick, who was wearing her hair in a high pompadour, at an opening. He leaned over and said, "Madame, would you mind removing your head?"

On the Go.

At John Wilson's party at the Charles Mendls: Jean Arthur gave Danny Kaye a welcome he'll never forget. Laird Cregar told me he's 1-A. Dame May Whitty wants to play the authoress in "Paris Underground." Gypsy Rose Lee was a one-woman riot. Asked if she'd have a photograph taken with Coop, she said, "Sure, what do you want—leg art?"—lifting her skirt. Then she glanced at the man and exploded, "Good Lord, it is Gary Cooper!" . . . Lillian Gish is glad to be back. Heard about Emily Kimbrough's lecture experiences which Emily's putting into book form. She was given a banquet before her lecture, arranged by the richest people of the town. After guests had gone, host and hostess asked her to wait. She watched while they gathered up all rolls, cookies, sugar left on table—then flowers' stems were dried and put in the same box and carried out under hostess' arm into a big limousine. Then they took off for home. . . . Maj. Charles Vanda writes that Tel Aviv is Palm Beach without pork, with oranges on trees. The streets are upholstered. In one week he saw an opera, symphony, play, movie, and three people who had never heard of "Pistol Packin' Mamma." Says he, "I taught the song to a gal, then she never stopped singing it. Did some desert scouting with the camel corps. My camel was called Errol Flynn. Wanted to rename him W. C. Fields because of his red nose, but the Arabs were agin' it. Got a great kick out of walking a camel for a mile."

More Boy-Girl Problems Get Solid Answers

BY MAUREEN DALY.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

On the SOLID side

Q.—"I've been dating a boy from my school for several weeks, not going steady, however. Many of my other friends are now in service and I write to them frequently. But whenever I get a letter in answer and this first boy hears about it [sometimes I tell him myself, sometimes one of my friends mentions it], he becomes very angry and jealous. We're not going steady—now why should he act that way?"

A.—Right now, from 16 on up, most of the really solid Jacksons feel that they would "like to get in and get this thing over with." When age or some other circumstances keep them out of service it is almost natural that they would feel "jealous" of those other chaps who are doing what they themselves would like to be doing. Of course, don't stop writing to the khaki kids, but don't antagonize your civilian Joe with the fact that he's not in uniform, either! Maybe you just don't realize how much he'd like to be in there fighting.

Q.—What do you think of fellows who make dates and then never call up to find out what time to pick the girl up?

A.—That's a bad way to start a beautiful friendship. A boy should always give the gal a ring in plenty of time so they can put their heads together about the zero hour.

Q.—Do you believe in giving a girl a line? Do you think it's a good idea for a fellow to develop a line all his own?

A.—Just remember that a straight line is the shortest distance between two dates and cut out the conning. You may be able to melt a gal with that sweet and lovely talk just once—but what are you two going to talk about on the second date? Even the smoothest operator can't get by with that kind of glib chatter when he's playing duet with a gal on the ball. Girls, like fellows, prefer sincerity.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

A master player is one who not only makes few errors on his own account, but who is always alert to save his side from the possible folly of his partner. For example:

North, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 4
♥ Q 6 5
♦ A 10 2

WEST
♠ K Q 8
♥ K 10 7
♦ K 7 6 5 4
♣ A 3

EAST
♠ 9 6 5 3 2
♦ Q
♣ 7 5 2

SOUTH
♠ A J 10 7
♥ J 8 2
♦ J 9 8 3
♣ 10 6

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	2 diamonds
3 clubs	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

There was nothing timid about South's three no trump bid!

West opened the diamond five, dummy ducked, and East won. On the low spade return declarer put in the jack and West won with the queen. Another diamond lead was won by the 10, and the club king was returned. West took the ace and played a third round of diamonds, knocking out the ace. Now the club suit was run off. As soon as possible East, the master player, signalled with the nine and three of hearts, in that order, to tell his partner that he had control of the suit, and, not to be outdone, West signalled back with the heart 10. As the clubs continued to be cashed, however, West seemed to lose all sight of the fact that there was no need for keeping spade protection—that declarer obviously would not be able to enter his own hand—and, to East's amazement, discarded the seven and king of diamonds and, finally, the seven of hearts!

When the clubs were exhausted, declarer had no choice but to lead a heart from dummy—and right here came the test of East's ability to save his weaker partner. Most players in this position would refuse to play the ace for fear of dropping partner's king; East firmly put up the ace in order to smother the king! He had carefully observed that declarer also had discarded two hearts along with the diamond Jack and a spade; this clearly meant that it would be fatal to let West win the present heart lead. A spade return by East now saved the day, for declarer's last lead had to be a spade to West's king.

This Home-Mixed Syrup Relieves Coughs Quickly

Needs No Cooking. Saves Money.

The surprise of your life is waiting for you, in your own kitchen, when it comes to the relief of coughs due to colds. In just a moment, you can mix a cough syrup that gives you about 4 times as much for your money, and is amazing for quick results.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup, and you have a full pint of really wonderful cough medicine. It never spoils, lasts a long time, and children love it.

This home mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Women in War Work

Headquarters for Chicago's own first SPAR drive, to be held from March 20 to April 10, have been obtained at 67-69 E. Monroe st., it was announced yesterday by Stuart Logan, general chairman. In that period, recruiters for the SPARS will seek 500 women of ages 20 to 35, inclusive, to perform 19 essential tasks as members of the women's organization in the coast guard.

The assignments include such important war time jobs as parachute riggers, Link trainers, and radio operators. At this time of year, it is perhaps of no small interest to winter weary Chicagoans that all recruits will be sent to boot training at the Biltmore hotel in Palm Beach, Fla.

Enlisted women get $50 a month while in training. Possibilities for advancement in the noncommissioned ranks include grades up to a chief petty officer, with a salary of $126 a month.

The SPAR drive headquarters will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily except Sunday. Films of the activities of the SPARS will be shown several times daily. Mayor Kelly heads the SPAR drive executive committee as honorary chairman while Chairman Logan is assisted by Mrs. Walter M. Rennie, chairman of the women's division; Wilson M. Lampert, treasurer, and Barnet Hodes, secretary.

At the request of the National Red Cross the Chicago chapter has been making and filling 81,000 kit bags which are given to enlisted men as they leave this country for foreign service. This emergency quota is in addition to the local chapter's regular schedule of 6,000 kit bags a month. The national headquarters has appealed here for further help in meeting a shortage of new decks of playing cards to inclose in the kits. The Chicago chapter is appealing for gifts of new and unopened decks of cards. They should be mailed or sent as soon as possible to the packing center, 180 N. Wabash av., in care of Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson.

A new member of the army nurse corps is Miss Evelyn Street, daughter of Mrs. L. C. Street of Dixon, Ill., and a graduate of the Evanston hospital school for nurses. Since completing her nurse training Lt. Street has been resident nurse at Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and since September, 1942, a member of the American Red Cross staff, first as a field worker and for the last year as a supervisor in the home nursing department of the Chicago chapter.

The child care committee of the OCD has established a special training center at Hull House to meet the need for 100 volunteer child care aids for the 18 war nurseries in the industrial and war plants areas on the west, southwest, and northwest sides of Chicago. Registrations for the course, which opens Monday, are being taken now at the volunteer office, 53 W. Jackson blvd., Wabash 0528 and 0529. Appointments for an interview should be made in advance.

The classes will be held Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 1 to 3 p. m. The course will include 30 hours of lectures and observation of children in day care centers, followed by 48 hours of practice teaching. Lecturers will be authorities on the phases of development of the preschool child. Volunteers will have opportunities to experiment with the materials the children like to use, such as clay, wood, paint, and drawing materials, and also to learn to sing the songs the children like and to tell stories.

Volunteers who take the training are asked to pledge a minimum of six hours weekly for six months. After 50 hours' service, they receive the OCD insignia and may wear the OCD outdoor uniform. The new official indoor costume, a red and white striped pinafore, is available for child care aids.

Plan Lecture on Southwest for Rotary Women Today

The women of the Rotary club of Chicago will hear Ray Eggersted, traveler-lecturer, discuss the mesa canyon country of southwestern United States at a luncheon meeting today in the Hotel Sherman. His talk will be illustrated with technicolor movies.

Punishment No Cure if Child Is Destructive

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

They are intelligent parents. The family is prosperous, they live in an attractive house in a charming suburb, and the children go to a fine school. "Yet," says a family friend, "two of the boys [the third is a baby son] are so destructive that I am constantly amazed. It's not only that they take their playthings apart, but they often damage their parents' belongings.

"Only last Sunday the younger son, who is 8, took his mother's lipstick and marked all over the newly painted walls of her bathroom. Of course, following the usual method in that household, the boy got a severe whipping, a lecture, and a scolding. Any one would say the child deserved all he got. But I can't help noticing that, in spite of the fact that they are scolded and spanked so much, the children have gone right on doing these things for years. What do you think about it?"

Naturally, not knowing these parents, any answer I might make would be pure surmise. But having really known several families where there are similar "goings on," I'm willing to hazard a guess.

Spanking and scolding used as a system after the accomplished fact are not training. They are not education. They are not guidance. They are just plain punishment.

Almost always, where this system is used, the "don't system" has gone hand in hand with it. By that I mean that probably these parents have peppered their children's days with constant directions about their every little act.

So the children, hampered and cramped in virtually every legitimate freedom, rebel in spirit—and some of the rebellion takes the forms we've mentioned today.

School Chiefs Kept Guessing by Burocrats

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

When business and industrial executives complain of burocratic headaches, they should consider the federally induced migraine now afflicting school administrators. These educators, as represented yesterday by S. D. Shankland, executive secretary of the American Association of School Administrators, used mild language to describe a muddled condition.

The Quaker word, concern, was used in an interview instead of the business man's plain word for nuisance by Mr. Shankland, who represented his association's policy commission in session in the Edgewater Beach hotel. He told of federal money bubbling up unexpectedly almost anywhere, along with demands of federal bureaus which often embarrass or disorganize local school administrations.

"It often would be like a federal bureau organizing a rival newspaper which would call on your paper's editor and demand so many columns of space each day," said Mr. Shankland. "It would be disorganizing. It is the same situation that governors' and mayors' councils are talking about in connection with bureaus which overlap state and local functions.

"There is general concern among school educators about this. The situation keeps us guessing. Consider the national youth administration that congress let die. At the start it administered doles to needy students. Then the bureau set up NYA training schools in competition with local technical schools. The NYA was only one of about 30 departments and bureaus which sometimes regard education as one of their functions.

"The war and navy departments have West Point and Annapolis. These should be federal schools. But the Lanham act, with its federal works function, is different with its twilight zone school activities. There is the demand for lunches for children and federal money pops up somewhere. We can't keep track of it. The bureaus are constantly changing their names."

Mr. Shankland explained three ways that school lunches may be provided thru federal funds: A direct dole to the child, a federally subsidized school lunch room, or the government in the school restaurant business.

HAWKS LOSE, 6-4; STILL NEED PLAYOFF POINT

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, March 14.—When Babe Ruth was in his heydey, his huge form was not allowed to darken the New York Yankees' sunny Florida training camp until he had ended his famous salary squabbles. . . . But in this year of 1944 it's different. . . . Ed Barrow, the Yankees' president, has relaxed this old rule, realizing that these are unusual times. . . . All Yankees, signed or unsigned, were welcomed at the world champions' training grounds at Atlantic City. . . . It's estimated that more than 150,000 service men and women will see the Yankees play this season without charge if the daily ticket allotments are used. . . . The American league team is giving 1,500 passes for weekday games, 3,000 on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. . . . Other big league teams, of course, have similar programs. . . . Lt. Comdr. Carl Stockholm, the old six day bicycle rider, believes there will be a strong revival of participant sports after the war. . . . He especially is enthusiastic over the future of the youth hostel movement, which was making headway in New England and other parts of the country when the war broke out. . . . Young and old of both sexes set out on week-end or vacation trips afoot, by bicycle, or canoe, making prescribed objectives each day. . . . At night there is a hostel to welcome the travelers. . . . It's usually an old home, presided over by a well qualified couple who are chaperones. . . . The tourists cook their own meals and follow rigid rules, with loss of their cards the penalty for infractions. . . . "The people have learned in this war the necessity of protecting their health," says Lt. Comdr. Stockholm.

Babe Ruth.

Lt. Comdr. Carl Stockholm.

A representative of the Boston Yankees, new member of the National Football league, was surprised when the Bears' Luke Johnsos turned down an attractive offer as coach. . . . He was even more surprised when Luke declared, "I'm in the paper business and I coach just for fun." Johnsos is a paper salesman, but this phase of his career suffers slightly when football time rolls around for the Bears, which is mighty early. . . . Bob Tribble, sophomore swimmer at Northwestern, competed 23 times against Adolph Kiefer. . . . The score: Kiefer, 23; Tribble, 0. . . . But Bob hopes to beat the great man some day. . . . Skis worn by Sgt. Torger Tokle, the champion, are eight feet long and weigh 19 pounds. . . . Earl Sheely, the former White Sox first baseman, has a neat deal as manager of Sacramento's home owned baseball club in the Pacific Coast league. . . . He'll draw $8,000 in 1944, plus $2,000 in stock. . . . The club president, Joe O'Neill, is on a $1 a year basis.

War Time Portrait.

A Crosby record on the air,
And V-mail note from "over there,"
Who says that life is bad?
Unrationed coffee, drifting steam,
A sofa is the place to dream
About a distant lad.

A good day's work [now in the past]
Good magazines and TRIB enmassed
To while away the time;
A Red Cross sticker on the pane,
The friendly sound of splashing rain,
And Jazbo's cheering rime.

A little puncture on the arm,
[Deposit should he come to harm]
New war bond for the drive;
A service star within the heart
Consoling while they are apart
And bidding love to thrive.

The picture I have conjured up
Of lass at home, alone, to sup,
Her thoughts all in a whirl . . .
You recognize them! Sure you do!
The photograph is one of you . . .

It's That Time o' Year.

My boy friend, Freddie, said he just couldn't fall asleep last night on account he was so excited about his school's chances in the basketball tournament the next day. Of course, the two hamburgers, piece of pie, two bottles of pop, a sack of pop corn, and three bananas he had before going to bed couldn't have had a thing to do with it!—A. P. A.

Contributors' Contest.

The Contributors' Contest is swell news and sweet are the words, "Bruce Caldwell, Dr. Michael H. Dally, Hilda Butler Farr, Frank H. Keith, Anne C. Now, if only the works of Jazbo, Larmer, Salak, and 20 or 30 others could be scratched off the list, there might possibly be a chance for my entry.—Lass o' Laughter.

Boston, Mass., March 14 (AP).—The Boston Bruins kept alive their mathematical chances for a National Hockey league playoff berth tonight by defeating the Chicago Blackhawks, 6 to 4, before a crowd of 7,500 in Boston Garden. During that engagement, Boston's Herb Cain collected two assists to boost his season's total to 75, a new league record.

The Blackhawks needed only a tie [one point] to clinch the league's last post-season berth and they were in a deadlock until the last six minutes of play.

Bruins Need 2 Victories.

If the Bruins manage to win their last two games with Detroit and Toronto while the Blackhawks are losing their final three contests, one with Montreal and two with Detroit, those teams would wind up in a 47 point tie with the same number of victories, losses and ties. The Bruins, however, would qualify for the playoffs because of their much higher scoring total over the 50 game season.

While spotting the Bruins three goals, the Blackhawks were held scoreless by Rookie Goalie Maurice Courteau until the fourth minute of second period play. During that stretch Al Rittinger, Norm Calladine and Pat Egan drove pucks into the Chicago net.

Dahlstrom Scores Twice.

Cully Dahlstrom then put the Blackhawks into the game by scoring twice in 20 seconds and, after Bill Cowley collected the fourth Boston score, Bill Mosienko and Doug Bentley broke thru Courteau to pull their jittery forces into a 4-4 tie.

Late in the final period, Bep Guidolin and Buzz Boll countered to keep the league's playoff picture unsettled. Cain assisted on the Egan and Boll scores as Bentley, his runnerup in the individual scoring race, picked up two points to boost his total to 72. Before the game, the veteran Cowley was presented with the Elizabeth C. Dufresne trophy, voted annually to the most valuable Bruin player by the Boston hockey writers.

ORTIZ DEFEATS AGUILAR; KEEPS BANTAM TITLE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14 (AP).—Manuel Ortiz left his bean and cabbage fields on his Imperial valley farm long enough tonight to successfully defend his bantamweight boxing championship with a close 15 round decision over southpaw Ernesto Aguilar of Mexico City. Ortiz weighed 118 pounds and Aguilar 116½.

Aguilar, very muscular and mustached, made a surprisingly good showing against the titleholder and the decision of Referee Charley Randolph and Judges Reggie Gilmore and Frankie Van was not popular with the crowd of 10,500 that packed Olympic Auditorium.

The referee voted for a draw, giving the points 83 to 82 for Ortiz, but both judges voted for the champion by a fairly comfortable margin.

MUSIAL SHIFTS TO 1-A IN DRAFT, BOARD REPORTS

Donora, Pa., March 14 (AP).—Stan Musial, voted the outstanding player of the National league for 1943 and the league's leading hitter with the St. Louis Cards last season, has been classified 1-A in the draft, the chief clerk of local board 1 said today.

Musial, 23, is married and has a 3 year old son. He worked in a steel mill here during the winter, quitting last week to take a vacation before reporting for spring training with the Cardinals.

Stan came up to the Cardinals at the end of the 1941 season, making the jump from a class D league in little more than a year.

WILSON ORDERS VIGOROUS DRILL AT FRENCH LICK

Cub Manager Pays Visit to Wrigley Field.

Sports Preview

ARCH WARD'S sports preview, heard every Wednesday night over W-G-N and the Mutual network, will originate in the studios of WOR, New York, tonight. Mr. Ward's guest will be Ford Frick, president of the National league. The program will be aired by W-G-N from 9:15 to 9:30 p. m.

One of Manager Jim Wilson's early pronouncements yesterday as he made his first visit of the year to Wrigley field was that the Cubs would employ a more vigorous working schedule at their French Lick, Ind., training base when drills start next Monday.

Wilson, tanned from a long stay in Florida, said his experiences at French Lick last spring convinced him that athletes can work harder in a northern climate than in the balmy south where big league clubs used to exercise.

Less Training Time.

"We don't have as much time this spring as last, either," added Wilson, "because of the earlier opening of the season."

Wilson, who will start his fourth season as manager of the Cubs, and General Manager Jim Gallagher, seemed in no hurry to talk over plans for 1944. They chatted about almost everything except baseball—Wilson's son, Bob, a bomber pilot at Midland, Tex.; income taxes, the rainy weather, and the 78 pounds that Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis had shed.

"I hope the players work as hard as Bob has," grinned Wilson.

Gallagher later announced that Frank LeRoy of Chicago, 6 foot 4½ inch right handed pitcher, had signed a Cub contract and will accompany the team to French Lick. Le Roy, age 23 and who weighs 195 pounds, has been discharged by the army.

Jimmy Dykes Due Today.

The White Sox manager, Jimmy Dykes, is due in Chicago early this afternoon from California and he no doubt will be pleased to learn that Mike Tresh, who has been the team's No. 1 catcher for several seasons, has decided to join the team at French Lick Friday. Tresh, who has agreed to salary terms, told Vice President Harry Grabiner yesterday that he would play baseball until called for military service.

The Sox learned that Tony Cuccinello, veteran infielder, and Buck Ross, pitcher, have been rejected after taking their physical for military service. Both are signed.

31 White Sox Signed.

Grabiner reported that Edmund Lopat, southpaw pitcher who won 19 and lost 10 in 1943 for Little Rock in the Southern association, also has signed for the 1944 campaign. Including Tresh, 31 of the 39 players on the White Sox list now have accepted terms.

The Sox lost one of their rookies yesterday when Joe Cannizo of Chicago, a shortstop who was signed as a free agent, reported he has been ordered to take his pre-induction examination.

URAM, PACKERS' VETERAN BACK, TO ENTER NAVY

Minneapolis, Minn., March 14 (AP).—Andy Uram, veteran back of the Green Bay, Wis., Packers and one time star half back at the University of Minnesota, has passed his preinduction physical examination and has been accepted for the navy. The veteran of six years with the Packers said he expects to leave for navy duty the latter part of this month.

Uram, 29, has been working in a war plant, but left today with his wife and 3 year old daughter for Webster, S. D., to visit Mrs. Uram's parents.

Mel Harder Signs 17th Cleveland Contract

Cleveland, O., March 14 (AP).—Mel Harder, 34 year old veteran Cleveland Indian pitcher, signed a contract today for his 17th season as an Indian moundsman, and will report to the Lafayette, Ind., training camp Monday.

CHICAGO BASEBALL WARM-UPS

Times certainly have changed, Manager Jim Wilson (left) of the Cubs learned shortly after his arrival in Wrigley field yesterday when Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis spurned his offer of a sandwich. That's a cracker and cottage cheese Lewis is holding. Lewis is reported to have lost 78 pounds by dieting during the winter. The Cubs will leave Sunday night for French Lick, Ind.

Shaughnessy to Quit Bears for Redskins

Clark Shaughnessy, the scholarly football coach who in five years has forward passed himself from the University of Chicago to Stanford, to the University of Maryland, and to Pittsburgh, is on the move again—but in professional football.

Shaughnessy's unofficial connection for a decade with the Chicago Bears has ended, Ralph Brizzolara, acting general manager of the world pro champions, admitted yesterday. Shaughnessy has gone over to the camp of the Bears' No. 1 enemy, the Washington Redskins.

He'll Try to Stop T.

He will retain his college post with the Pitt Panthers, which is reported to carry an annual salary of $12,000, and serve the eastern champions in an advisory capacity. His biggest job will be to show the Redskins how to stop the Bears' T formation man in motion offense, which he and Lt. Comdr. George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, started perfecting 10 years ago when Shaughnessy was football coach on the Midway. But the T, as the Bears use it—is something like a forest fire—easy to start, but hard to stop. The Bears' attack is so diversified that it is next to impossible to counter with a successful defense.

Each fall, Shaughnessy joined the Bears' coaches and players at their training camp in Delafield, Wis., drawing up plays by the dozens, many of which saw the light of day when the Bears [and Clark's own college eleven] opened the season.

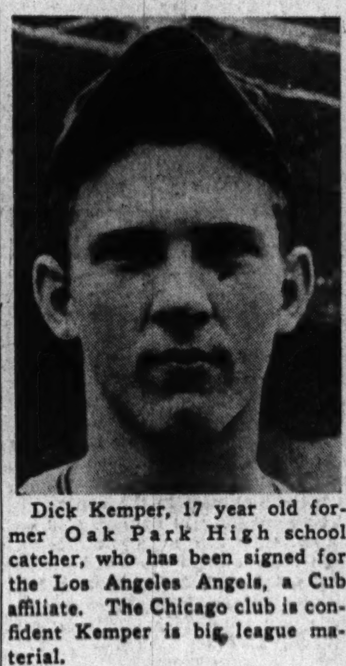
Marshall, De Groot Meet Today.

"I understand Clark had a very advantageous offer," said Brizzolaro, "one he couldn't turn down. We didn't want to stand in his way, but we are sorry to lose such a contact, especially to the Redskins."

George Preston Marshall, owner of the Redskins, is due in Washington today from the Pacific coast to confer with Dudley De Groot. Marshall is expected to announce De Groot, who recently quit as University of Rochester coach, as successor to Arthur [Dutch] Bergman at the helm of the Redskins. Bergman resigned after coaching the Redskins in 1943 to the eastern championship, after which his team was walloped for the league title in Chicago by the Bears.

Johnny Weissmuller's Swimming Medals Stolen

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14 (AP).—Johnny Weissmuller's national and Olympic games swimming medals and trophies were stolen from his Brentwood home, his wife, Mrs. Beryel Weissmuller, reported to police today. The awards included 17 national gold medals, five Olympic games gold medals, and four Olympic games bronze plaques.



Dick Kemper, 17 year old former Oak Park High school catcher, who has been signed for the Los Angeles Angels, a Cub affiliate. The Chicago club is confident Kemper is big league material.

Jack Manders Hears Reports of His Death

An erroneous report of his death as an American flyer in the Southwest Pacific has brought many telephone calls and letters to the Chicago home of Jack Manders, one time Minnesota and Chicago Bears' football star.

The March 17 issue of Yank magazine carries this report:

"KILLED IN ACTION: Capt. Automatic Jack Manders, ex-Chicago Bear kicking star, when he dived his crippled plane into a Japanese merchant ship."

It was learned that Yank magazine picked up this item from a New York newspaper and that the magazine will make a retraction in its next issue.

Weber, Joliet Vie for Junior Title Tonight

Weber High school, altho losing the Catholic league's senior championship to Mount Carmel, has a chance to take the circuit's junior crown in tonight's game with the south section champions, Catholic High of Joliet, in Lane Tech gymnasium, beginning at 8 p. m.

The only remaining prep title contest scheduled in Chicago is Mayor Kelly's second annual all-city double header between the champions of the City and Catholic leagues in Chicago Stadium on April 8. The winner of tonight's game meets Parker of the City league in the first game on April 8, followed by the senior contest between defending champion Mount Carmel and South Shore.

Depka Heads Weber.

Each team enters tonight's game on an equal basis. Weber's leading scorer is Joe Depka, who won the league's junior scoring race with 188 points in 12 games. In second place was his teammate, Capt. Jules Pandera, with 172 points, while no Joliet player finished within the first 10 scorers.

With the two leading scorers, Coach Frank McGrath will line up Wiggy Pojok at forward, and Milt Mayer and Richard Zaleski at guards. Depka plays forward while Pandera is the center. Pojok, Depka and Pandera are veterans from last year's north section championship team which lost to Mount Carmel in the league playoff game.

Win 10 Out of 12.

Father Owen Cote, coach of the Joliet five, will start Paul Hudak and Bill Rogers at forward, Pete Piazza at center, and Fred Boseo and Bob Nelson at guard. Catholic had a season's record of 20 victories and five defeats, its league record being 10 out of 12.

The suburban entry employs an alternating man-to-man defense combined with a fast break on offense.

MONTGOMERY'S TIRED; ANGOTT BOUT CANCELED

New York, March 14 (AP).—The New York Boxing commission today ordered its lightweight champion, Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia, to take an eight-week rest. The order automatically eliminated a bout between Montgomery and Sammy Angott, former National Boxing association lightweight champion, slated for March 31 in Madison Square Garden.

It left Promoter Mike Jacobs smiling. He already had lined up another show for March 31, between Juan Zurita, who won Angott's N. B. A. laurels last week in Hollywood, and Beau Jack, who lost his New York crown to Montgomery the previous week.

PUERTO RICANS QUIT NEW YORK GOLDEN GLOVES

Island Team Is Irked by Unfavorable Decision.

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 14.—America's good neighbor policy was disturbed somewhat tonight when the team of Puerto Rican boxers competing in the New York Golden Gloves tournament withdrew from the meet in the middle of the semi-final round at the Ridgewood Grove arena in Brooklyn.

Louis Rosario, manager of the group from the Carribean ordered his team to quit the competition after an unpopular decision that went to Cecil Schoonmaker, New York flyweight, over Francisco Colon Garcia, 19, a high school student from San Juan. Two Puerto Ricans, William Hernandez, bantamweight, and Alejandro Garcia, middleweight, still were in the running for championships of the tournament at the time Rosario withdrew his team.

Hernandez had qualified for the finals before his team manager ordered the withdrawal. After that action, Alejandro Garcia defaulted to Leon Thompson of Charlotte, N. C.

Ignores Sponsor's Plea.

William Fritzinger, president of the New York Daily News Welfare association, sponsor of the meet, appealed to the sportsmanship of the islanders, urging them to continue in the tournament and pointing out that the management was not responsible for decisions. Judges and referees appointed by the Metropolitan Amateur Athletic Union are in charge once the boxers enter the ring. The plea made no impression on Rosario, who cabled the Puerto Rico government that he was returning the team to San Juan immediately. He instructed his boxers to pack their togs and leave the building.

The Puerto Rico team which was expected to make a strong bid for the team championship in the New York meet, was a disappointment. Only Hernandez, who qualified for New York's intercity team last year and lost to his Chicago opponent, measured up to the islanders' reputation. The withdrawal of the squad will not seriously weaken the easterners in their 17th annual match with Chicago's winners in Madison Square Garden, March 27.

Fans Question Decision.

The decision that enraged the director of the Puerto Rico squad may have been a miscarriage of justice. Even Brooklyn fans, who always are loyal to their own, yelled, "Take them bums out," meaning the judges who returned the verdict. It was by no means the worst ruling that has occurred in New York bouts.

The personnel of the New York squad which will go into training Friday for the intercity bouts will be determined tomorrow night in the tournament finals in Madison Square Garden. A capacity crowd in excess of 19,000 is assured.

New York led the field of seven teams in number of qualifiers for the finals after tonight's program. Six of Pop Knickerbocker's representatives—Schoonmaker, flyweight; Frank Perone, featherweight; Max Grothe, lightweight; James Palmer, welterweight; Hy Bronstein, middleweight, and Herb Kroeten, light heavyweight—survived the semi-finals.

Palmer Is Best in Meet.

The 147 pound division produced the best fighter this correspondent has seen in the tournament. He is James Palmer, a rangy Negro who is serving as a metalsmith in the navy. He wears New York's colors. In polishing off Dan Hickey of Jacksonville, Fla., he showed poise, punch, skill, and ring generalship seldom possessed by an amateur. Palmer should have no difficulty disposing of Billy Tiger, Oklahoma Indian who represents Charlotte, N. C., in the finals tomorrow night.

Hy Bronstein, New York middle-

YANKEES READY TO DO BEST; IT'S USUALLY ENOUGH

McCarthy Leaves Worry Angle to Others.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 14 (AP).—No matter what happens this season, Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees is ready for it. Shying clear of all predictions about the future of baseball or the fate of the world champions in the American league, McCarthy's general attitude can be summed up as "We'll do our best."

The Yankees have an armory 100 by 200 feet for their early work. The Bader field baseball diamond freezes at night and softens under the morning sun so that it will not be available for at least a week, but it will serve the purpose when it's time to start hitting and playing games. McCarthy will have a pocket sized infield laid out in the armory so that he can start work.

Gordon, Crosetti Missing.

This year's combination around second base may be a new one. Joe Gordon is on the indefinite list and Frank Crosetti has not signed. Oscar Grimes plays second and so does George Stirnweiss who came up from Newark in that position before moving to short last spring. Don Savage, who gets first call at third base, also can play all infield positions and some fancy experimenting may be in order.

ONLY 10 GIANTS UNSIGNED.

Lakewood, N. J., March 14 (AP).—With the signing of Johnny Kerr and Napoleon Reyes, infielders, and Charley Mead, outfielder, late today the Giants' holdouts have been reduced to 10, not counting Pitcher Johnny Wittig whose status will remain uncertain until after he takes his pre-induction examination in Baltimore on March 28.

A'S PITCHING GOOD.

Frederick, Md., March 14 (AP).—Connie Mack heard the first good news of the Philadelphia Athletics' training season today, when Pitcher Russ Christopher indulged in some hard throwing and announced that his arm felt as good as it did before it went bad last season.

Christopher's recovery gives the A's a formidable hurling staff on paper, compared with some in the big leagues. Right now Mack is figuring on a starting staff of Buck Newsom, Lum Harris, Christopher, Jess Flores, Don Black, and possibly Luke Hamlin, with Joe Berry, Carl Scheib, Tal Abernathy, Bert Kuczynski, and Jack McGillen on hand for relief.

BLUE JAYS HAVE HOLDOUTS.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 14 (AP).—The Philadelphia Blue Jays announced today they have signed 20 players in addition to Manager Fred Fitzsimmons and Coaches Merv Shea and Chuck Klein, and that 11 others are unsigned.

Notable among the unsigned are Ron Northey, outfielder, and Jimmy Wasdell, first baseman, both of whom are making more money.

DODGERS REACH CAMP.

Bear Mountain, N. Y., March 14 (AP).—A small squad of Brooklyn Dodgers arrived today ready for their first workout tomorrow afternoon at the army field house in nearby West Point.

Four players, Curt Davis and Tom Warren, pitchers; Luis Olmo, outfielder; Eddie Stevens, infielder; Manager Leo Durocher, Coaches Chuck Dressen, and Johnny Corriden and newspaper men made up the party.

RED SOX SIGN TWO.

Boston, Mass., March 14 (AP).—Catchers Bill Conroy and Roy Partee returned their signed contracts today, thereby reducing the Red Sox unsigned list to two, Bob Johnson, outfielder, and Lou Lucier, pitcher.

HEAT TURNED ON FOR TIGERS.

Evansville, Ind., March 14 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers opened spring training here today in a 69 degree temperature reminiscent of pre-war training camp days in Florida.

Rudy York, whose 34 home runs topped the major leagues last season, and nine other regulars were among more than 30 who took part in the first two hour workout of the year. York immediately went into a salary huddle with club officials.

MEISTERS WILL BOWL NATIONAL TEAM TONIGHT

Meister Braus, week-end winners of the Victory bowling tournament, will meet National Bowling Equipment team in the feature match of the Classic league tonight at Pioneer Arcade, 1535 N. Pulaski rd. At present the Meisters are in second place, one game behind the league leading Washington Shirts. The Nationals share third with Monarch Beers.

Although the Nationals are in the race, they have yet to win from the Meister Braus. They have rolled 12 games and with a share of these victories the Nationals would be on top the league standings. Washington Shirts meet the last place United States Brewery team and Monarch Beers meet Thompson's Restaurants in other matches.

Fort Wayne Five Wins National League Title

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 14 (AP).—The Fort Wayne Zollners triumphed, 48 to 38, over the Sheboygan Redskins for their third straight victory in the National Basketball league final playoffs tonight and won the league championship held last year by the Redskins.

GLOVERS GATHER TODAY

Chicago's Golden Gloves squad, which meets New York March 27 in Madison Square Garden in the 17th annual intercity tournament, assembles this afternoon for the first drill in the Illinois Athletic club gymnasium. A majority of 29 amateur boxers invited to join the squad will be present.

Daily workouts will be held at the Illinois Athletic club. The squad will leave a week from today for New York and will finish preparations there to defend the intercity title.

Ragon Kinney of Camp Callan, Cal., and Cpl. Dick Young, Fort Worth, Tex., middleweight, remained in Chicago after the championship bouts last Friday night. Kinney was runner-up for the heavyweight title.

They'll Report Today.

Ray Standifer, Cleveland's light heavyweight champion; Collins Brown, C. Y. O. 160 pounder, who won this weight division for Chicago; Major Jones, Kansas City featherweight, and Levi Southall, from Camp Ellis, who represented Peoria, are the title holders reporting today. Buddy Holderfield, Arkansas high school youngster who won the lightweight championship for Memphis, will arrive Sunday morning.

Lawrence Watson, Omaha light heavyweight, will arrive this morning. Cpl. Sam Schipani, St. Louis lightweight from Jefferson Barracks, is due early this afternoon. Camp Ellis, with five boxers on the intercity squad, has set an all-time record. Besides Southall, the others are Matt Hammond, bantamweight; Gene Joyce, lightweight; Vincent Di Venti, light heavyweight, and William Gilliam, heavyweight.

Plan Daily Workouts.

The Minneapolis fighters, Frank O'Hern, flyweight, and Mert Herrick, welterweight who won the Barney Ross sportsmanship trophy, also are scheduled to reach Chicago this morning.

Coaches Fred Caserio, Dick Fitzpatrick, Bob Howard, and Eddie Nichols greeted the Chicago Glovers for the opening drill. Issy Kline, who with Caserio heads the staff in the absence of Capt. John Behr, will return Friday morning from New York, where he scouted the eastern fighters in the Manhattan tournament.

Three Share Golf Lead in North, South

Pinehurst, N. C., March 14 (AP).—Beating par by a single stroke, Gene Sarazen, Sgt. Clayton Heafner, and Leonard Dodson tied for the first round leadership in the North and South open golf tournament today with scores of 71.

Sarazen covered the first nine in three under par, but a faulty putter on the way home cost him his chance to gain undisputed lead.

Putter Fails Sarazen.

Gene holed short putts for birdie fours on the fourth and fifth holes and struck his approach two feet from the cup for an easy birdie three on the eighth. Then he three putted the eleventh, was trapped on the fifteenth, and missed opportunities for birdies with his putts on the seventeenth and eighteenth.

Altho Jug McSpaden, Byron Nelson, and other topnotchers skipped this $3,000 tournament because it was not sponsored by the P. G. A., there were 87 competitors, including 47 professionals. However, only five were able to beat or equal par. Amateur Ed Furgol of Detroit and Jimmy Johnson of Armington, Mich., had par 72s.

Lt. Horton Smith Trails.

Bobby Cruickshank, the defending champion, was bracketed with four others at 73, while Lt. Horton Smith was a stroke behind. The second round starts at noon tomorrow.

JONES STOPPED BY ARMSTRONG IN FIFTH ROUND

Miami, Fla., March 14 (AP).—Henry Armstrong, one-time triple title holder, tonight lived up to predictions in his third fistic comeback when he knocked out Johnny Jones of New York City early in the fifth round of a scheduled 10 round fight before a crowd of 7,700.

The Los Angeles Negro swarmed over Jones with a two fisted attack and dropped him for the count in 1:10 of the fifth with a right to the jaw after felling him for a nine count as the round opened.

TAYLORVILLE TO BATTLE JINX IN STATE TOURNEY

BY EDWARD PRELL.

If Illinois state tournament tradition prevails, the terrific record of Taylorville High school will be a liability to this team, which has won all of its 41 games this season. Taylorville's Tornadoes, who have scored two points to every one for their rivals, will get their first experience in basketball tournament pressure tomorrow night against East St. Louis, coached by Lewis [Pick] Dehner, the one-time Illini star.

In past Illinois tournaments unbeaten teams usually have stumbled. Three years ago Centralia brought a perfect record to the big show in Champaign's George Huff gymnasium, but lost in the semi-finals to Morton of Cicero. That Centralia team, led by Dwight Eddleman, had an even more spectacular record than the one Taylorville and its coach, Dolph Stanley, have built up.

Want to See Record Spoiled.

There's a limit to the mental pressure that 16 and 17 year olds can stand. The importance of the event, the mad cheering of 7,000 partisan spectators, and the general excitement generated can make a farce, at times, of form. All except Taylorville's rabid followers will be hoping for an upset. It's Taylorville against the field, making the job of its players and coach all the harder.

If Taylorville gets past East St. Louis, its second round opponent will be the winner of the Kewanee-Paris game. Paris won the state title last year and in this campaign has rolled up 23 triumphs in 31 games. Paris lost to Centralia in the 1942 state finals, and since then has won 28 consecutive tournament games.

Kewanee, Taylorville's other possible second round opponent, has a record of 23 victories and 5 defeats.

Chicago Champions Meet Quincy.

Taylorville has no one to compare with the high scoring Eddleman in his high school days at Centralia, but it has an efficient pair who get the job done just as effectively. They are Johnny Orr and Ronald Bontemps, who have been basketball teammates since grade school. Each is 6 feet 3 inches tall. Almost matching this pair in height and scoring skill is Don Jannsen, a 200 pounder. The starting guards are David Jones and Schulte Bishop.

South Shore, the Chicago representative, which is confident it belongs in the same class with the other 15 teams, will leave for Champaign at 9:15 o'clock this morning. The squad will drill this afternoon, then try to relax before its opening round game with Quincy, a state tournament perennial.

The Proviso Township High school basketball squad and its coach, S. O. Storby, have been rewarded with a trip to the state meet. Proviso lost to Elgin in the sectional finals last week, 44 to 42.

Budge Loses to Kramer in Net Benefit

New York, March 14 (AP).—Coast Guard Cadet John Kramer defeated a well upholstered Lt. Don Budge of the United States army air forces, 6-3, 6-2, tonight to the astonishment of 9,000 spectators in a Red Cross benefit tennis show in Madison Square Garden.

Budge, in private the world professional net champion, showed little of the class that carried him thru a six year span since joining the play for pay troupe in 1938 with the loss of only a single match.

Kramer in Charge Thruout.

Kramer was in charge all the way tonight. He closed out the first set with an unbroken run of three games, acing the pro champion on set point.

In an earlier match Alice Marble, winner of women's singles, doubles, and mixed doubles at Wimbledon in 1939, defeated Mary Hardwick of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-1. The two girls were flown here from the Canal Zone, where they were entertaining soldiers.

Segura Defeats Wood.

Francisco [Pancho] Segura, who was flown here from his native Guayaquil, Ecuador, for the match, mastered Sidney B. Wood Jr., former United States internationalist, 6-2, 6-1, in a match almost devoid of volleying. Segura didn't remove his warm-up sweater until he led, 4-1, in the first set.

The gross gate totaled $19,270, of which $5,000 was derived from the sale of advertising in the program.

POWDERED MILK HERALDED TO REPLACE FLUID

Dairy Leader Predicts It Will Cost Less.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Consumers will get cheaper milk after the war, and may buy it in the form of whole milk powder instead of a fluid, Arthur H. Lauterbach, manager of the Pure Milk association, told the association's 19th annual convention yesterday in Hotel Sherman.

The use of fluid milk will not disappear, he said, but whole milk powder is a coming factor in milk consumption that will help to lower prices considerably. He urged the 1,500 delegates to permit the association to buy up country plant facilities so that the farmer could achieve price stability after the war.

Baruch Report Condemned.

Lauterbach criticized the Baruch report on post-war planning because it gave no recognition to agriculture. He denounced Bernard M. Baruch as a "New York banker with his eye on Europe who can't see anything west of the Hudson river."

"It is as impossible to make any post-war plans without including agriculture as it is to forget labor or industry; agriculture must have a prominent voice in any planning," the speaker said.

When Lauterbach remarked that things would be different when the Republicans got into office after the next election, the audience applauded for several minutes.

Milk Income Up 9 Millions.

Charles Cosgrove, association secretary, reported that members had produced almost 1½ billion pounds of milk last year, earning a net return of more than 44 million dollars. This represented an increase of $9,210,437 over returns in 1942, he said.

The resolution committee asked that the government cease shipping butter overseas for civilian use while consumers at home were urged to buy substitutes. It also asked that the ration point value of butter be lowered before American dairy men lost the post-war market for butter as a result of civilians' inability to buy it.

ALLERGIES HIT 1 IN 10 PERSONS, DOCTOR REPORTS

Allergies affect nearly 10 per cent of the population, Dr. Karl D. Figley of Toledo, O., asserted last night in a talk before the annual clinical conference of the Chicago Medical society in the Stevens hotel.

Hay fever, with three million sufferers, and asthma, with one million, are leading allergy diseases, he said. Ragweed is chief offender in the hay fever cases. Substances which cause or complicate asthma are found in breakfast food, toilet preparations, insect sprays, and other common substances.

Penicillin is not a momentary "wonder drug," but one in which treatment must be continued until recovery seems definite, said Dr. Donald G. Anderson of Evans Memorial hospital, Boston. Dr. Anderson emphasized the drug's value in staphylococcal infections, but warned it was not effective against all bacteria. Further research will be speeded up when greater supplies are available, he said. The sessions will continue thru Friday.

NEW ILLINI TEST BEFORE DEGREES: SPEAK ENGLISH

The college graduate who still says "It don't" and "I feel badly" may be extinct a few decades hence. Progress toward his extermination was made yesterday when the University of Illinois board of trustees, meeting in the University club, approved a recommendation that all undergraduates in the Urbana departments must demonstrate a reasonable proficiency in the use of English before being granted degrees.

Upper classmen who get low grades in rhetoric must take a qualifying examination in English. Failing to pass, they will be compelled to take an extra one semester course to remedy their deficiencies.

This was the board's annual meeting. The following officers were reëlected: Park Livingston, Chicago, president; Harrison E. Cunningham, Urbana, secretary; Lloyd Morey, Urbana, controler; Chester R. Davis, Chicago, and Frank A. Jensen, La Salle, members of the executive committee. Irvin L. Porter, Chicago, remains as treasurer; his term does not expire until March, 1945.

CIVILIANS TAKE UP ARMY PLANE; BOTH ARE KILLED

New York, March 14 (AP).—Two civilian mechanics making a flight described as "unauthorized" in a twin engined army cargo plane were killed today when the huge ship crashed and burned at a New York airport.

The air transport command described the hop as "unscheduled" and a spokesmen for mechanic's employers added that the men had no right to fly a plane.

The victims were the only occupants of the craft, a C-47 21 passenger transport converted for cargo use. They were identified as Eugene J. Glick, 20, of the Bronx, and Rudolph Brosowski, 22, of Woodside, employed at the airport.

AIR HERO MEETS BABY BROTHER AND OWN CHILD

Capt. Richard W. Lyng, 23, a bomber pilot and son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Lyng, 7521 Wabash av., arrived home last night. He was wearing the distinguished flying cross and the air medal with three oak leaf clusters, won in the last eight months in 25 bombing missions over Europe. Two of the missions ended in crashes, but the pilot was uninjured.

Greeting him were his parents, his wife, Mrs. Rita Cook Lyng, and two new family members, his daughter, Patricia Margaret, born Nov. 21, and his brother, William Patrick, born Sept. 18.

Capt. and Mrs. Lyng and his parents later went to St. Brendan's church for the novena Capt. Lyng's family has been making twice weekly since he entered the army, praying for his safe return. They don't expect to stop now, they said.

Capt. Lyng and his crew are credited with shooting down six enemy planes and they survived two accidents. After a raid on Schweinfurt, Germany, last October, their plane crashed and burned on an emergency landing field. Later, again in bad weather, Lyng's plane made a belly landing, because the wheels failed to function.

A PHYSICAL EXAMINATION MAY PREVENT DISABILITY

It may disclose a condition which, if you neglect it, will lead to serious trouble

In these days when our government is urging us all to help win the war by keeping fit, a routine physical examination was never more necessary. For it may bring to light a condition which, if you continue to neglect it, can easily result in partial or even complete disability.

At the Public Health Institute a thorough physical check-up including venereal tests takes less than an hour and costs only $3.00. Organized as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT," the Public Health Institute has given over 5,500,000 examinations and treatments since 1920.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, March 14 [AP].—Heavy pressure of military and lend-lease orders resulted in practically no new business in civilian cotton textile today. Traders anticipated no improvement in supplies. The woolen goods market was quiet. Mills made only limited allotments to the trade with indications that it will be difficult to obtain additional yardage for spring lines. The rayon goods market was quiet.

GEORGE W. HELME.

Any information you can give me on the George W. Helme company will be appreciated.—B. G.

Answer: The company produces about one-third of the snuff sold in the United States. The product is sold under 35 brand names, and the principal market is in the southern states. A substantial amount of the company's net income is derived from large holdings of marketable securities.

Earnings were remarkably steady even during the depression, but in recent years have shown a downward trend, largely because of increasing corporate tax rates.

Despite an increase in net sales for 1943, earnings dropped to $1,196,609, equal to $4 a share on the common stock, from $1,226,042, or $4.12 a share, for 1942.

Dividend payments on the common in recent years have exceeded per share earnings on the junior stock, but the company nevertheless has maintained a strong working capital position.

SURPLUS SALES GROWING THRU CHICAGO AREA

Federal Units Plan Bigger Disposal.

Sales Offices Listed

The Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday mailed its members a list of nearly 400 government offices that are engaged in disposing of surplus war goods, in many of which there is a civilian shortage. The association's bulletin explains the regulations under which the goods may be obtained by civilians.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

Disposal of surplus war materials has reached substantial proportions in the Chicago area and government machinery is being geared for larger scale operations as the war progresses toward victory, a survey of federal agencies showed yesterday.

Raw materials and finished products of nearly every description are included in the program for eventual disposal, a program in which business men have expressed deep interest because of its prospective effect on post-war economy.

Increased Ouput Is Aim.

George A. Dinnen of the war production board said that the current plans of all government agencies are designed to facilitate war production, minimize the shock to civilian economy, and prevent "scalpers" from profiting thru the reshuffling of materials.

Operation of the controled materials plan keeps steel and other raw materials in authorized channels, he said. Finished goods are sold only to dealers who were in business prior to Dec. 1, 1943, a provision adopted to thwart scalpers. Prices are held in line by OPA ceilings.

Surpluses result thru cutbacks in government contracts, thru cancellation of orders, and, to a limited extent, thru overestimation of the amount of material needed. When a contractor reports a surplus of steel, for example, the type and quantity involved is recorded so that it may be made available to another manufacturer.

Act as Clearing House.

"We bring buyer and seller together, and determine that the steel is going into essential production," Dinnen said. "We don't handle the money.

"By matching the surpluses of one manufacturer against the needs of another, we probably have kept many plants operating that otherwise would have had to shut down for lack of materials. The system eliminates the congestion of materials in plants that have no immediate use for them and avoids the use of man power for the production of similar materials in other plants."

Disposal of some of the machine tools used in war plants is under jurisdiction of the army's Chicago ordnance district. Officials said that all government agencies that might have use for a machine tool are circularized before it is disposed of, and that a sale for junk is arranged only as a last resort.

5,000 Buyers on Navy List.

Surplus navy goods are grouped in approximately 20 different categories and offered to as many as 5,000 potential buyers, an official of the navy's Chicago redistribution and disposal office explained. Before buyers may bid, however, the materials are offered to other government agencies and to war contractors.

Because of the wide variety of manufacturing in this naval district, a large proportion of surplus material is disposed of thru exchange among contractors, reducing the quantity sold at public auction or thru other means, the official said.

Chicago department store buyers were reported to be accumulating wearing apparel and other merchandise thru purchases made at sales of surplus goods at military establishments thruout the country.

WAR CONTRACT BILL APPROVED BY HOUSE GROUP

Washington, D. C., March 14 (AP).—A proposed bill under which a war contract termination board headed by Lindsay Warren, controler general, would have six months in which to review settlements of terminated war contracts before they became final was approved today by the house military affairs committee.

The measure provides for full and immediate payment, by the government, of all claims which are ascertainable without dispute, such as completed work under contracts, with 90 per cent payments on amounts in disagreement and a government-guaranteed loan for the remaining 10 per cent.

Should the board fail to note objections within the six month period, the settlements would become final. Contractors unsatisfied with agreements and findings of the board would have recourse to the court of claims.

Carriers' Need of Fixed Labor Plan Outlined

Employes hired by the railroads in 1942 and 1943 were almost enough to man the entire industry, H. L. Carter, director, bureau of employment and claims, railroad retirement board, said yesterday. He was emphasizing the need of a single, nation-wide employment stabilization plan for the industry in a talk before the 44th annual meeting of the American Railway Engineering association in the Palmer House.

In the maintenance of way department alone it is estimated almost as many employes were hired in 1943 as were employed in the peak month of September, 1943, Carter said.

Draft Gets Thousands.

Selective service took approximately 270,000 experienced railroad employes up to the end of 1943. The Association of American Railroads estimates that at least 50,000 more will be taken in the first six months of 1944 and that for 27 class 1 railroads 12,776 maintenance of way employes are already scheduled for call.

Carter urged the addition of many more railroad occupations to the list of critical occupations to offset the drafting of more highly skilled employes and their transfer to other industries.

"What is needed is a single nation-wide employment stabilization plan for the industry which would be uniform in its basic principles and which would be uniformly administered, interpreted, and applied in all sections of the country," Carter said.

USES Has 10 Forms.

"While the United States employment service has used about 10 different forms for the statements of availability, the [retirement] board has been able, with the permission of the war man power commission, to adopt one standard form for use in the railroad industry. But such uniformity can generally be accomplished only for the less essential elements of employment stabilization and does not affect the variety of basic principles."

W. G. Powrie, engineer, maintenance of way, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, told how high school boys, 16 and 17 years old, were employed part time during the school term and on a full time basis during summer vacations.

Adoption of a sound national transportation policy based upon equity to all and special favors to none was advocated by James H. Symes, vice president in charge of the western region of the Pennsylvania railroad. The industry's future will depend on the engineering of the future, he said.

RAIN, SNOW PLUS PEACE BID TALK BRING GRAIN DIP

Grain markets declined yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade on reports Rumania was seeking to make peace with the allies. Weather conditions favorable to crops also pushed prices down. Blizzards swept much of the northwest, bringing heavy snow in areas that have been deficient in moisture. Wet weather in the central west brought the movement of corn nearly to a standstill and increased the shortage of feed grains.

Rye declined 1 cent a bushel early on an announcement the war production board had ordered two smaller distilleries to make a 60 day test run using a 20 per cent admixture of rye grits with wheat in making industrial alcohol. Approximately 1,000 bushels of rye will be used daily. Rye closed slightly above the low at losses of ⅝ to ⅞ cent. Wheat lost ⅝ to ⅞ cent. Oats declined ⅜ to ¾ cent. Barley finished ½ to 1 cent lower.

EGG PRODUCTION SETS ALL-TIME FEBRUARY PEAK

Egg production was 5 billion 346 million last month, an all time February high, E. O. Pollock, midwest regional director of food distribution, WFA, said yesterday. This was 16 per cent higher than in February, 1943, and 79 per cent higher than the 10 year [1933-'42] average February production.

To provide an outlet for the eggs flooding the market, WFA has purchased since Dec. 29 for lend-lease 41,789,539 pounds of dried eggs, the equivalent of more than 1⅓ billion shell eggs. Large purchases of shell eggs for distribution to institutions and for other uses have also been made, Pollock said.

MANAGED ECONOMY MEANS COMPULSION, MANUFACTURERS TOLD

America wants no managed economy after the war, and will require free enterprise for national wellbeing, Dr. Ruth Alexander, economist, said last night. She spoke before 500 manufacturers and business men in the Sherman hotel under auspices of the Illinois Manufacturers' Cost association.

Managed economy, or collectivism, may mean security, but it also means loss of freedom, she said. In America, "the capitalistic state is the people's state," and the enemy of tyranny and despotism, but collectivism means compulsion.

"Capitalism did not create poverty, but inherited poverty from collectivism," she said. "It has done more to alleviate poverty than was done in all the preceding centuries."

Despite some imperfections, it is much more humane in operation than collectivism, she went on. No conceivable natural law could approach "the refined cruelties of the collectivist state, where personal grudge and political favoritism are the order of the day.

"Under a free economy, individual mistakes may be many, but are limited in scope. The all-powerful state of collectivism, on the contrary, can make or break a nation in one single sweep."

Post-War Car to Be Lighter, Says Engineer

The "car of the future" will be lighter, will possess more visibility and will be cheaper to operate and maintain, Raymond Loewy, noted Detroit industrial designer, last night told the Chicago chapter, Society of Automotive Engineers, in the Knickerbocker hotel. He said most of the fantastic predictions for the post-war automobiles will not materialize.

"Whether the engine is placed at the front or the rear will be a matter for the engineers," he said. "But even if the engine is placed at the rear I am confident the hood will be retained at the front to provide protection for front seat riders and for psychological reasons.

Lighter Cars in Store.

"Weight reduction will be a big factor. It seems ridiculous to use the 3,500 pound weight of the average pre-war car to transport only one or two persons. It is remarkable that 92 per cent of the cars before the war carried no passengers in rear seats. Heavy post-war taxation and a reduction in the fuel potential should dictate the weight trend."

He said hoods will be less bulky and will be better designed for visibility and predicted the "heavy clumsy bombers" will be changed. Cars will be redesigned to provide greater accessibility for mechanical parts, an improvement that will appeal to car owners as well as garage mechanics, he asserted.

Plastic Bodies Far Off.

Loewy said he does not expect plastic or aluminum bodies for some time, mostly because of the cost. However, plastics and lighter metals can be used with advantage in accessories and in some parts of the engine and other places to reduce weight, he explained.

Some of the higher priced cars may have air conditioning, but this improvement is hardly likely for the lower priced ones, he said. The more expensive cars may have automatically operated doors and windows, he predicted.

"Correct basic forms and shapes of the cars will give them their beauty, not chrome and 'spinach,'" he asserted. "The trend will be toward lean racy thorobreds."

Loewy said newly designed cars will not appear on the market until a year and a half or two years after the war.

FAILURE TO LIFT CLOTHING STYLE CURBS ASSAILED

New York, March 14 (AP).—The American Wool council today protested to the WPB the board's refusal to lift restrictions on styles in men's and women's clothing made of wool and part wool. The council said plenty of wool was available in this country and in other wool producing areas and that continuing to ban standard features of garments made of wool was neither logic nor good business judgment.

Court Upholds Higher Utility Assessments

Supported by a decision by the Illinois Supreme court yesterday, the state department of revenue will issue at once a certification assessing railroad properties and the capital stock of utility corporations in the state at 54 per cent of actual value. Last year the debasing factor was 31 per cent.

Philip W. Collins, head of the department, said the change in the factor was necessary because County Assessor John S. Clark is assessing Cook county property at 100 per cent instead of a 37 per cent basis. Collins said the changed factor would cost county taxpayers, other than railways and utilities, 5 million dollars, but would reduce taxes of railroads and utilities in the county. On the other hand, he said, the rails would have to pay more than 6 millions additional to downstate counties.

Appealed to Courts.

When Clark issued his order in October the state department, unable to certify its state-wide assessments, decided to wait and see what the assessing percentage would be. Several railroads and at least two counties appealed to the courts to force certification at the old 31 per cent figure.

The contention was that the state assessment was overdue and that only the 31 per cent was legal. It was this question that was before the Illinois Supreme court. In its decision the court refused the mandamus requested and held that the revenue department should assess by giving full weight to the Cook county 100 per cent assessment.

Collins said he expected the Circuit court at Springfield, where the mandamus action originated, to dissolve today an injunction which was obtained by 18 railroads in Sangamon county Circuit court in January. The injunction restrained Collins from assessing at any other ratio than the 31 per cent. Collins said dissolution of the injunction would result in issuance of the certification, lack of which has disrupted downstate tax machinery.

Rails Favored Locally.

Under existing law the department makes its assessments at the average used in all Illinois counties for county assessed property. When Cook was on a 37 per cent basis, as for the last three years, the state factor varied only between 31 and 33 per cent.

Under Clark's new plan, assessments made by him are 2.7 times as large as they were under the 37 per cent plan. With 54 per cent as the state figure, the rails and utility assessments will increase only about 1.75 times. Since the same tax rate must be applied to all classes of property, the rails and utilities locally are favored.

In counties using any percentage less than 54, the railroads will carry a heavier tax load than before.

PHELPS ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY BY OLIVER FARM

Alva W. Phelps, assistant vice president of General Motors corporation, was elected president and a director of the Oliver Farm Equipment company. He succeeded Cal Sivright, who was elected board chairman and chief executive officer, a position previously held by the late C. R. Messinger. Other officers were reëlected.

Alva W. Phelps.

Phelps became associated with General Motors in 1922 and recently has headed the manufacturing and engineering divisions employing more than 80,000 persons.

Sivright told stockholders that because of the WPB's order releasing more steel for farm equipment manufacturers, sales of these goods should compare favorably with last year.

CATTLE PRICES ARE WEAKER AS RECEIPTS CLIMB

Cattle prices were steady to lower yesterday at the Chicago stockyards as receipts increased moderately and buyer resistance appeared in some classes packers termed "too high" in relation to returns from beef.

Choice grades of steers and yearlings were scarce, but demand from the east slackened and they sold slowly at steady to weak prices. Other classes declined as much as 25 cents a hundred pounds.

Hog prices, which reached a new four months' peak Monday, were slow and steady to slightly lower.

Lambs and sheep sold slowly, but prices were about steady.

DOUBTS RECENT OIL OUTPUT CAN BE MAINTAINED

Rodgers Says New Discoveries Wane.

A less optimistic view of the outlook for discoveries of petroleum than has come from some other industry sources recently was expressed by W. S. S. Rodgers, president of the Texas company, in the annual report of the corporation issued yesterday. It disclosed increased earnings in 1943.

Crude oil production in the United States, which reached an all time high in 1943, probably can be maintained at the same rate thru 1944, Rodgers said, but he added:

"We believe that such production is the maximum that can be attained and that in 1945 the country can anticipate the beginning of a substantial decline in its ability to produce crude oil unless some large discoveries are made. This is especially true if the office of price administration maintains the ceilings on crude oil now in effect."

New Technique Needed.

Rodgers said the Texas company management has concluded that "unless there is developed an entirely new and improved technique for locating deposits of oil, new discoveries will be less frequent and new production more costly." The number and depth of exploratory wells must be increased far beyond that considered normal in the past, he added.

The downward trend in the discovery of new reserves began in 1939, he said, and since then reserves have been largely maintained by extensions and deepening of existing fields.

"Unless new important reserves are discovered," he warned, "this country must become a substantially larger importer of petroleum."

Finds Few New Sources.

Texas company itself, altho materially increasing its exploratory activities and producing a substantially larger quantity of crude in 1943, reported a "generally disappointing" experience in locating new sources.

Texas company's net income for 1943 was $42,889,797, equal to $3.83 a share, compared with $35,060,001, or $3.22 a share, in the preceding year. The 1943 profit was shown after appropriating 8 million dollars for contingencies, compared with 12 million deducted in 1942. Federal tax provision amounted to $17,260,000, after allowing for 3.3 million dollars of unused excess profits credits carried over. In 1942 income taxes totaled $16,215,000 net.

The company's gross crude oil production last year aggregated 84,639,468 barrels, against 76,669,706 barrels in 1942.

Phillips Earnings Gain.

Phillips Petroleum company also reported larger earnings for 1943. Its net income was $14,168,422, equal to $3.04 a share, against $13,129,458, or $2.95 a share, in 1942. Federal taxes on income totaled $11,863,570 in 1943 and $7,725,000 the year before. Gross oil production totaled 45,694,749 barrels, and average daily net production of 67,666 barrels was highest in the company's history.

Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company's net sales during 1943 totaled $134,951,099, a new high, against $118,968,117 in 1942. Net income was $6,616,969, equal to $3.10 a common share, against $5,383,595, or $2.47 a share. Losses incurred on the sale of the Palmolive building in Chicago and other real estate were charged to a special depreciation reserve.

Philip K. Wrigley, president of William Wrigley Jr. company, reported that despite difficulties in obtaining supplies of all kinds, the company was able to maintain a high rate of chewing gum production last year. Available supply for retail outlets was reduced by the increasing quantities taken by the military services. Wrigley's profit for 1943 was $6,768,731, equal to $3.44 a share, against $6,519,523, or $3.32 a share, in 1942. Federal taxes on income took $7,735,500, after deducting post-war credit of $451,800.

L. J. Drake, president of Union Tank Car company, said in the annual report for 1943 that pipe lines built in this country during the war, which would in part replace transportation by water, "should not affect the company's activity in the post-war period." The company's profit last year was $3,074,173, equal to $2.85 a share, compared with $2,701,286, or $2.51 a share, in 1942. Earnings were determined after reserving $1,331,093 for post-war contingencies, compared with $1,210,907 in the preceding year.

A reduction by the railroads of the mileage allowance from 1½ cents to 1¼ cents a mile in the latter part of 1943 for tank cars used in specified services was reflected in the last quarter operations, the report said. Longer hauls are a partial offset.

Requests for Raises Flood Salary Stabilization Office

Applications for salary increases for employes getting $5,000 and more a year have piled up in the salary stabilization office, a division of the bureau of internal revenue at 327 S. La Salle st., delaying many companies in giving increases to salaried workers, altho wage earners are able to obtain pay boosts, it was disclosed yesterday.

Porter Linder, director of the office, explained his staff was making progress in processing the applications and said he hopes that the situation soon will return to normal.

Large Volume Filed.

Partly responsible for the delays in passing on applications was the large volume of applications filed at the first of the year, the customary time to make salary adjustments, he said. Another factor has been the upgrading of employes that puts them in higher pay brackets, he asserted.

The treasury department, of which the internal revenue department is a unit, has jurisdiction over the pay of supervisory employes as well as those getting $5,000 or more. Hourly paid employes come under the jurisdiction of the war labor board which has established a formula for making blanket increases when authorized, thereby eliminating the necessity for reviewing individual applications.

Individual Cases Studied.

The salary stabilization office must pass on each individual application. It is said the office has tried to follow the "Little Steel" formula in passing on requests for salary increases. The formula provides an increase of 15 per cent to cover living costs since Jan. 1, 1941.

Inability to grant salary increases to higher paid workers is said to be causing some dissatisfaction because companies can and must pay their wage earners overtime for time beyond their work week. On the other hand supervisory and other employes put in long hours without extra compensation.

People and Events

The 15th anniversary of the opening of Richman Brothers' first clothing store in Chicago was observed by employes last night at a party in the State street store. Frank C. Lewman, president, and Carl S. Felder, vice president in charge of retail stores, spoke. Fifteen year service pins were presented to 11 employes.

Frank C. Lewman.

Fire hazards in trucking operations will be described by John Plant, chief engineer of the fire prevention bureau of the Chicago fire department, at a luncheon of the fleet superintendents division of the Greater Chicago Safety council in the Hotel Sherman today. Judge John Gutknecht of Traffic court will address the engineering division of the council at a luncheon in the Palmer House tomorrow.

Harding C. Woodall, vice president of Harriman Ripley & Co., was elected a director at the company's annual meeting yesterday.

TRIAL ORDERED IN CASE AGAINST GUARANTY TRUST

New York, March 14 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, reversing a dismissal by the United States District court, has ordered trial of an action by Grace W. York of Chicago against the Guaranty Trust company of New York, it was disclosed today.

The action was brought on the grounds the bank breached its duties and obligations as indenture trustee under a 30 million dollar, 6 per cent issue of notes of the Van Sweringen corporation, dated May 1, 1930. The decision was handed down March 2.

Mrs. York is the owner of $6,000 face amount of the note issue which, with the exception of $1,213,000, was exchanged in 1931 for part cash and part security under a corporation offer. The Circuit Court of Appeals held that those accepting the offer received 53 per cent in cash—including 3 per cent interest, but those who did not accept received only 3 per cent interest.

Senator Flays Head of TVA as 'Falsifier'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—A senate battle over the Tennessee valley authority was foreseen tonight after Sen. McKellar [D., Tenn.] publicly branded Chairman David E. Lilienthal "a deceitful falsifier."

McKellar, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, said that TVA, the New Deal's first billion dollar experiment in economic planning, is managed dishonestly, improvidently and with evasion, intrigue and sharp strategy.

McKellar's charges recalled the early scandals of the vast water power experiment and the congressional investigation of 1938, which Lilienthal survived as chairman.

Would Give Treasury Revenues.

McKellar, who often has been accused as a patronage grabber in the far flung Tennessee empire of dams and electric plants, charged that Lilienthal has made TVA "a member of the private power trust."

His blast had its beginning in the independent offices appropriation bill which McKellar's committee submitted to the senate last Thursday. It includes an amendment by McKellar requiring TVA to turn all its revenues into the treasury's general fund and come to congress annually for direct appropriations. The senate will consider the bill Thursday.

Another McKellar amendment forbids political activity by the TVA. He frankly explained that this was motivated by Lilienthal's efforts to unseat him in the last election.

Marble Case Recalled.

In support of his dishonesty charges, McKellar said that Lilienthal and others were about to rob the government of millions of dollars in the marble claims case when they were exposed and halted.

[Former Sen. Berry (D., Tenn.) and business associates sought early in TVA's history to collect 5 million dollars for marble deposits which they said had been submerged after the building of Norris dam. It was this claim which started the 1938 investigation.]

McKellar did not elaborate on his assertion that Lilienthal has made TVA a part of the "private power trust," but said Lilienthal admitted at recent hearings that he had been selling electric power to the Aluminum Company of America cheaper than to its aluminum competitor, the Reynolds Metals company. The difference would cost Reynolds seven million dollars on its 20 year contract, McKellar said.

PROFIT SELLING HALTS LENGTHY STOCK UPTURN

Volume Dwindles as Prices Sag.

New York, March 14 (AP).—The lengthy stock market rally was halted by profit taking today and volume slackened on the downturn. Scattered favorites managed some resistance.

The optimistic investment outlook, based partly on earnings, dividends, and a mild revival of political hope, changed little, but customers cashed in some of their gains on the belief the recent bulge to an average top since last July called for at least an intermediate correction.

Steadiness appeared at the start, then prices began to slip. Trading was fairly brisk in the forenoon, but turned sluggish after midday. Declines of fractions to more than a point were general at the close, with most issues finishing above their lows.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was off 0.2 at 92.9. Transfers of 1,006,740 shares compared with 1,618,920 yesterday, among the largest of the last several months.

Prominent Issues Lower.

Prominent losers were Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Schenley, Hiram Walker, Pepsi-Cola, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, Johns-Manville, Douglas Aircraft, United States Gypsum, Oliver Farm, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, and Philip Morris.

Highs for the year or longer were reached by Santa Fe and New York Central, which closed unchanged; Philco Radio, Cudahy, and North American. Modest improvement was held by Graham-Paige, Woolworth, Deere, Texas company, Phelps Dodge, and Anaconda.

CHICAGO MARKET UNEVEN.

Prices were uneven and trading volume decreased yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Transactions totaled 35,000 shares, against 52,000 Monday. Issues traded totaled 117, with 37 advances, 47 declines, and 33 unchanged. Utah Radio Products was the volume leader and reached a new 1943-'44 peak, but closed unchanged. Chicago corporation, Butler Brothers, unchanged, and Illinois Central and Sundstrand Machine and Tool, down ⅛, were active stocks. Aetna Ball Bearing, up ⅜, and Northern Paper Mills common, up 2, closed at new peaks.

BOND PRICES DIP.

New York, March 14 (AP).—The bond market was slightly lower today when the supply of rails and popular trading mediums among industrials and utilities increased.

These major domestic groups in the Associated Press averages ended 0.1 lower each.

"BIG SHOTS"

Politically, America today needs more of the self-effacement of the great and less of the self-sufficiency of the small.

Fewer "big shots" and more marksmen.

Men of authentic talent who are above the necessity of tearing down the work of others in order to build up themselves.

ECONOMY DRIVE LIGHTENS STATE PENSION ROLLS

Review of 2,553 Cases Takes 1,205 Off List.

A review of 2,553 Illinois old age pension cases under the new program to cut public expenditures by shifting the burden of pensioners' support to children able to meet the responsibility resulted in the dropping of 1,205 from the rolls at the end of January, Raymond M. Hilliard, executive secretary of the Illinois public aid commission, said yesterday.

The figures are the most recent to be compiled, he said. He cautioned that this rate of reduction cannot be expected to continue because the first cases considered were those in which support was most likely to be shifted.

Hilliard reported that 139,561 persons were receiving old age pensions in Illinois at the end of February, compared with 149,554 in February, 1943. The improved financial position of children and employment of elderly persons, both results of the war, have done much to reduce the pension lists, he said.

Drive Produces Results.

A substantial part of the reduction was accomplished by the reexamination of individual cases under the economy drive, as well as by voluntary withdrawals occasioned by the program, he said. The review program was announced last November, when it was tried out in certain counties, and went into effect on a state-wide basis on Jan. 1.

In December, even before the economy program became state-wide, pension cases declined 1,022, which at that time was the largest drop in the history of Illinois old age assistance. Succeeding months accelerated the trend, with January showing a decrease of 1,789 cases, and February a decrease of 2,376.

The public aid commission acted under a state law which requires sons and daughters to support indigent parents if they are able to do so. In addition, the commission adopted new rules requiring pensioners to declare all assets and prove their needs. Hilliard emphasized that the rolls list 42,000 deserving persons having no children or other means of support. These will continue to receive state aid as in the past.

Partial Support Obtained.

Partial support of parents by children is being obtained by the commission in cases in which the children cannot assume the full obligation. Since the start of the economy program, partial support has been ordered in 51 cases, while, in 296, the partial support was ordered increased, Hilliard disclosed.

Hilliard said a study of 840 pension cases canceled because the children were able to give support disclosed that in 60 per cent the sons and daughters willingly assumed this responsibility; 26 per cent indicated directly they were not in need of help, and in only 9 per cent was there refusal of children to share in support.

Joseph L. Moss, director of the Cook county bureau of public welfare, reported that about half of Cook county's 50,000 old age assistance beneficiaries have no children. He said that to date about 15 per cent of the cases being examined have been dropped.

A WIFE 16 YEARS QUITS FOR A JOB IN MATE'S OFFICE

Leonard Serdiuk, 40, publisher of the West Side News and the Community News, neighborhood newspapers, lost a wife yesterday but gained a part time employe—his ex-wife.

It happened when Mrs. Mae Serdiuk, 36, of 4162 W. 25th st. obtained a divorce from the publisher before Judge John J. Lupe of Superior court, on charges of cruelty. They were married Feb. 28, 1928, and separated Nov. 6, 1943. They have four children, Gregory, 13; Sonia, 9; Nicholas, 5, and Matthew, 4.

At the end of the hearing, Mrs. Serdiuk's attorney, Victor Frohlich, and Serdiuk's lawyer, Stephen Love, announced a novel settlement. Mrs. Serdiuk is to receive the $10,000 home she now occupies, have custody of the children, and $110 a week, of which $75 will be alimony and child support. The other $35 is to be paid as a salary, for which she is to work in her ex-husband's publishing offices three days a week. The job contract is to run 15 years.

TRUNK MURDER LINKS SOUGHT AS 2 MORE VANISH

Two more mysterious disappearances were reported yesterday as police sought to solve the slaying of Vincenzo [James] De Angelo and to find his close friend, Onofrio Vitale, who has been missing since Feb. 25 from his home in Calumet City and is feared to have been slain.

The latest to be reported missing are Joseph De Angelo, 24, of 2432 Harrison st., and Frank Abbate, 42, also known as Abbot, of 2 Root st., Hammond.

Joseph De Angelo's stepfather, Rosario, who operates a vegetable market at the Harrison street address, said Joseph had been missing since he went to Calumet City two weeks ago to get a job in a lumber yard. Rosario asked Calumet City police to search for his stepson, but explained the family was not related to the slain De Angelo.

Last Seen in Hot Springs.

Abbate's wife, Catherine, told police her husband left home Feb. 13 to go to Hot Springs, Ark., with his race horses. When she went to Hot Springs on March 1 to meet her husband she was told that Abbate had not been seen there since Feb. 24.

Police were unable to establish any business connection between the slain De Angelo and the missing Vitale, but they recalled that De Angelo disappeared on Feb. 24 and Vitale had been missing since Feb. 25.

Police also were working on a theory that remnants of the old Capone gang, warring over gambling territories, may be responsible for the murder of De Angelo, whose body was found Saturday, trussed in the trunk of his wife's car.

The weakness in this theory lay in the fact that gambling profits in Chicago have been meager since the lid was clamped down last fall after a grand jury investigation.

Liquor Theory Promising.

A more promising theory, in the view of some policemen, is that the old syndicate, which made fabulous profits on bootlegging during prohibition, is now preparing for a new dry era imposed by high federal liquor taxes, and is lining up various sources of alcohol. De Angelo and Vitale were known to have various business connections which might be able to produce sugar, the prime requisite for bootleg operations.

An inquest into De Angelo's death was opened yesterday in the county morgue and was continued until April 14 when police said they needed more time for investigation. De Angelo's widow, Sara, testified in a trembling voice at the inquest session, saying she last saw her husband alive at 7 p. m. Feb. 24, when he told her he was going on an errand.

Detective Frank Perkins of the Hudson avenue station told how he and Capt. John O'Malley discovered the body in the trunk.

Dice Girl Kept in Custody.

Other witnesses were James Allegretti and his wife, Florence, owners of the Windup tavern, 669 N. State st., in which De Angelo once owned an interest. Mrs. Allegretti said De Angelo sold his interest last October.

De Angelo's former girl friend, Mrs. Ethel Davis Moran, 26, once a dice girl at the Windup tavern, was not called up to testify at the inquest. She remained in custody of the police for further questioning.

Gets Probation

Robert Buzelli (right) with his attorney, Harry J. Busch.

Robert Buzelli, 18, of 192 E. 22d st., Chicago Heights, convicted of attempting to bribe an army induction center medical officer to reject him, was placed on probation for one year yesterday by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. Buzelli, who has been operating a grocery for three brothers now in service, begged for a chance to join the army.

F.D.R. PROPOSAL TO SPLIT LABOR VOTE REJECTED

AFL Won't Yield Its Conference Power.

Washington, D. C., March 14 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor flatly rejected tonight President Roosevelt's proposal that labor's vote at a forthcoming meeting of the International Labor office be shared equally by the AFL and the CIO.

The federation, which has been the sole American labor representative at previous ILO meetings, said it would prefer no representation at all to the proposed change of custom.

Won't Accept a Change.

"We cannot participate," AFL President William Green wrote the President, "in meetings of the ILO if such a change of representation is forced or insisted upon. We cannot, under any circumstances, change our attitude in this respect.

"The American Federation of Labor vigorously contends that the traditional policy which originated at the Versailles conference and which has been followed without change ever since, shall continue."

The International Labor office, offspring of the league of nations, will open a three-week meeting in Philadelphia on April 20 with delegates from possibly 30 nations participating.

It is a tripartite organization—government, industry, and labor. Government has two votes and the others have one vote each.

President Names Delegates.

The four United States delegates are appointed by the President. The ILO's function is to study and recommend standards of social welfare.

The AFL's representative in ILO affairs for the past seven years has been Robert J. Watt. Watt is a member of the ILO's governing body, which he persuaded to choose Philadelphia for its 1944 meeting.

President Roosevelt called in Green about a week ago and made the proposal that the AFL share its seat with the CIO. The President did not indicate what he would do if the AFL turned him down.

DELAY EXPECTED FOR 11 NAMED IN SEDITION PLOT

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Justice department officials said today 11 persons and a New York newspaper charged with conspiring to commit sedition but not named in the government's latest sedition indictment probably will not be brought to trial for many months.

Officials said the department does not plan to take action against these defendants until completion of the trial of the 30 persons named in the latest sedition indictments.

The 11 defendants were indicted July 21, 1942, and Jan. 4, 1943. These indictments were so emasculated when brought into court that the justice department was unwilling to risk trial under them. The 11 were not renamed in the third and latest indictment returned last Jan. 3.

Eleven Defendants Named.

The 11 are Otto Brennerman and Donald McDaniel, both of Chicago; Court Asher, Muncie, Ind.; Ralph Townsend, Lake Geneva, Wis.; Oscar Brumback, Washington, D. C.; C. Leon De Aryan, San Diego, Cal.; Hudson De Priest, James G. Garner, both of Wichita, Kas.; William Griffin, New York City; William Kullgren, Atascadero, Cal., and Paquita De Shismareff, Glendale, Cal. The newspaper accused is the New York Evening Enquirer.

The trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling of Chicago and the 29 others named in the latest indictment was set yesterday for April 17. Asked whether the persons named in the earlier indictments would go to trial at the same time, O. John Rogge, special assistant to the attorney general prosecuting the case for the government, said the fate of the 11 was out of his hands.

U. S. to Await Outcome.

Rogge said the government's case against these defendants had been turned over to the criminal division of the justice department and whatever action may be taken would be up to officials of that division. It was not known whether the government would go ahead under the earlier indictments. Spokesmen for the division said an early trial for the 11 is out of the question, because the department, before proceeding, wants to see how Rogge comes out with his case.

Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher of the federal court for the District of Columbia, who is expected to preside during the trial of the 30 defendants, observed in court yesterday that it will be a long, drawn out session. He said the government expects to take two months presenting its case and that he looks for the defendants to require at least a month to answer the charges.

There was no public reaction to a letter Mrs. Dilling wrote to Rogge and sent yesterday to all members of congress charging that the administration has no case against the sedition case defendants. Rogge said he had received the letter and had no comment to make on it. Members of congress questioned said they received the letter and had read it with interest.

Philip Shambaugh, Navy Doctor, Sued for Divorce

Mrs. Sarah Wells Shambaugh, 35, of 60 W. Schiller st., yesterday filed suit for divorce in Superior court against her husband, Dr. Philip Shambaugh, 40, a lieutenant commander in the navy attached to Wesley Memorial hospital. The bill, prepared by Atty. William C. Boyden Jr., charged that Comdr. Shambaugh deserted his wife July 1, 1942.

RAID UNLAWFUL, DESORT RULES IN GAMBLING TRIAL

State Ordered to Go On with Cicero Case.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Judge Rudolph Desort in the Criminal court yesterday ruled that the raid made by state's attorney's police last Oct. 7 on the notorious gambling house known as Rock Gardens, 4730 Cermak rd., Cicero, was illegal. The raid was made at the request of the Chicago Crime commission and 125 persons were found in the resort, in which four crap tables, four black jack tables, and $12,000 in cash were seized.

Judge Desort's decision came in the trial of Sgt. David Berkson and Policeman Chester Wiktorski, formerly of the county highway police, and seven alleged gamblers, all of whom were indicted on a charge of conspiracy to allow gambling. Prosecutors Richard Austin and Alex Napoli said the ruling was a blow to the prosecution, but not necessarily fatal in this case or in other trials growing out of the same raid.

Trial Ordered to Proceed.

The trial of the case was ordered to proceed. The defense attorneys, George Crane and George Bieber, however, wanted immediate action on their demand that the gambling paraphernalia and the $12,000 be returned at once.

Austin said he wouldn't give back the money and the tables without a direct order from Judge Desort. Atty. Crane said he would draft such an order and would ask Judge Desort to sign it. While that was pending the court ordered the immediate selection of jurors.

In addition to the policemen, the defendents are Constantino Mologousis, alias Sam Romano; John Zito, John Demetrius Stathakos, Amato Mongelluzzo, Mike Caruso, Emil Langstein, and Anthony Marfisi. Three others indicted in this case are not on trial.

Gaming Evidence Lacking.

The evidence and arguments on which Judge Desort ruled concerned the admitted facts that the police had no search warrant, that they did not see any gambling, and that they were directed to the gambling house by Albert Wright, an employe of the crime commission. Wright said he had no first hand evidence, but was acting on the report of another crime commission employe who had been in the gambling house the previous day.

Prosecutor Austin said the other indictments voted during the gambling investigation last fall will proceed regardless of Judge Desort's decision.

CALLS TEXT BOOK USED IN OREGON JAP PROPAGANDA

Teacher Fears Effect on Children.

Salem, Ore., March 14 [Special].—A geography textbook written by two eastern college professors and adopted in Oregon for grade school use was denounced as pro-Japanese propaganda today by Lyle L. Lee, principal of the grade school at Scappoose, Ore.

Lee filed a protest against use of the book with the state textbook commission here, asserting that it attempts to justify Japanese expansion thru aggression and that all of his students, with one exception, developed a definite sympathy for Japan after studying the text.

Rex Putnam, Oregon superintendent of public instruction, said the state board of education will study Lee's objections to the greography but withheld comment as to what action might be taken. Textbooks can be changed legally only by action of the state textbook commission, which meets every six years and is not due for a session until 1949, he said.

Writers Praise Nipponese.

The book is entitled, "Journeys Thru the Continents Overseas," and is the joint work of Dé Forest Stall of the teachers' college of Columbia university, New York, and Roy W. Hatch of the State Teachers' college, Montclair, N. J.

Lee said the geography describes the Japanese people as "mentally alert, energetic, initiative, courteous, proud, and with a loyalty for country and emperor which is martyr-like in quality." He said the authors admittedly make a sympathetic portrayal of Japan, justifying this sympathy as necessary to "the peace and well being of the world."

Call Expansion Necessary.

The book states that Japanese expansion has been made necessary by increasing population and decreasing food supply, according to Lee, and says, "there are empty spaces which the Japanese could fill in Canada, the United States, and Australia, but Japanese settlers cannot enter these countries because they are not wanted."

Lee said the book is devoid of condemnation for Japan's action in conquering more territory than needed for self preservation, and does not in any way condemn Japan's actions in the present war against the United States.

"At the time the book was written," Lee said, "Japan had already gained control of the bulk of China. Shall we accept the author's statements and teach the children of junior high school age that the solution for the growing population of Japan is thru the channels of war and aggression?"

FIX OLD SEWERS UNDER ADDISON ST., GARRY ASKS

Thomas D. Garry, city superintendent of sewers, yesterday recommened to the city council finance committee the immediate repairing of overage sewers under Addison st. between Lincoln and Ashland avs. to prevent possible traffic tragedies.

Last week a passing truck caused a 25 foot cave-in at Addison and Paulina sts. The fault was found in a sewer constructed between 1860 and 1870. The sewer was built by the old village of Lake View for a population of 30,000, but now serves a population of 400,000. Garry estimated the repair costs at $90,000, and said in time the Addison st. sewer from Clark st. to the river should be repaired. The cost of a complete job would be $1,300,000.

LABOR RENTING TRAFFIC DRAWS BLAST IN HOUSE

Washington, D. C., March 14 [Special].—The house military affairs committee today called upon administration labor agencies to halt "a vicious traffic" in renting out workers at tremendous profits, which in one instance netted a one man firm $542,612 in a single year.

The committee charged that this dealing in labor as a commodity is adding millions of dollars to war production costs and injuring the output for war.

Method Outlined.

The "parasitical traffic," the committee's report said, functions in the following manner:

Promoters, trading under misleading company names and usually claiming to render engineering services, round up craftsmen, designers, technicians, and other skilled workers at wages of 65 cents to $2.75 an hour. They then hire out these workers to war plants at wages ranging from $2.60 to $12 an hour.

The promoter's profits frequently run as high as 250 per cent, the committee estimated. The one man firm's profit of $542,612 was made in 1942, the report disclosed, by paying workers $1,153,421 and farming out their services for $1,696,033.

Practice "Widespread."

The practice has become so widespread that it must be known to the army, navy, and government labor agencies, said the report, which was isued by Chairman May [D., Ky.] and Rep. Durham [D., N. C.], head of a subcommittee that made an investigation.

The labor department and the war man power commission were criticized for failing to stop the abuse thru wage ceilings and restrictions on the migration of workers.

It many cases, the report said, the labor renting promoters, unaffected by wage ceilings, have lured skilled workers from other war contractors by offering higher pay, subsistence allowance, and travel expenses.

Morale Impaired.

As a result, the committee said, the morale of regularly employed workers is impaired and their war output lowered. Moreover, it continued, the hiring out firms give no guarantee of the efficiency of their hirelings. In some cases, consequently, the workers rented out are unfit for the jobs assigned to them.

In most cases, the report said, the policy followed is to rent workers to contractors having cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts, with the result that the profits to the promoters are passed on to the government and hence to the taxpayers. Furthermore, the committee said:

"This is nothing short of a labor renting traffic which has imposed itself upon industry, lacks anything in the nature of a valid excuse for existence, and results only in the rendering of profits to a concern which has no excuse for existence and which profits at the expense of the taxpayer without adding one single item of value to the war effort."

Robber of Drug Stores Jailed for Four Months

Frank Mamolello, 17, of 3030 Lexington st., member of a gang of robbers who preyed upon west side drug stores, yesterday was sentenced to four months in the county jail and placed on five years' probation by Judge Harold G. Ward in Criminal court. Two other members of the gang, Joseph Murch, 16, and his brother, Spurgeon, 17, both of Evansville, Ind., got three years probation and one year in the county jail. The three were charged with larceny.

YOUR EFFORTS ARE REWARDED AT BAUER & BLACK
Our wage plan is flexible—you are paid on your individual share of production. A liberal minimum rate is guaranteed while you learn the work—then as your production increases, your rate of pay advances. Ambitious girls and women have no difficulty in drawing attractive weekly wages under this progressive wage plan.
For Those Who Prefer
a Straight Hourly Wage
—we have some occupations which are not on a piece work basis. BAUER & BLACK can offer you the method of wage payment you favor.
FASCINATING WORK
The surgical dressings field is a woman's industry—in war time and peace time. In this business, you are doing a woman's job—you are not replacing a man. No words can describe the personal satisfaction you derive from your work in knowing that each day you are contributing to the relief of misery and suffering. WE NEED WOMEN NOW for work in our dressings, ligature, adhesive preparation and sundries departments.

MacARTHUR'S MAIN THEATER OF OPERATIONS
